Power And Its Disguises Anthropological Perspectives On Politics:

Power and Its Disguises John Gledhill, 2000-07-20 This book explores both the complexities of local situations and the power relations that shape the global order. He shows how historically informed anthropological perspectives can contribute to debates about democratisation by incorporating a view from below and revealing forces that shape power relations behind the formal facade of state institutions. Examples are drawn from Brazil, Cameroon, Democratic Republic of Congo, Guatemala, Indonesia, India, Mexico, Peru, Sierra Leone, South Africa, and Sri Lanka, amongst others. Power & Its Disguises John

John Gledhill, 2000. Gledhill social anthropology. University of Manchester explores the complexities of local situations and the power relations that shape the global order. He argues that an anthropology which confronts the politics of academic knowledge can transcend its colonial origins to challenge ethnocentrism. After considering the politics of agrarian civilizations and societies without indigenous states, he turns to the politics of domination and resistance within the colonial context. He examines contemporary politics of Africa, Asia, and Latin America. V. Olmstead, 1997. Dynamic, opinionated, gritty, and charismatic. Chimate Chumbalo successfully navigated male-dominated factional politics, experimenting with different strategies to create for her people the society that she wanted for herself.

Topography of Politics in Rural China Xiaoyang Zhu, 2015. Contemporary Chinese rural life is placed in sharp theoretical and practical focus in this book. State-of-the-art techniques and perspectives are combined to take the reader into Xiaocun, a small village on the east bank of the Dianchi Lake in Kunming City. In 2003, the author published the book Crime and Punishment: The Story of Xiaocun 1931-1997, which dealt with disputes, mediation, and punishment in the village following the legal anthropology tradition. At that time, neither the villagers nor the author foresaw the vast changes that were to appear a few years later. Their main economic activity then was growing vegetables and flowers; urbanisation was tsunami-like in its speed and impact. Land requisition for urban development was so swift that five years later, in 2008, there was no farmland left. Instead, there were many landmark real estate and development projects. Xiaocun has become the centre of an enlarged Kunming City. Observers, including the Xiaocun residents, are unavoidably shocked at the changes to the physical landscape in the wake of its rapid urbanisation This book Topography of Politics in Rural China The Story of Xiaocun reports the author's revisits to the village starting in early 2007 In the past few years of research on this village the author deeply felt that the problems that make people passionate are fully exposed through issues surrounding land and housing Well written in narrative this book tells the story of Xiaocun in this new century from the perspective of topography exploring the peasantry and its relations to the state in more fundamental terms Religion and Politics in Contemporary Japan Anne Mette

Fisker-Nielsen, 2012-06-25 Presenting a study of politics at grassroots level among young Japanese this book examines the alliance between the religious movement Soka Gakkai the Value creation Society and Komeito the Clean Government Party which shared power with the Liberal Democratic Party from 1999 to 2009 Drawing on primary research carried out among Komeito supporters the book focuses on the lives of supporters and voters in order to better understand the processes of democracy It goes on to discuss what the political behaviour of young Komeito supporters tell us about the role of religious organizations such as Soka Gakkai in Japanese politics Unlike most other books on politics in Japan which tend to concentrate on political elites this book provides extremely valuable insights into political culture at the grassroots level

1848-1870 Roger Price, 2004-06-17 This 2004 book is about politicisation and political choice in the aftermath of the February Revolution of 1848 and the emergence of democracy in France The introduction of male suffrage both encouraged expectations of social transformation and aroused intense fear In these circumstances the election of Louis Napoleon Bonaparte as President of the Republic and his subsequent coup d'état were the essential features of a counter revolutionary process which involved the creation of a system of democracy as the basis of regime legitimacy and as a prelude to greater liberalisation The state positively encouraged the act of voting But what did it mean How did people perceive politics How did communities and groups participate in political activity These and many other questions concern the relationships between local issues and personalities and the national political culture all of which impinged on communities increasingly as a result of substantial social and political change Introduction to Politics Robert Garner, Peter Ferdinand, Stephanie volume written by a new generation of scholars engaged with contemporary global movements for social justice and peace reflects their efforts in trying to integrate their scholarly pursuits with their understanding of social science politics and ethics and what political commitment means in practice and in fieldwork This is a book of argument and analysis written with passion clarity and intellectual sophistication which touches on issues of vital significance to social scientists and activists in general

