Retreat From Marriage Causes And Consequences:

The Retreat from Marriage Bryce J. Christensen, 1990 This study examines the social and cultural forces making marriage increasingly rare and fragile in the contemporary world Four essays together with an edited summary of debate among leading researchers help define the historical significance of current trends in family life in America Drawing from sociological statistics historical research literary criticism and philosophic reflection this book offers a wide ranging exploration of marital trends Co published with the Rockford Institute's Center on the Family in America

A General Theory of Emotions and Social Life Warren D. TenHouten, 2006-11-22 Founded upon the psychoevolutionary theories of Darwin Plutchik and Izard a general socioevolutionary theory of the emotions affect spectrum theory classifies a wide spectrum of the emotions and analyzes them on the sociological psychological and neurobiological levels This neurocognitive sociology of the emotions supersedes the major theoretical perspectives developed in the sociology of emotions by showing primary emotions to be adaptive reactions to fundamental problems of life which have evolved into elementary social relationships and which can predict occurrences of the entire spectrum of primary complex secondary and tertiary emotions Written by leading social theorist Warren D TenHouten this book presents an encyclopaedic classification of the emotions describing forty six emotions in detail and presenting a general multilevel theory of emotions and social life The scope of coverage of this key work is highly topical and comprehensive and includes the development of emotions in childhood symbolic elaboration of complex emotions emotions management violence and cultural and gender differences While primary emotions have clearly defined valences this theory shows that complex emotions obey no algebraic law and that all emotions have both creative and destructive potentialities

Convergence or Divergence?

Simon Langlois, Theodore Caplow, 1994-11-16 Trends in fertility decline intergenerational relations religion and secularization ecological movements employment and labour market changes personal authority and social conflict are examined This analysis shows an unmistakable convergence of social trends except in the domain of religion But when the interconnection of these trends within each national society is examined unexpected divergences are revealed There are parallel trends in demography organization of production national institutions social practices and life style and divergent trends in social inequality social movements and local institutions Barriers between social classes have eroded and something that might be called multidimensional stratification has emerged the diminution of violence in social conflicts implies an increasing volume of negotiation and all forms of personal authority have been weakened The transformation of the family structure is no doubt one of the most important changes in western civilization The cross national analyses of recent social trends help us to assess both convergence and divergence and to identify emergent singularities Does convergence of trends mean these societies face a common destiny With respect to trends so strong that they act as exogenous variables the answer is yes However with respect to the responses those trends elicit in the context of a particular society the answer is no Massive convergence of trends does not mean that societies face a uniform future

Social Inequality Kathryn Neckerman, 2004-06-18

Inequality in income earnings and wealth has risen dramatically in the United States over the past three decades Most research into this issue has focused on the causes global trade new technology and economic policy rather than the consequences of inequality In Social Inequality a group of the nation's leading social scientists opens a wide ranging inquiry into the social implications of rising economic inequality Beginning with a critical evaluation of the existing research they assess whether the recent run up in economic inequality has been accompanied by rising inequality in social domains such as the quality of family and neighborhood life equal access to education and health care job satisfaction and political participation Marcia Meyers and colleagues find that many low income mothers cannot afford market based child care which contributes to inequality both at the present time by reducing maternal employment and family income and through the long term consequences of informal or low quality care on children's educational achievement At the other end of the educational spectrum Thomas Kane links the growing inequality in college attendance to rising tuition and cuts in financial aid Neil Fligstein and Taek Jin Shin show how both job security and job satisfaction have decreased for low wage workers compared with their higher paid counterparts Those who fall behind economically may also suffer diminished access to essential social resources like health care John Mullahy Stephanie Robert and Barbara Wolfe discuss why higher inequality may lead to poorer health wider inequality might mean increased stress related ailments for the poor and it might also be associated with public health care policies that favor the privileged On the political front Richard Freeman concludes that political participation has become more stratified as incomes have become more unequal Workers at the bottom of the income scale may simply be too hard pressed or too demoralized to care about political participation Social Inequality concludes with a comprehensive section on the methodological problems involved in disentangling the effects of inequality from other economic factors which will be of great benefit to future investigators While today s widening inequality may be a temporary episode the danger is that the current economic divisions may set in motion a self perpetuating cycle of social disadvantage The most comprehensive review of this quandary to date Social Inequality maps out a new agenda for research on inequality in America with important implications for public policy

