Postmodern Wetlands Rodney James Giblett, 1996 Rod Giblett examines the swamp from a cross disciplinary standpoint

Postmodern Wetlands Rodney James Giblett, 1996 Postmodern Wetlands explores the representation of wetlands swamps marshes etc in western culture For many wetlands are a place of disease and horror often associated with the melancholy and the monstrous in short they are black waters Yet ecologically wetlands are vitally important for human and other life on earth they are living waters The aim of this book is to produce a cultural critique of wetlands as both living and black waters Drawing on a wide range of disciplines and methodologies the book analyses wetlands in relation to aesthetics and philosophy cities and human psychology mythology and narrative and medical military social and conservation history It discusses these issues using examples across a variety of genres and making reference to British American and Australian wetlands

Wetland Cultures Rod Giblett, 2024-06-21 Traditional cultures have a long and vital association with wetlands as sacred places imbued with spiritual and ceremonial significance that provide physical sustenance and sources of materials in paludiculture Ancient Greek and Roman cultures denigrated wetlands as places of disease terror horror the hellish and the monstrous Judeo Christian theology was syncretized with them into the mainstream denigration of wetlands Wetlands are a marginalized community an oppressed minority and non binary queer bodies of water

Wetlands and Western Cultures Rod Giblett, 2021-05-19 In Wetlands and Western Cultures Denigration to Conservation Rod Giblett examines the portrayal of wetlands in Western culture and argues for their conservation Giblett's analysis of the wetland motif in literature and the arts including in Beowulf and the writings of Tolkien and Thoreau demonstrates two approaches to wetlands their denigration as dead waters or their commendation as living waters with a potent cultural history

Australian Wetland Cultures John Charles Ryan, Li Chen, 2019-10-31 Among the most productive ecosystems on earth wetlands are also some of the most vulnerable Australian Wetland Cultures argues for the cultural value of wetlands Through a focus on swamps and their conservation the volume makes a unique contribution to the growing interdisciplinary field of the environmental humanities The authors investigate the crucial role of swamps in Australian society through the idea of wetland cultures The broad historical and cultural range of the book spans pre settlement indigenous Australian cultures nineteenth century European colonization and contemporary Australian engagements with wetland habitats The contributors situate the Australian emphasis in international cultural and ecological contexts Case studies from Perth Western Australia provide practical examples of the conservation of wetlands as sites of interlinked natural and cultural heritage The volume will appeal to readers with interests in anthropology Australian studies cultural studies ecological science environmental studies and heritage protection

For All Waters Lowell Duckert, 2017-03-31 Recent years have witnessed a surge in early modern ecostudies many devoted to Shakespearean drama Yet in this burgeoning discipline travel writing appears moored in historicization inorganic subjects are far less prevalent than organic ones and freshwater sites are hardly visited For All Waters explores these uncharted wetscapes Lowell Duckert shows that when playwrights and travel writers such as Sir Walter Raleigh physically interacted with rivers glaciers monsoons and swamps they composed hydrographies or bodily and textual assemblages of human and nonhuman things that dissolved notions of human autonomy and its singular narrativity With a playful punning touch woven deftly into its theoretical rigor For All Waters disputes fantasies of ecological solitude that would keep our selves high and dry and that would try to sustain a political ecology excluding water and the poor The lives of both humans and waterscapes can be improved simultaneously through direct engagement with wetness For All Waters concludes by investigating waterscapes in peril today West Virginia's chemical rivers and Iceland's vanishing glaciers and outlining what we can learn from early moderns' eco ontological lessons By taking their soggy and storied matters to heart and arriving at a greater realization of our shared wetness we can conceive new directions to take within the hydropolitical crises afflicting us today

What is Water? Jamie Linton, 2010 We all know what water is and we often take it for granted Because it seems so natural we seldom question how we see water But the spectre of a worldwide water crisis suggests that there might be something fundamentally wrong with the way we think about water Jamie Linton dives into the history of the modern concept of water that water can be stripped of its wider environmental social and cultural contexts and reduced to a scientific abstraction to mere H₂O This abstraction has given modern society licence to dam divert and manipulate water with impunity giving rise to a growing suite of problems Linton argues that part of the solution to the water crisis involves deliberately reinvesting water with social content

