Japanese Marxist Gail Lee Bernstein, 1990 It is the merit of Bernstein s portrait of Kawakami Hajime that he emerges as a recognizable human being a truly modern figure reflecting in his own life a personal and hard won balance between traditional Japanese values and the demands of modernization The heir of a samurai family an acknowledged authority on economics a professor at one of Japan s leading universities an early popularizer of Marxism in Japan a Japanese Communist on his own unique terms and finally the author of an autobiography that is a classic of modern Japanese literature Kawakami Hajime is an important figure in the history of modern Japan At each stage of Kawakami s winding path to Marxism from patriotic nationalist to academic Marxist to revolutionary Communist his concern for the ethical and economic problems that emerged in the course of Japan s astonishingly rapid industrialization dominated his consciousness Bernstein provides a portrait of Kawakami s complex personality as well as an elegantly shaped narrative of the context and content of Japanese left wing politics in the 1920s and she makes plain the kinds of cultural conflict that modernization in its several varieties bequeathed to Japanese intellectuals

The Awakening of Modern Japanese Fiction Michihiro Ama, 2021-02-01 The Awakening of Modern Japanese Fiction is the first book to treat the literary practices of certain major modern Japanese writers as Buddhist practices and to read their work as Buddhist literature Its distinctive contribution is its focus on modern literature and importantly modern Buddhism which Michihiro Ama presents both as existing in continuity with the historical Buddhist tradition and as having unique features of its own Ama corrects the dominant perception in which the Christian practice of confession has been accepted as the primary informing source of modern Japanese prose literature arguing instead that the practice has always been a part of Shin Buddhist culture Focusing on personal fiction this volume explores the works of literary figures and Buddhist priests who challenged by the modern development of Japan turned to Buddhism in a variety of ways and used literature as a vehicle for transforming their sense of selfhood Writers discussed include Natsume S seki Tayama Katai Shiga Naoya Kiyozawa Manshi and Akegarasu Haya By bringing Buddhism out of the shadows of early twentieth century Japanese literature and elucidating its presence in both individual authors lives and the genre of autobiographical fiction The Awakening of Modern Japanese Fiction demonstrates a more nuanced understanding of the role of Buddhism in the development of Japanese modernity State and Economy in

Business Haruo Iguchi, 2020-03-23 Ayukawa Yoshisuke 1880 1967 was the founder of the Nissan conglomerate and the leader of the Manchuria Industrial Development Corporation one of the linchpins of Imperial Japan s efforts to economically exploit its overseas dependencies Despite his close association with the Japanese government from the 1920s to the 1950s

Ayukawa was a proponent of free trade and global economic interdependence. He sought to lessen state control of Japan's economy by trying to attract foreign especially American capital and technology in the years surrounding World War II. In the postwar era in particular Ayukawa actively pushed the growth of small and medium sized firms yet his efforts were ultimately unsuccessful. In Unfinished Business through exploring the reasons for Ayukawa's failure Haruo Iguchi illuminates many of the economic problems of today's Japan.

On the Margins of Empire Jeffrey Paul Bayliss, 2020-03-17 Two of the largest minority groups in modern Japan Koreans who emigrated to the metropole as colonial subjects and a social minority with historical antecedents known as the Burakumin share a history of discrimination and marginalization that spans the decades of the nation's modern transformation from the relatively liberal decade of the 1920s through the militarism and nationalism of the 1930s to the empire's demise in 1945. Through an analysis of the stereotypes of Koreans and Burakumin that were constructed in tandem with Japan's modernization and imperial expansion Jeffrey Paul Bayliss explores the historical processes that cast both groups as the antithesis of the emerging image of the proper Japanese citizen subject. This study provides new insights into the majority prejudices, social and political movements and state policies that influenced not only their perceived positions as others on the margins of the Japanese empire but also the minorities' views of themselves, their place in the nation and the often strained relations between the two groups.

Writing Margins Terry Kawashima, 2020-10-26 In texts from the mid Heian to the early Kamakura periods certain figures appear to be marginal or removed from centers of power. But why do we see these figures in this way? This study first seeks to answer this question by examining the details of the marginalizing discourse found in these texts. Who is portraying whom as marginal? For what reason? Is the discourse consistent? The author next considers these texts in terms of the predilection of modern scholarship both Japanese and Western to label certain figures marginal. She then poses the question: Is this predilection a helpful tool or does it inscribe modern biases and misconceptions onto these texts?

