Power And Betrayal In The Canadian Media:

Power and Betrayal in the Canadian Media David Taras, 2001-02-01 The Canadian media system which in many respects is this society's meeting ground its public square is in the midst of a profound shift away from the foundations on which it has rested comfortably for decades The publicly financed Canadian Broadcasting Corporation long the backbone of the broadcasting system is threatened by budget cuts and by technological change The newspaper industry has fallen into the hands of a few powerful individuals Huge global corporations and a vast communications revolution are dramatically altering the nature of news and entertainment This book argues that unless action is taken these changes will narrow our access to the information we need as citizens and damage our capacity to communicate with each other and reflect on ourselves as a community Power and Betrayal in the Canadian Media is a sweeping exploration of the Canadian media system and the impact it has on Canadian society politics and culture

Cross-Media Ownership and Democratic Practice in Canada Walter C. Soderlund, Colette Brin, Lydia Miljan, Kai Hildebrandt, 2012-09-01 This is the first in depth analysis of major French and English Canadian news companies to show the impact of cross media ownership on the diversity of new content Surprisingly the study lays to rest fears over content convergence of newspaper and television network ownership by Canadian media giants Canwest Global CTVglobemedia and Quebecor Content sharing between newspaper and television properties of these giant companies did not occur This leads the authors to examine why and to assess problems that mass media in Canada will likely face in the coming years particularly as newsrooms strive to adapt to new media and the online environment Policy makers media executives and journalism students and professors will find this study invaluable

The SAGE International Encyclopedia of Mass Media and Society Debra L. Merskin, 2019-11-12 The reference will discuss mass media around the world in their varied forms newspapers magazines radio television film books music websites and social media and will describe the role of each in both mirroring and shaping society

Last Word Florian Sauvageau, David

Schneiderman, David Taras, 2011-11-01 Media coverage of the Supreme Court of Canada has emerged as a crucial factor not only for judges and journalists but also for the public. It's the media after all that decide which court rulings to cover and how. They translate highly complex judgments into concise and meaningful news stories that will appeal to and be understood by the general public. Thus judges lose control of the message once they hand down decisions and journalists have the last word. To show how the Supreme Court has fared under the media spotlight, Sauvageau, Schneiderman and Taras examine a year in the life of the court and then focus on the media coverage of four high profile decisions: the Marshall case about Aboriginal rights, the Vriend case about gay rights, the Quebec Secession Reference and the Sharpe child pornography case. They explore the differences between television and newspaper coverage, national and regional reporting and the French and English language media. They also describe how judges and journalists understand and interact with one another amid often clashing legal and journalistic cultures, offering a rich and detailed account of the relationship between two of the most important institutions in Canadian life. In the News, 3rd edition William Wray Carney, Colin Babiuk, Mark Hunter

LaVigne, 2019-04-09 Now in its third edition, In the News is the standard Canadian textbook on media relations used across the country. The authors provide an introduction to media relations grounded in both communications theory and hands-on day to day experience. Whether you need to promote your issues to the nation or reach small targeted groups, this book is your step by step guide. In the News is perfect for communications students, media relations practitioners in the private, public and voluntary sectors, and anyone who wants to break a story. Journalism and Political Exclusion Debra M.

Clarke, 2014-08-30 The constraints of news production and the consequent limitations of news result directly in dissatisfaction throughout news audiences. News stories are frequently found to be inadequately informative to the extent that journalism is more inclined to generate political disenchantment rather than prompt its audiences to pursue a fully engaged level of political participation in their societies. Journalism and Political Exclusion provides a multi method integrated analysis of news production and news audiences, including a long term study of community activists in a central Canadian city. During the seven year fieldwork period, different groups of research participants completed questionnaires, wrote news diaries and were interviewed in their homes while viewing network television newscasts. Clarke shows that frustrations with the informational limitations of television and other news media are accelerated among women and the working class often lack opportunities to access alternative information sources. The critical contribution of journalism to the production and reproduction of ideas about social reality is frequently acknowledged and assumed yet rarely investigated and demonstrated. Through an examination of the everyday realities of both news production and news reception, Journalism and Political Exclusion also shows how the current crises of professional journalism heighten the level of political exclusion experienced by various social groups. Journalism in Crisis Mike Gasher, Colette Brin, Christine Crowther, Gretchen

King, Errol Salamon, Simon Thibault, 2016-01-01 Journalism in Crisis addresses the concerns of scholars, activists and journalists committed to Canadian journalism as a democratic institution and as a set of democratic practices The authors look within Canada and abroad for solutions for balancing the Canadian media ecology Public policies have been central to the creation and shaping of Canada's media system and rather than wait for new technologies or economic models the contributors offer concrete recommendations for how public policies can foster journalism that can support democratic life in twenty first century Canada Their work which includes new theoretical perspectives and valuable discussions of journalism practices in public private and community media should be read by professional and citizen journalists academics media activists policy makers and media audiences concerned about the future of democratic journalism in Canada CanLit