Africa Patrick Chabal, 2013-04-04 The question usually asked about Africa is why is it going wrong Is the continent still suffering from the ravages of colonialism Or is it the victim of postcolonial economic exploitation poor governance and lack of aid Whatever the answer increasingly the result is poverty and violence In Africa The Politics of Suffering and Smiling Patrick Chabal approaches this question differently by reconsidering the role of theory in African politics Chabal discusses the limitations of existing political theories of Africa and proposes a different starting point arguing that political thinking ought to be driven by the need to address the immediacy of everyday life and death How do people define who they are Where do they belong What do they believe How do they struggle to survive and improve their lives What is the impact of illness and poverty In doing so Chabal proposes a radically different way of looking at politics in Africa and illuminates the ways ordinary people suffer and smile This is a highly original addition to Zed's groundbreaking World Political Theories series

Acting Locally Christopher Rootes, 2013-10-18 Local campaigns are the most persistent and ubiquitous forms of environmental contention National and transnational mobilisations come and go and the attention they receive from mass media ebbs and flows but local campaigns persist The persistence or re emergence of local campaigns is also a reminder that it remain possible to mobilise people around environmental issues and they have often served as sources of innovation in and re invigoration of national organisations that have allegedly been co opted by the powerful and incorporated into the established political and administrative system But local environmental campaigns have been relatively neglected in the scientific literature Drawing on examples from Britain France Greece Ireland and Italy this book seeks to redress that neglect by examining the networks among actors and organisations that connect local mobilizations to the larger environmental movement and political systems the ways in which local disputes are framed in order to connect with national and global issues and the persistent impacts of the peculiarities of place upon environmental campaigns This book was previously published as a special issue of Environmental Politics The Invisible Empire Georgie Wemyss,2016-03-03 This book offers a significant and original contribution to critical race theory Georgie Wemyss offers an anthropological account of the cultural hegemony of the West through investigations of the central and pivotal constituent of the dominant white discourse of Britishness the Invisible Empire She demonstrates how the repetitive burying of British Empire histories of violence in the retelling of Britain s past works to disguise how power operates in the present showing how other related elements have been substantially reproduced through time to accommodate the challenges of history The book combines ethnographic and discourse analysis with the study of connected histories to reveal how the dominant discourse maintains its dominance through its flexibility and its strategic alliances with subordinate groups Politics and the Environment in Eastern Europe Eszter Krasznai Kovacs,2021-07-28 Europe remains divided between east and west with differences caused and worsened by uneven economic and political development Amid these divisions the environment has become a key battleground The condition and sustainability of environmental resources are interlinked with systems of governance and power from local to EU levels Key challenges in the eastern European region today include increasingly authoritarian forms of government that threaten the operations and very existence of civil society groups the importation of locally contested conservation and environmental programmes that were designed elsewhere and a resurgence in cultural nationalism that prescribes and normalises exclusionary nation building myths This volume draws together essays by early career academic researchers from across eastern Europe Engaging with the critical tools of political ecology its contributors provide a hitherto overlooked perspective on the current fate and reception of environmentalism in the region It asks how emergent forms of environmentalism have been received how these movements and perspectives have redefined landscapes and what the subtler effects of new regulatory regimes on communities and environment dependent livelihoods have been Arranged in three sections with case studies from Czechia Hungary Lithuania Poland Romania and Serbia this collection develops anthropological views on the processes and consequences of the politicisation of the environment It is valuable reading for human geographers social and cultural historians political ecologists social movement and government scholars political scientists and specialists on Europe and European Union politics Nostalgia for the Modern Esra

Özyürek,2006-08-30 An ethnographic analysis of the ways that during the 1990s Turkish citizens began to express nostalgia for the secularist and nationalist foundations of the Turkish Republic Bargaining in the Development Market-place

Elizabeth Pilar Challinor,2008 The process of ethnographically detailing how individuals encounter institutions is a complicated task Few are those accounts that manage to clearly elucidate how new institutional knowledge passes through individuals within the course of normative everyday living Elizabeth Challinor s ethnography of rural Santiago Cape Verde does an outstanding job of revealing how the introduction of new institutional procedures are felt and experienced in non suspecting places in non suspecting ways and with non suspecting outcomes Challinor s descriptions of the encounter between new policies and daily practice provide an important lesson on the power in ethnographically informed theorization
