Return To Salonika:

Child Survivors of the Holocaust in Greece Pothiti Hantzaroula, 2020-11-29 A historical investigation of children's memory of the Holocaust in Greece illustrates that age generation and geographical background shaped postwar Jewish identities. The examination of children's narratives deposited in the era of digital archives enables an understanding of the age-specific construction of the memory of genocide which shakes established assumptions about the memory of the Holocaust. In the context of a global Holocaust memory established through testimony archives, the present research constructs a genealogy of the testimonial culture in Greece by framing the rich source of written and oral testimonies in the political discourses and public memory of the aftermath of the Second World War. The testimonies of former hidden children and child survivors of concentration camps illuminate the questions that haunted postwar attempts to reconstruct communities related to the specific evolution of genocide in Greece and to the rising anti-Semitism of postwar Greece. As an oral history of child survivors of the Holocaust, the book will be of interest to researchers in the fields of the history of childhood, Jewish studies, memory studies, and Holocaust and genocide studies. After the War was Over Mark Mazower, 2000-11-12 This volume makes available some of the most exciting research currently underway into Greek society after Liberation. Together its essays map a new social history of Greece in the 1940s and 1950s, a period in which the country grappled bloodily with foreign occupation and intense civil conflict. Extending innovative historical approaches to Greece, the contributors explore how war and civil war affected the family, the law, and the state. They examine how people led their lives as communities and individuals at a time of political polarization in a country on the front line of the Cold War's division of Europe. And they advance the ongoing reassessment of what happened in postwar Europe by including regional and village histories and by examining long-running issues of nationalism and ethnicity. Previously neglected subjects from children and women in the resistance and in prisons to the state use of pageantry yield fresh insights. By focusing on episodes such as the problems of Jewish survivors in Salonika, memories of the Bulgarian occupation of northern Greece, and the controversial arrest of a war criminal, these scholars begin to answer persistent questions about war and its repercussions: How do people respond to repression? How deep are ethnic divisions? Which forms of power emerge under a weakened state? When forced to choose, will parents sacrifice family or ideology? How do ordinary people surmount wartime grievances to live together? In addition to the editor, the contributors are Eleni Haidia, Procopis Papastratis, Polymeris Voglis, Mando Dalianis, Tassoula Vervenioti, Riki van Boeschoten, John Sakkas, Lee Sarafis, Stathis N. Kalyvas, Anastasia Karakasidou, Bea Lefkowitz, Xanthippi Kotzageorgi, Zymari Tassos, Hadjianastassiou, and Susanne Sophia Spiliotis. Artisans of Empire Suraiya Faruqi, 2009-06-23 The manufacture and trade in crafted goods and the men and women who were involved in this industry, including metalworkers, ceramicists, silk weavers, fez makers, blacksmiths, and even barbers, lay at the social as well as the economic heart of the Ottoman empire. This comprehensive history by leading Ottoman historian Suraiya Faruqi presents the definitive view of the subject from the production and distribution of different craft objects to their use and enjoyment within the community Faruqi sheds new light on all aspects of artisan life setting the concerns of individual craftsmen within the context of the broader cultural themes that connect them to the wider world Combining social cultural economic religious and historical insights this will be the authoritative work on Ottoman artisans and guilds for many years to come A display of unrivalled knowledge of the sources by one of the leading historians of the Ottoman Empire Erik J Zürcher Professor of Turkish Studies at the University of Leiden

Homeless Tongues Monique Balbuena, 2016-07-27 This book examines a group of multicultural Jewish poets to address the issue of multilingualism within a context of minor languages and literatures nationalism and diaspora It introduces three writers working in minor or threatened languages who challenge the usual consensus of Jewish literature Algerian Sadia Levy Israeli Margalit Matitiah and Argentine Juan Gelman Each of them Levy in French and Hebrew Matitiah in Hebrew and Ladino and Gelman in Spanish and Ladino expresses a hybrid or composite Sephardic identity through a strategic choice of competing languages and intertexts Monique R Balbuena's close literary readings of their works which are mostly unknown in the United States are strongly grounded in their social and historical context Her focus on contemporary rather than classic Ladino poetry and her argument for the inclusion of Sephardic production in the canon of Jewish literature make Homeless Tongues a timely and unusual intervention

Jews in the Realm of the Sultans Yaron Ben-Naeh, 2008 Jewish society in the Ottoman Empire has not been the subject of systematic research The seventeenth century is the main object of this study since it was a formative era For Ottoman Jews the Ottoman century constituted an era of gradual acculturation to changing reality parallel to the changing character of the Ottoman state Continuous changes and developments shaped anew the character of this Jewry the core of what would later become known as Sephardi Jewry Yaron Ben Naeh draws from primary and secondary Hebrew Ottoman and European sources the image of Jewish society in the Ottoman Empire In the chapters he leads the reader from the overall urban framework to individual aspects Beginning with the physical environment he moves on to discuss their relationships with the majority society followed by a description and analysis of the congregation its organization and structure and from there to the character of Ottoman Jewish society and its nuclear cell the family Special emphasis is placed throughout the work on the interaction with Muslim society and the resulting acculturation that affected all aspects and all levels of Jewish life in the Empire In this the author challenges the widespread view that sees this community as being stagnant and self segregated as well as the accepted concept of a traditional Jewish society under Islam

