Searching Image in Carrion Crows Harvey Croze, 1970 Growing Points Ethology P. P. G. Bateson, R. A. Hinde, 1976-10-07 First published in 1976 this volume is a collection of essays by some of the most prominent and active ethologists It is organized into four sections motivation and perception function and evolution development and human social relationships The first three sections reflect the four questions which are basic to ethology what were the immediate causes of a behaviour pattern what is its biological function how did it evolve and how did it develop in the individual The last section involves questions of all four types The sections are introduced and linked by editorials and the book concludes with an important statement on asking the right questions The essays are forward looking and identify areas of importance for the study of behaviour The volume is a source of formative ideas for students their teachers and research workers in a wide variety of disciplines in the biological psychological and social sciences Searching Image in Carrion Crows Beat Tschanz, Hans Hinrich Sambraus, Harvey Croze, O. Anne E. Rasa, Robert H. Horwich, 1953 Wildlife Abstracts U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 1954 Concealing Coloration in Animals Judy Diamond, 2013-04-09 Color can attract mates intimidate enemies and distract predators But it can also conceal animals from detection It is an adaptation to the visual features of the environment but also to the perceptual and cognitive capabilities of other organisms Judy Diamond and Alan Bond reveal factors at work in the evolution of concealing coloration Functional and causal aspects of nest distribution in colonies of the sandwich tern (Sterna s. sandv.) Veen, 2024-02-26 Wildlife Review, 1970 The Flexible Phenotype Theunis Piersma, Jan A. van Gils, 2011 In essence the authors argue for the existence of direct measurable links between phenotype and ecology Home Ranges of Animals Roger A. Powell, 2025-10-21 Animals have tremendous agency to understand the world around them and to plan how to take best advantage of that world to meet their requirements Their perception of the world differs from humans and includes knowledge emphasizing different senses This book argues that to understand animals home ranges which are integral to the behavior and ecology of animals biologists must understand their cognition of their environments Presenting diverse complementary approaches to studying home ranges this book shows how using multiple approaches sheds a broad light on how and why animals behave as they do The book also provides many examples showing how hypothesis driven research provides strong insights into animal behavior and ecology The Ethology of Predation E. Curio, 2012-12-06 Predation is an ecological factor of almost universal importance for the biologist who aims at an understanding of the habits and structures of animals Despite its pervasive nature opinions differ as to what predation really is So far it has been defined only in negative terms it is thought not to be parasitism the other great process by which one organism harms another nor filter feeding carrion eating or browsing Accordingly one could define predation as a process by which an animal spends some effort to locate a live prey and in addition spends another effort to mutilate or kill it According to this usage of the word a nudibranch for example that feeds on hydroids would be a predator inasmuch as it needs some time to locate colonies of its prey which after being located scarcely demand more than eating which differs little from browsing From the definition just proposed consumption of the prey following its capture has been intentionally omitted Indeed an animal may be disposed of without being eaten Hence the biological significance of predation may be more than to maintain nutritional homeostasis In fact predation may have something in common with the more direct forms of competition a facet that will be only cursorily touched upon in this book Avian Biology Donald Farner, 2012-12-02 Avian Biology Volume VIII assesses selected aspects of avian biology It is generally the conceptual descendant of Marshall's earlier treatise Biology and Comparative Physiology of Birds but is more than simply a revision of it This volume consists of two relatively lengthy diverse chapters that focus on adaptive significance of coloniality in birds and fossil records of birds In particular this volume looks into group phenomena related to central place systems that is systems in which one or more individuals move to and from a centrally located place in the course of daily activities It also addresses selective factors that have been suggested to explain why individuals should form colonies rather than disperse within the available foraging space This book will be useful as a reference material for advanced students and instructors in this field of interest Searching Image in Carrion Crows Harvey Croze, 1970 Living in Groups Jens Krause, Graeme D. Ruxton, 2002-10-10 Shoals swarms flocks herds group formation is a widespread phenomenon in animal populations It raises several interesting questions for behavioral ecologists Why do animals form and live in groups and what factors influence the ways in which they do this What are the costs and benefits to an animal of group living How are these influenced by ecological factors The authors familiarize the reader with cutting edge ideas on the ecology and evolution of group living animals and detail fascinating case studies demonstrating them in action Advances in the Study of Behavior, 1979-03-26 Advances in the Study of Behavior Library of Congress Catalog Library of Congress, 1972 Beginning with 1953 entries for Motion pictures and filmstrips Music and phonorecords form separate parts of the Library of Congress catalogue Entries for Maps and atlases were issued separately 1953 1955 General Technical Report PSW., 1978 Ecology and Conservation of the Marbled Murrelet, 1995 Ecology and Conservation of the Marbled Murrelet C. John Ralph, 1997-04 This report was compiled describes past potential effects of humans on the species habitats Future research needs possible management strategies for both marine forest habitats are suggested Charts tables A Dictionary of Animal Behaviour David McFarland, 2006 Behaviour, 1978
