during his Presidency of the Association and resulted in the creation of his Presidential Programme on Child Mental Health. This book presents some of the fruits of this programme and constitutes a global call to action for mental health workers and policy makers. The Mental Health of Children and Adolescents: An area of global neglect brings together information on the burden of mental disorders in childhood and adolescence with methods of raising public awareness of these problems. The book also describes therapeutic and preventive interventions that could diminish them. It then presents the results of field studies in Brazil, Egypt and Russia documenting the effectiveness of interventions to prevent school dropout in those three very different countries. With its emphasis on practical guidance for the development of interventions to prevent or treat child and adolescent mental health, The Mental Health of Children and Adolescents: An area of global neglect provides much needed information of direct interest to health professionals and the many others involved in the provision of health care to children and adolescents in both the developing and the developed countries. Mental Health Atlas 2005 World Health Organization, Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse, World Health Organization, Mental Health Evidence and Research Team, 2005. This atlas is aimed at collecting, compiling and disseminating information on mental health resources in the world. It presents updated and expanded information from 192 countries with analyses of global and regional trends as well as individual country profiles. Newly included in this volume is a section on epidemiology within the profiles of all low and middle income countries. It shows that mental health resources within most countries remain inadequate despite modest improvements since 2001. Availability of mental health resources across countries and between regions remains substantially uneven with many countries having few resources. The atlas reinforces the urgent need to enhance mental health resources within countries. Religion and Mental Health, 1980 Administration in Mental Health, 1986 Mental health of refugees and migrants: risk and protective factors and access to care World Health Organization, 2023-10-10. This report focuses on the mental health needs of refugees and migrants and the available evidence on risk and protective factors and access to care. Policies are needed that safeguard human rights including the right to health for all refugees and migrants regardless of legal status, reduce anti-migrant stigma and discrimination and recognize the social determinants of mental health by prioritizing basic needs for example food, housing, safety, education and employment. Access to mental health care must also be strengthened by engaging with refugee and migrant communities and offering choices and pathways regarding care and providers. Care itself needs to be strengthened through improving the capacity of health care workers to assess and treat mental health conditions among refugees and migrants from diverse cultural backgrounds. This GEHM addresses these questions through an umbrella of systematic reviews published since 2012 as well as systematic reviews of empirical studies published since the start of 2020 using customized search strategies and key terms. Career Development and Counseling Steven D.