In the Nature of Landscape David Matless, 2014-09-08 In the Nature of Landscape presents regional cultural landscape as a new direction for research in cultural geography Represents the first cultural geographic study of the Norfolk Broads region of eastern England Addresses regional cultural landscape through consideration of narratives of landscape origin debates over human conduct the animal and plant landscapes of the region and visions of the ends of landscape through pollution and flood Draws upon in depth original research spanning almost two decades of archival work interviews and field study Covers a great diversity of topics from popular culture to scientific research folk song to holiday diaries planning survey to pioneering photography and ornithology to children's literature Features a variety of illustrative material including original photographs paintings photography advertising imagery scientific diagrams maps and souvenirs

Environmental Humanities and the Uncanny Rod Giblett, 2019-04-12 Sigmund Freud's essay The Uncanny is celebrating a century since publication It is arguably his greatest and most fruitful contribution to the study of culture and the environment Environmental Humanities and the Uncanny brings into the open neglected aspects of the uncanny in this famous essay in its centenary year and in the work of those before and after him such as Friedrich Schelling Walter Benjamin E T A Hoffmann and Bram Stoker This book does so by focussing on religion especially at a time and for a world in which some sectors of the monotheisms are in aggressive and sometimes violent contention against those of other monotheisms and even against other sectors within their own monotheism The chapter on Schelling's uncanny argues that monotheisms come out of polytheism and makes the plea for polytheism central to the whole book It enables rethinking the relationships between mythology and monotheistic and polytheistic religions in a culturally and politically liberatory and progressive way Succeeding chapters consider the uncanny cyborg the uncanny and the fictional and the uncanny and the Commonwealth concluding with a chapter on Taoism as a polytheistic religion Building on the author's previous work in Environmental Humanities and Theologies in bringing together theories of religion and the environment this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of the environmental humanities ecocultural studies and religion

Nordic Narratives of Nature and the Environment Reinhard Hennig, Anna-Karin Jonasson, Peter Degerman, 2020-07-06 Many contemporary environmental risks and global environmental changes occurring today are unprecedented in the history of human life on earth However the images and narratives through which humans relate to these phenomena are built on existing cultural tropes and narrative models Cultural social and historical contexts strongly influence how we construct images and narratives of nature and the environment It is therefore highly important to study such narratives in works of literature film and other forms of cultural expression in relation to the specific circumstances from which they arise Nordic Narratives of Nature and the Environment is the first English language anthology that presents ecocritical research on northern European literatures and cultures The contributors examine specifically Nordic narratives of nature and the environment with a focus on the cultures and literatures of the modern northern European countries Denmark Finland Norway and Sweden including S pmi which is the land traditionally inhabited by the indigenous Sami people Covering northern European literatures and cultures over a period of more than two centuries this anthology provides substantial insights into both old and new narratives of nature and the environment as well as intertextual relations the variety of cultural traditions and current discourses connected to the Nordic environmental imagination Case studies relating to works of literature film and other media shed new light on the role of culture history and society in the formation of narratives of nature and the environment and offer a comprehensive and multi faceted overview of the most recent ecocritical research in Scandinavian studies

New Lives of the Saints Rod Giblett, 2019-11-13 Presented here for the first time and for meditation and emulation are the words and work of many environmental apostles The words and work of each apostle are designed to delight and inspire the reader to begin or continue to lead a life of environmental action for conservation and contemplation of nature for spiritual succor in the age of climate change All the usual suspects are here such as St Francis Rachel Carson Aldo Leopold John Muir Henry David Thoreau and Judith Wright but New Lives of the Saints emphasizes some aspects of their words and work often ignored or overlooked such as Thoreau on swamps and Leopold on marshes Also included are some unusual and unexpected environmental apostles such as Walter Benjamin Raymond Williams Seamus Heaney and Paul Virilio all of whom contributed to green thinking as this book shows Other environmentally apostolic writers such as Walt Whitman Sidney Lanier Lord Dunsany H P Lovecraft Felix Guattari and Kelly Barnhill are also discussed Beginning with two environmentally and animal friendly retellings of the legends of St George and St Margaret involving dragons the book goes on to devote a chapter each to ten other environmental apostles as patron saints of a special type of environment or of an approach to environmental conservation and contemplation These saints sing the song of the earth including its swamps marshes bogs fens national parks mountains forests oceans seas airs rivers reefs trees cities peoples places plants animals and so on They provide nurture for living a life of hope and symbiotic livelihood living sacrally with the earth New Lives of the Saints crosses the great divide between fiction and non fiction and mixes the genres of story and essay It is a ground breaking work of environmental counter theology for the symbiocene the hoped for age superseding the Anthropocene