Emotions at Work Aviad E. Raz, 2020-03-23 Our work life is filled with emotions. How we feel on the job, what we say we feel and what feelings we display all these are important aspects of organizational behavior and workplace culture. Rather than focusing on the psychology of personal emotions at work however this study concentrates on emotions as role requirements on workplace emotions that combine the private with the public, the personal with the social and the authentic with the masked. In this cross cultural study of emotion management the author argues that even though the goals of normative control in factories, offices and shops may be similar across cultures organizational structure and the surrounding culture affect how that control is discussed and conceived.

Korean Political and Economic Development Jongryn Mo, Barry Weingast, 2020-10-26 How do poor nations become rich industrialized and democratic And what role does democracy play in this transition To address these questions Jongryn Mo and Barry R Weingast study South Korea's remarkable transformation since 1960 The authors concentrate on three critical turning points Park Chung Hee's creation of the development state beginning in the early 1960s democratization in 1987 and the genesis of and reaction to the 1997 economic crisis At each turning point Korea took a significant step toward creating an open access social order The dynamics of this transition hinge on the inclusion of a wide array of citizens rather than just a narrow elite in economic and political activities and organizations The political economy systems that followed each of the first two turning points lacked balance in the degree of political and economic openness and did not last The Korean experience therefore suggests that a society lacking balance cannot sustain development Korean Political and Economic Development offers a new view of how Korea was able to maintain a pro development state with sustained growth by resolving repeated crises in favor of rebalancing and greater political and economic openness

The Real Modern Christopher P. Hanscom, 2020-05-11 The contentious relationship between modernism and realism has powerfully influenced literary history throughout the twentieth century and into the present In 1930s Korea at a formative moment in these debates a crisis of representation stemming from the loss of faith in language as a vehicle of meaningful reference to the world became a central concern of literary modernists as they operated under Japanese colonial rule Christopher P Hanscom examines the critical and literary production of three prose authors central to 1930s literary circles Pak T aewon Kim Yujong and Yi T aejun whose works confront this crisis by critiquing the concept of transparent or empiricist language that formed the basis for both a nationalist literary movement and the legitimizing discourse of assimilatory colonization Bridging literary and colonial studies this re reading of modernist fiction within the imperial context illuminates links between literary practice and colonial discourse and questions anew the relationship between aesthetics and politics The Real Modern challenges Eurocentric and nativist perspectives on the derivative particularity of non Western literatures opens global modernist studies to the similarities and differences of the colonial Korean case and argues for decolonization of the ways in which non Western literatures are read in both local and global contexts

Knowing the Amorous Man Jamie L. Newhard, 2020-05-11 Tales of Ise Ise monogatari is traditionally identified as one of the most important Japanese literary texts of the Heian period 794-1185 Since its enshrinement in the classical literary canon as early as the eleventh century the work has also been the object of intensive study and extensive commentary Its idiosyncratic form 125 loosely connected episodes recounting the life and loves of an anonymous courtier and mysterious authorship have provoked centuries of explication Jamie Newhard s study skillfully combines primary source research with a theoretically framed analysis exploring commentaries from the medieval period into the early twentieth century and situating the text s critical reception within an evolving historical and social context By giving a more comprehensive picture of the social networks and scholastic institutions within which literary scholarship developed and circulated Newhard identifies the ideological methodological and literary issues that shaped the commentators agendas as the audience for classical literature expanded beyond aristocratic circles to include other social groups Her approach illuminates how exegesis of Tales of Ise ultimately reflects shifting historical and social assessments that construct transform and transmit the literary and cultural value of the work over time

Facing the Monarch Garret P. S. Olberding, 2020-05-11 In the popular consciousness manipulative speech pervades politicized discourse and the eloquence of politicians is seen as invariably rooted in cunning and prevarication Rhetorical flourishes are thus judged corruptive of the substance of political discourse because they lead to distortion and confusion Yet the papers in Facing the Monarch suggest that separating style from content is practically impossible Focused on the era between the Spring and Autumn period and the later Han dynasty this volume examines the dynamic between early Chinese ministers and monarchs at a time when ministers employed manifold innovative rhetorical tactics The contributors analyze discrete excerpts from classical Chinese works and explore topics of censorship irony and dissidence highly relevant for a climate in which ruse and misinformation were the norm What emerges are original and illuminating perspectives on how the early Chinese political circumstance shaped and phrased and prohibited modes of expression

