Search Of Llanretny Other Poems:

The Search of Llanretny Marion Deschamps,1970-01-01 Donegal Memories and Other Poems (Classic Reprint)
James Nicoll Johnston,2018-01-26 Excerpt from Donegal Memories and Other Poems Throughout those years of the weary silence of his own Muse however he was alertly a listener to all the voices of song around him and it was then in collaboration with his mother of nature like his own that he gathered the materials which prepared him to become not long ago the historian of poetry in Buffalo It can be said safely that no other city in this country has anything of local anthology to compare in completeness and historical value with the fine volume edited and published by Mr Johnston in 1904 representative of The Poets and Poetry of Buffalo nor is there another of equal rank and population that could make a prouder showing of literary product than that volume sets forth The preparation of it was a labor of love moved by the high civic spirit which estimates a community by the workings of mind it can show rather than by the product of its factories or the statistics of its trade Time had now brought my friend to that backward turn of memory which slips one into persisting thoughts of his youth giving him a happy recall of days when mere living was poetry and the prose making of manhood in sordid labors was not begun This quickened into a new activity the old instinct of rhythmic expression that was born in him and it gave us the Donegal Memories which have sung their simple sweet feeling into the hearts of many more than their Irish readers If I care a little more for the elder verse of the eighteen sixties and seventies it is because of the habit of a long affection no doubt and not many will assent to such a preference The poems of the two periods are interesting in their differences as well as delightful in themselves and they gain by being bound together About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Llangollen Vale, with Other Poems Anna Seward,1796 Glendalloch William Drennan,John Swanwick Drennan,1859 The Cobbler in Willow Street and Other Poems George O'Neil,2000 The O'Donoghue of the Lakes, and Other Poems Nicholas J. Gannon,2012-08-01 Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts 1 We have not used OCR Optical Character Recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos 2 In books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact Although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy Glena of the creek, and other poems William Adams (writer of verse.),1870
Where the Old Road Ran Edith M. England,1970-01-01 Bagpipe Ballads and Other Poems Neil Munro,Bob

Preston, Alan MacGillivray, 2010 Neil Munro 1863 1930 is well known for his brilliant humorous sketches which celebrate Para Handy the wily skipper of the puffer Vital Spark and his crew One of the most outstanding journalists of his day he was also the author of fine historical novels of which John Splendid and The New Road are most highly acclaimed Throughout his literary career he also wrote poetry Not surprisingly as a young Highlander compelled to move to the city of Glasgow for work one of the main themes in this genre is exile With the onset of the Great War in 1914 however he found his true poetic voice The devastating loss of his son in France and three visits to the front line as war correspondent galvanised him to write a sequence of sixteen well crafted poems which he called Bagpipe Ballads Many of these bring home to us the grim sadness of war and ensure Munro's place with the other notable Scottish war poets of the period Bob Preston is to be congratulated for bringing together for the first time all of Neil Munro's known verses for assembling them in chronological order of publication and for providing extensive notes which include the publishing history of each poem Glendalloch, and other poems, by the late Dr. Drennan. With additional verses by his sons William Drennan, 1859 Glen Desseray and Other Poems Francis Turner Palgrave, John Campbell Shairp, 2018-04-19 The Glenaloon and Other Poems Francis Alexander Durivage, 2012-01 Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts 1 We have not used OCR Optical Character Recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos 2 In books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact Although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy DONEGAL MEMORIES & OTHER POEMS James Nichol 1831-1918 Johnston, 2016-08-25 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Irish Odes and Other Poems Aubrey De Vere, 2015-12-05 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United