The Fabric of Space Matthew Gandy, 2014-10-31 A study of water at the intersection of landscape and infrastructure in Paris Berlin Lagos Mumbai Los Angeles and London Water lies at the intersection of landscape and infrastructure crossing between visible and invisible domains of urban space in the tanks and buckets of the global South and the vast subterranean technological networks of the global North In this book Matthew Gandy considers the cultural and material significance of water through the experiences of six cities Paris Berlin Lagos Mumbai Los Angeles and London Tracing the evolving relationships among modernity nature and the urban imagination from different vantage points and through different periods Gandy uses water as a lens through which to observe both the ambiguities and the limits of nature as conventionally understood Gandy begins with the Parisian sewers of the nineteenth century captured in the photographs of Nadar and the reconstruction of subterranean Paris He moves on to Weimar era Berlin and its protection of public access to lakes for swimming the culmination of efforts to reconnect the city with nature He considers the threat of malaria in Lagos where changing geopolitical circumstances led to large scale swamp drainage in the 1940s He shows how the dysfunctional water infrastructure of Mumbai offers a vivid expression of persistent social inequality in a postcolonial city He explores the incongruous concrete landscapes of the Los Angeles River Finally Gandy uses the fictional scenario of a partially submerged London as the starting point for an investigation of the actual hydrological threats facing that city

Following the Water Kylie Carman-Brown, 2019-10-18 Water reflects culture This book is a detailed analysis of hydrological change in Australia's largest inland waterway in Australia the Gippsland Lakes in Victoria in the first 70 years of white settlement Following air water is our primal need Unlike many histories this book looks at the entire hydrological cycle in one place rather than focusing on one bit Deftly weaving threads from history hydrology and psychology into one Following the Water explores not just what settlers did to the waterscape but probes their motivation for doing so By combining unlikely elements together such as swamp drainage water proofing techniques and temperance lobbying the book reveals a web of perceptions about how water should be With this laid clear we can ask how different we are from our colonial forebears

Water Stories in the Anthropocene Angelo Monaco, 2024-10-21 Water Stories in the Anthropocene explores how climate change has emerged as a major theme in our daily lives as it poses a myriad of economic scientific political and cultural challenges in the age of the Anthropocene In all its forms and manifestations climate change is primarily a water crisis Water scarcity droughts floods deluge rising sea levels ice melting wetlands loss and sea pollution are among the main threats posed by climate change wreaking havoc on both human and nonhuman forms of life This book engages with instances of extreme events related to water droughts floods deluges and the impact of climate change on some waterbodies seas and wetlands in contemporary Anglophone novels By taking into account a corpus of novels ranging from the various areas of the Anglophone world and thus shuttling between the Global North and the Global South the book reads these novels as water stories This volume pays attention to the pervasive presence of water in all aspects of our lives thus showing how narratives can offer insightful accounts of the present water crisis Alternating between an econarratological perspective reflections on the Anthropocene and the human nonhuman imbrications within the blue humanities the book contributes significantly to the considerations of the imaginative possibilities of these water stories showing how narratives can offer insightful accounts of the present water crisis

Urbanizing Frontiers Penelope Edmonds, 2010-07-01 Colonial frontiers were not confined to the bush backwoods or borderlands Early towns and cities in the far reaches of empire were crucial to the settler colonial project The experiences of Indigenous peoples in these urbanizing frontiers have been overshadowed by triumphant narratives of European progress Urbanizing Frontiers explores the lives of Indigenous peoples and newcomers in two Pacific Rim cities Victoria British Columbia and Melbourne Australia Built on Indigenous lands and overtaken by gold rushes these cities emerged between 1835 and 1871 in significantly different locations yet both became cross cultural and ultimately segregated sites of empire where bodies and spaces were rapidly transformed sometimes in violent ways This innovative interdisciplinary study reconceptualizes the frontier as urbanizing space by charting the development of the settler colonial