Classics Transformed in Jewish, Israeli, and Palestinian Receptions, 2025-02-19 Classics Transformed in Jewish Israeli and Palestinian Receptions invites the reader to view classical antiquity through the writings of poets translators and scholars emerging from modern Jewish diasporas Mandatory Palestine and the State of Israel who engaged with Greek and Roman literary precedents Whereas these voices have up to now been mostly studied independently of one another as separate fields of research this volume brings some of these distinct voices who nevertheless share a connection to Greco Roman antiquity into conversation with one another Taking its cue from the crisis of humanism following the Holocaust the chapters take as their themes the destruction of home displacement and different forms of wandering and homecomings drawing connections to acts of translation and transmission of the classics to form a picture of cultural and textual states of alterity The volume shows that Jewish Israeli and Palestinian responses to the classics are entangled and even complementary despite their different trajectories The chapters included here focus particularly on critical moments in Jewish and Palestinian existence when the reception of classical humanism is closely linked to issues of survival On offer here is a historically grounded investigation into the ways Jews Israelis and Palestinians have used classical antiquity and classical philology to validate their identity in a rapidly changing society

The Polk Conspiracy Kati Marton, 2014-09-16 In war torn Greece the murder of a young American reporter sent a shock through the West and set the stage for the four decade Cold War now with a new introduction by the author Greece in 1948 was a country reeling from two major conflicts The Nazi occupation and World War II had left it weakened and the Greek Civil War already raging for two years had torn it apart One of the earliest clashes of the Cold War Greece s civil dispute pitted the American backed royalist government against the Soviet funded Greek Communist Party Reporting at the front lines for CBS News George Polk drew the ire of both sides with his uncompromising and incisive coverage In mid May days after going missing Polk was found dead shot execution style with his hands and feet bound What transpired next was a mad scramble of finger pointing and international outrage To appease its American backers the Greek government quickly secured the dubious confession of a Communist journalist though the bulk of the evidence pointed to the royalists An influential moment in the early days of the Cold War and a powerful force in the formation of the Truman Doctrine the Polk conspiracy was emblematic of the ideological conflict that would embroil the globe for the next forty years Captain of the Carpathia Eric L. Clements, 2016-02-11 Responding to Titanic's distress calls in the early hours of 15 April 1912 Captain Arthur Rostron raced the Cunard liner Carpathia to the scene of the sinking rescued the seven hundred survivors of the world's most famous shipwreck and then carried them to safety at New York After twenty five years at sea the competence and compassion Rostron displayed during the rescue made him a hero on two continents and presaged his subsequent achievements During the First World War he participated in the invasion of Gallipoli and commanded Cunard's Mauretania as a hospital ship in the Mediterranean and a troop transport in the Atlantic As her longest serving master he commanded that legendary vessel in transatlantic passenger service through most of the 1920s Rostron retired in 1931 as the most esteemed master mariner of his era celebrated for the Titanic rescue decorated for his war service and knighted for his contributions to British seafaring This account uses newspaper reports company records government documents contemporary publications and memoirs to recount Rostron's seafaring life from his first voyage as an apprentice rounding Cape Horn in sail to his retirement forty four years later as commodore of the Cunard Line Set within the context of his times and featuring particulars of the ships in which he served and commanded this is the first comprehensive biography of Arthur Rostron before during and after his year as captain of the Carpathia Pragmatic Toleration Victoria Christman, 2015 Using the case of early sixteenth century Antwerp argues that practices of religious toleration in the Christian West first emerged not as the outgrowth of beliefs about human rights but as a practical consequence of religious coexistence In a modern world still struggling to achieve religious coexistence there has been a recent burgeoning of scholarship aimed at examining the history of such coexistence Most of these studies focus on developments in the seventeenth century and beyond This book redirects attention earlier to the first half of the sixteenth century and argues that impulses to toleration were already at work even amid the religious upheaval of the European Reformations In the early modern metropolis of Antwerp the author finds a wealthy merchant city struggling to balance the competing interests of municipality and empire While their imperial overlords attempted to impose religious uniformity via increasingly repressive anti heresy edicts the city fathers of Antwerp found ways to circumvent those laws in order to accommodate the religious heterodoxy of their most valued inhabitants The result was the development of pragmatically tolerant practices that arose in the service of fundamentally nonreligious motivations Via a series of case studies this book documents the development of such practices on the part of the Antwerp fathers as they defended their heterodox inhabitants It seeks to understand the motivations underlying the councilors' lenient treatment of heterodoxy in their city and attempts to answer the question of how we are to understand such pragmatically tolerant behavior as part of the broader history of religious tolerance in the Christian West Victoria Christman is associate professor of history at Luther College Daily Report ,1974 , Holocaust and Redemption Mati Alon,2003 Living 2000 years in exile the Hebrews had a 2000 year DREAM to return to their Promised Land The MIRACLE happened in 1948 when the State of Israel was founded Not yet the Third Temple the DREAM period was full of anguish tears and blood the Spanish Inquisition the Holocaust in Europe Anti Semitism etc The MIRACLE period was also is also full of anguish tears and blood Fighting five Arab nations very well equipped without arms with a Western World arms embargo against Israel Then the SIX DAY War in 1967 when Egypt and Syria launched a surprise attack against Israel This was followed with the constant terror attacks the Intifadah mainly against Israeli civilians
