Novel Competition Evan Brier, 2024-04-16 Novel Competition describes the literary and institutional effort to make the

American novel matter after 1965 During this era Hollywood movies popular music and other forms of mass produced culture vied with novels for a specific kind of prestige often figured as importance or relevance that had mostly been attached to novels in previous decades This trans media competition Brier argues is a crucial but largely unacknowledged event in the literary and economic history of the American novel In the face of it the novel lost some of the symbolic specialness it formerly held That loss in turn generated not just a much discussed rhetoric of crisis but also a host of unexamined intertwined effects on both literary form and the business of novel production Drawing on a range of novels and on the archives of publishers editors agents and authors Novel Competition shows how fiction s declining position in a transformed popular prestige economy reshaped the post 1965 American novel as art form cultural institution and commodity
