Seasons Of The Navajo:

Seasons of the Navajo , The Navajo Year, Walk Through Many Seasons Bo Flood, 2006 For the Navajo people the new year begins in October when summer meets winter The Navajo Year Walk Through Many Seasons follows the Navajo calendar and provides poetic descriptions of the many sights sounds and activities associated with each month In November there are string games and stories in April planting of corn beans and squash and in July rodeos and monsoon rains Follow Coyote through the year and explore how the Navajos observe the rites and passages of each month Crow Man's People Nigel Pride, 1985-01-01 Media Log , 1986 Federal Register , 2013-08 On The Margins Of Art Worlds Larry Gross, 2019-06-04 During the late 1980s the near worship of artistic genius produced auction sales of works by Vincent Van Gogh and Pablo Picasso for tens of millions of dollars over 15 million for a painting by Jasper Johns and record prices for works by many other deceased and even living masters At the same time it was no longer controversial in academic and intellectual circles to maintain that art works are the products of what Howard Becker has termed collective activity carried out within loosely defined art worlds Works of art from this point of view are not the products of individual makers artists who possess a rare and special gift They are rather joint products of all the people who cooperate via an art world s characteristic conventions to bring works like that into existence Artists are some sub group of the world s participants who by common agreement possess a special gift therefore make a unique and indispensable contribution to the work and thereby make it art 1982 35 The concept of the art world with its central focus on the collective social and conventional nature of artistic production distribution and appreciation confronts and potentially undermines the romantic ideology of art and artists still dominant in Western societies Navajo Tribal Council Resolutions Navajo Tribal Council, 1953 The Power of Stars Bryan E. Penprase, 2017-05-05 Completely revised and updated this new edition provides a readable beautifully illustrated journey through world cultures and the vibrant array of sky mythology creation stories models of the universe temples and skyscrapers that each culture has created to celebrate and respond to the power of the night sky Sections on the archaeoastronomy of South Asia and South East Asia have been expanded with original photography and new research on temple alignments in Southern India and new material describing the astronomical practices of Indonesia Malaysia and other Southeast Asian countries Beautiful photographs of temples in India and Asia have been added as well as new diagrams explaining the alignment of these structures and the astronomical underpinnings of temples within the Pallava and Chola cultures From new fieldwork in the Four Corners region of North America Dr Penprase has included accounts of Pueblo skywatching and photographs of ceremonial kivas that help elucidate the rich astronomical knowledge of the Pueblo people The popular Archaeoastronomy of Skyscrapers section of the book has been updated as well with new interpretations of skyscrapers in Indonesia Taiwan and China With the rapid pace of discovery in astronomy and astrophysics entirely new perspectives are emerging about dark matter inflation and the future of the universe The Power of Stars puts these discoveries in context and describes how they fit into the modern perspective of cosmology which has arisen from the universal human response to the sky that has inspired both ancient and modern cultures

Indigenous Aesthetics Steven Leuthold,1998 What happens when a Native or indigenous person turns a video camera on his or her own culture Are the resulting images different from what a Westernized filmmaker would create and if so in what ways How does the use of a non Native art making medium specifically video or film affect the aesthetics of the Native culture These are some of the questions that underlie this rich study of Native American aesthetics art media and identity Steven Leuthold opens with a theoretically informed discussion of the core concepts of aesthetics and indigenous culture and then turns to detailed examination of the work of American Indian documentary filmmakers including George Burdeau and Victor Masayesva Jr He shows how Native filmmaking incorporates traditional concepts such as the connection to place to the sacred and to the cycles of nature While these concepts now find expression through Westernized media they also maintain continuity with earlier aesthetic productions In this way Native filmmaking serves to create and preserve a sense of identity for indigenous people

Apachean Culture History and Ethnology Keith H. Basso,Morris E. Opler,1971-08-01 This volume grew out of a symposium held at the Annual Meeting of the American Anthropological Association in November 1969 at New Orleans Louisiana The Apachean Symposium was designed to provide an opportunity for scholars engaged in research on southern Athapaskan cultures to report upon their findings and wherever possible to link them to known fact and existing theory The diverse work presented here will add significantly to the knowledge about Apachean cultures and each of contributions also pertains directly to wider spheres of anthropological concern

Indian-Made Erika Bsumek,2008-10-03 In works of silver and wool the Navajos have established a unique brand of American craft And when their artisans were integrated into the American economy during the late nineteenth century they became part of a complex cultural and economic framework in which their handmade crafts conveyed meanings beyond simple adornment As Anglo tourists discovered these crafts the Navajo weavings and jewelry gained appeal from the romanticized notion that their producers were part of a primitive group whose traditions were destined to vanish Erika Bsumek now explores the complex links between Indian identity and the emergence of tourism in the Southwest to reveal how production distribution and consumption became interdependent concepts shaped by the forces of consumerism race relations and federal policy Bsumek unravels the layers of meaning that surround the branding of Indian made When Navajo artisans produced their goods collaborating traders tourist industry personnel and even ethnologists created a vision of Navajo culture that had little to do with Navajos themselves And as Anglos consumed Navajo crafts they also consumed the romantic notion of Navajos as primitives perpetuated by the marketplace These processes of production and consumption reinforced each other creating a symbiotic relationship and influencing both mutual Anglo Navajo perceptions and the ways in which Navajos participated in the modern marketplace Examining varied sites of production artisans workshops museums trading posts Bsumek shows how the market economy perpetuated Navaho stereotypes and cultural assumptions She takes readers into the hogans where men worked silver and women wove rugs and into the outlets where middlemen dictated what buyers wanted and where Navajos influenced inventory Exploring this process over seven decades she describes how artisans increasing use of modern tools created controversy about authenticity and how the meaning of the Indian made label was even challenged in court Ultimately Bsumek shows that the sale of Indian made goods cannot be explained solely through supply and demand It must also reckon with the multiple images and narratives that grew up around the goods themselves integrating consumer culture tourism and history to open new perspectives on our understanding of American Indian material culture