Modernity with a Cold War Face Xiaojue Wang, 2020-05-11 The year 1949 witnessed China divided into multiple political and cultural entities How did this momentous shift affect Chinese literary topography Modernity with a Cold War Face examines the competing converging and conflicting modes of envisioning a modern nation in mid twentieth century Chinese literature Bridging the 1949 divide in both literary historical periodization and political demarcation Xiaojue Wang proposes a new framework to consider Chinese literature beyond national boundaries as something arising out of the larger global geopolitical and cultural conflict of the Cold War Examining a body of heretofore understudied literary and cultural production in mainland China Taiwan Hong Kong and overseas during a crucial period after World War II Wang traces how Chinese writers collected artistic fragments blended feminist and socialist agendas constructed ambivalent stances toward colonial modernity and an imaginary homeland translated foreign literature to shape a new Chinese subjectivity and revisited the classics for a new time Reflecting historical reality in fictional terms their work forged a path toward multiple modernities as they created alternative ways of connection communication and articulation to uncover and undermine Cold War dichotomous antagonism

The Song-Yuan-Ming Transition in Chinese History Paul Jakov

Smith, Richard von Glahn, 2020-03-23 This volume seeks to study the connections between two well studied epochs in Chinese history the mid imperial era of the Tang and Song ca 800 1270 and the late imperial era of the late Ming and Qing 1550 1900 Both eras are seen as periods of explosive change particularly in economic activity characterized by the emergence of new forms of social organization and a dramatic expansion in knowledge and culture The task of establishing links between these two periods has been impeded by a lack of knowledge of the intervening Mongol Yuan dynasty 1271 1368 This historiographical black hole has artificially interrupted the narrative of Chinese history and bifurcated it into two distinct epochs This book aims to restore continuity to that historical narrative by filling the gap between mid imperial and late imperial China The contributors argue that the Song Yuan Ming transition early twelfth through the late fifteenth century constitutes a distinct historical period of transition and not one of interruption and devolution They trace this transition by investigating such subjects as contemporary impressions of the period the role of the Mongols in intellectual life the economy of Jiangnan urban growth neo Confucianism and local society commercial publishing comic drama and medical learning

Metamorphosis of the Private Sphere Xiaoshan Yang, 2020-05-11 The Chinese garden has been explored from a variety of angles Much has been written about its structural features as well as its cosmological religious philosophical moral aesthetic and economic underpinnings This book deals with the poetic configurations of the private garden in cities from the ninth to the eleventh century in relation to the development of the private sphere in Chinese literati culture It focuses on the ways in which the new values and rhetoric associated with gardens and the objects found in them helped shape the processes of self cultivation and self imaging among the literati as they searched for alternatives to conventional values at a time when traditional political moral and aesthetic norms were increasingly judged inapplicable or inadequate The garden was also an artifact and a locus for material culture and social competition Focusing on a series of anecdotes about private transactions involving objects in gardens the author dissects the intricate nexus between the exchange of poetry and the poetry of exchange In tracing the development of the private urban garden through the writings of Bai Juyi Su Shi Sima Guang and their contemporaries the author argues that this private space figured increasingly as a place of disengagement for those out of political power and hence was increasingly invaded by political forces Practical Pursuits Ellen Gardner

Nakamura, 2020-03-17 The history of Western medicine in the late Tokugawa period is usually depicted as a prelude to modern medicine By comparison to the Western medical science that was systematically introduced in the Meiji period the Tokugawa study of Western learning is often seen as a hopelessly backward exercise in which inadequately equipped Japanese doctors valiantly struggled to make sense of outdated Dutch knowledge In contrast this book argues that the study of Western medicine was a dynamic activity that brought together doctors from all over the country in efforts to effect social change Western knowledge was not simply the property of elite samurai doctors working for the Bakufu or domains but was shared even by commoner doctors working in local practices in rural backwaters Through the examples of the doctors

Takano Choei 1804 1850 and Takahashi Keisaku 1799 1875 this book explores the context into which local Japanese doctors incorporated Western ideas the social networks through which they communicated them and the geographical spaces that supported these activities By examining the social impact of Western learning at the level of everyday life rather than simply its impact at the theoretical level the book offers a broad picture of the way in which Western medicine and Western knowledge was absorbed and adapted in Japan
