Time and Ritual in Early China Thomas O. Höllmann, 2009 This is the publication of proceedings from the conference Writing Ritual and Cultural Memory in Early States which took place in Munich in November 2007 It is dedicated to the German Sinologist Herbert Franke on the occasion of his 95th birthday on September 27th of 2009 The papers contained in this book examine ways in which time and ritual mutually stimulated each other in Early China Attention is also paid to the role played by writing in encoding the calendar system and in the notation of time and how time and history were linked Most authors make use of archaeologically excavated inscriptions and try to coordinate them with received texts of Confucian classics Their philological and historical examinations lead to in depth views of the cultural complexity of early Chinese civilization as well as its non linear development Questions raised provide new perspectives and stimuli for future studies

The Churchman, 1900 The Days of Wee Willie, Old Cy and Baseball War Chuck Kimberly, 2014-10-09 This account of the four baseball seasons of 1900 through 1903 seeks to capture the flavor of the period by providing yearly overviews from the standpoint of each team and by focusing more deeply on 30 or more players of the era not only such legendary stars as Cy Young and Willie Keeler but also relative unknowns such as Bill Keister and Kip Selbach Each team section is supplemented by a table providing the significant batting and pitching statistics for each regular team member The major theme of the period was the baseball war between the National and American leagues from 1900 to 1903 But the broad multi season multi team view allows varying the focus The pennant races receive due attention but there are other aspects of the baseball drama such as the aging star who finds a way to extend his period of dominance Cy Young the young unpolished phenom whose raw talent enables him to excel Christy Mathewson and the fierce competitor who risks injury to help his team Joe McGinnity or Deacon Phillippe Women and Development in the Third World Janet

Momsen, 2008-02-21 For all societies the common denominator of gender is female subordination For women of the Third World the effects of this position are worsened by economic crisis the legacy of colonialism as well as patriarchal attitudes and economic crises Feminist critique has introduced the gender factor to development theory arguing that the equal distribution of the benefits of economic development can only be achieved through a radical restructuring of the process of development This important new book reviews both policy and practice in Latin America Africa and Asia and raises thought provoking questions concerning the role of development planning and the empowerment of women Congress of Arts and Science: History of politics and economics.