Seeking Convergence in Policy and Practice Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives, 2004 Seeing Red Mark Cronlund Anderson, Carmen L. Robertson, 2011-09-02 The first book to examine the role of Canada's newspapers in perpetuating the myth of Native inferiority Seeing Red is a groundbreaking study of how Canadian English language newspapers have portrayed Aboriginal peoples from 1869 to the present day It assesses a wide range of publications on topics that include the sale of Rupert's Land the signing of Treaty 3 the North West Rebellion and Louis Riel the death of

Pauline Johnson the outing of Grey Owl the discussions surrounding Bill C 31 the Bended Elbow standoff at Kenora Ontario and the Oka Crisis The authors uncover overwhelming evidence that the colonial imaginary not only thrives but dominates depictions of Aboriginal peoples in mainstream newspapers The colonial constructs ingrained in the news media perpetuate an imagined Native inferiority that contributes significantly to the marginalization of Indigenous people in Canada That such imagery persists to this day suggests strongly that our country lives in denial failing to live up to its cultural mosaic boosterism

Global Media Perspectives on the Crisis in Panama Professor Howard M Hensel, Professor Nelson Michaud, 2013-04-28 Operation Just Cause the United States incursion into Panama was the culmination of a gradually escalating confrontation between the United States and the Noriega dominated government of Panama that extended from June 1987 until early January 1990 Applying diverse methodological approaches this volume examines the various ways representative examples of the global media covered the developing crisis and the eventual US incursion into Panama The volume sets the stage for this analysis by delineating the chronological development of the escalating confrontation as well as by examining the confrontation from the perspective of the US government analyzes the crisis from the perspective of the US Soviet Canadian French Portuguese Arab and the People s Republic of China media exposes the challenges for public affairs officers operating within the context of the global media response to international crises and provides an assessment of the implications of the crisis for inter American and international relations This analysis and evaluation of a variety of global media perspectives on the escalating US Panamanian confrontation will serve to better illuminate and further enrich our understanding of a major international event indeed one of the final events of the Cold War era Changing Canada

Wallace Clement, Leah F. Vosko, 2003-03-03 Changing Canada examines political transformations welfare state restructuring international boundaries and contexts the new urban experience and creative resistance Censored 2001 Peter Phillips, Project Censored, 2001-04-03 The yearly volumes of Censored in continuous publication since 1976 and since 1995 available through Seven Stories Press is dedicated to the stories that ought to be top features on the nightly news but that are missing because of media bias and self censorship The top stories are listed democratically in order of importance according to students faculty and a national panel of judges Each of the top stories is presented at length alongside updates from the investigative reporters who broke the stories Beyond the Top 25 stories additional chapters delve further into timely media topics The Censored News and Media Analysis section provides annual updates on Junk Food News and News Abuse Censored D j Vu signs of hope in the alternative and news media and the state of media bias and alternative coverage around the world In the Truth Emergency section scholars and journalists take a critical look at the US NATO military industrial media empire And in the Project Censored International section the meaning of media democracy worldwide is explored in close association with Project Censored affiliates in universities and at media organizations all over the world A perennial favorite of booksellers teachers and readers everywhere Censored is one of the strongest life signs of our current collective desire to get the news we citizens need despite what Big Media tells us In the News William Wray Carney, 2002-02 This book introduces the concepts surrounding media relations and explains current media and communications practices from both theoretical and practical perspectives Midwest The Scope of Tolerance Raphael Cohen-Almagor, 2006 This is an interdisciplinary study concerned with the limits of tolerance the democratic catch and the costs of freedom of expression

In the News, 2nd edition William Wray Carney, 2012-07-02 Are you or your organization going to be in the news Do you want to be in the media spotlight and do you know how to deal with it In the News provides an introduction to media relations in Canada from a practical and philosophical approach Grounded in the latest research on how to work with media it explains current media practices and demonstrates how to take a proactive planned approach to dealing with media First published in 2002 to wide acclaim from media and academia alike the second edition is revised and updated containing two new chapters that outline emerging trends in media relations as well as connecting larger issues in media to its role in modern society A Civil Society? Miriam Smith, 2005-04-01 Focusing on the traditional state centred arenas of group and social movement influence such as Parliament elections the bureaucracy and the courts this book argues that the terrain of group politics in Canada has been restructured by the transition from the Keynesian welfare state era to the era of neoliberal globalization It surveys the main approaches to the study of collective action in the Canadian context including theories such as pluralism neo Marxism historical institutionalism and rational choice theory The core of the analysis draws on political economy and historical institutionalism to explore the ways in which Canadian political institutions are in the midst of a fundamental transformation brought on by the shift to neoliberalism Miriam Smith argues that political institutional changes in federalism and intergovernmental relations the role of the courts in the wake of the Charter the decline of the legislature the concentration of power at the centre the relative displacement of the public service the regionalization of the brokerage party system and the rise of professional lobbyists have altered the scope for group politics in Canada The restructuring of Canadian politics has gone beyond the level of policy change reshaping the central institutions of the state The core political institutions of the Canadian state are in the midst of their own restructuring process one that will make a less democratic Canada Shut Off Gregory Taylor, 2013 A critical analysis of the most significant technological change in Canadian television history