The Oxford Handbook of Women and the Economy Susan L. Averett, Laura M. Argys, Saul D. Hoffman, 2018-05-15 The transformation of women s lives over the past century is among the most significant and far reaching of social and economic phenomena affecting not only women but also their partners children and indeed nearly every person on the planet In developed and developing countries alike women are acquiring more education marrying later having fewer children and spending a far greater amount of their adult lives in the labor force Yet because women remain the primary caregivers of children issues such as work life balance and the glass ceiling have given rise to critical policy discussions in the developed world In developing countries many women lack access to reproductive technology and are often relegated to jobs in the informal sector where pay is variable and job security is weak Considerable occupational segregation and stubborn gender pay gaps persist around the world The Oxford Handbook of Women and the Economy is the first comprehensive collection of scholarly essays to address these issues using the powerful framework of economics Each chapter written by an acknowledged expert or team of experts reviews the key trends surveys the relevant economic theory and summarizes and critiques the empirical research literature By providing a clear eyed view of what we know what we do not know and what the critical unanswered questions are this Handbook provides an invaluable and wide ranging examination of the many changes that have occurred in women s economic lives

The Demography of Remarriage in Japan James M. Raymo, Erika Teramoto, Shohei Yoda, Miho Iwasawa, Setsuya Fukuda, 2024-07-31 This book provides the first comprehensive demographic overview of remarriage in Japan Despite the fact that nearly one in five marriages in Japan now involves at least one formerly married spouse very little is known about the nature of remarriages and how they differ from first marriages One important focus of this book is to examine fertility intentions and outcomes in remarriages and to compare them with marriages in which both partners are in their first marriage It is well known that low rates of first marriage contribute to Japan s very low total fertility rate TFR but there is currently no theoretical or empirical basis for understanding how levels and patterns of remarriage are related to the TFR To understand trends and patterns of remarriage in Japan the book begins with an overview of the voluminous research literature on remarriage in the USA and other Western countries This overview consists of a summary of trends and theoretical frameworks for understanding remarriage and is followed by a summary of existing research on correlates of remarriage and outcomes associated with higher order marriages Of particular importance is the attention paid to stepfamily fertility and the extent to which remarriage is associated with overall levels of fertility An important contribution of this book is its presentation of basic descriptive information about levels and correlates of remarriage in Japan These descriptive analyses are based on published data in the vital statistics reports and individual level data from the National Fertility Surveys conducted by the National Institute of Population and Social Security Research and the National Survey of Households with Children conducted by the Japan Institute for Labour Policy and Training

The Punitive Turn Deborah E. McDowell, Claudrena N. Harold, Juan Battle, 2013-11-15 The Punitive Turn explores the historical political economic and sociocultural roots of mass incarceration as well as its collateral costs and consequences Giving significant attention to the exacting toll that incarceration takes on inmates their families their communities and society at large the volume's contributors investigate the causes of the unbridled expansion of incarceration in the United States Experts from multiple scholarly disciplines offer fresh research on race and inequality in the criminal justice system and the effects of mass incarceration on minority groups economic situation and political inclusion In addition practitioners and activists from the Sentencing Project the Virginia Organizing Project and the Restorative Community Foundation among others discuss race and imprisonment from the perspective of those working directly in the field Employing a multidisciplinary approach the essays included in the volume provide an unprecedented range of perspectives on the growth and racial dimensions of incarceration in the United States and generate critical questions not simply about the penal system but also about the inner workings failings and future of American democracy Contributors Ethan Blue University of Western Australia Mary Ellen Curtin American University Harold Folley Virginia Organizing Project Eddie Harris Children Youth and Family Services Anna R Haskins University of Wisconsin Madison Cheryl D Hicks University of North Carolina at Charlotte Charles E Lewis Jr Congressional Research Institute for Social Work and Policy Marc Mauer The Sentencing Project Anoop Mirpuri Portland State University Christopher Muller Harvard University Marlon B Ross University of Virginia Jim Shea Community Organizer Jonathan Simon University of California Berkeley Heather Ann Thompson Temple University Debbie Walker The Female Perspective Christopher Wildeman Yale University Interviews by Jared Brown University of Virginia Tshepo Morongwa Ch ry University of Texas Austin
