Making Believe Philosophical Reflections On Fiction:

Making Believe C.G. Prado, 1984-05-23 The Oxford Handbook of Aesthetics Jerrold Levinson, 2005-01-27 The Oxford Handbook of Aesthetics has assembled 48 brand new essays making this a comprehensive guide available to the theory application history and future of the field Making Believe C.G. Prado, 1984-05-23 Fictional Worlds and Philosophical Reflection Garry Hagberg, 2022-01-31 This edited collection investigates the kinds of philosophical reflection we can undertake in the imaginative worlds of literature Opening with a look into the relations between philosophical thought and literary interpretation the volume proceeds through absorbing discussions of the ways we can see life through the lens of literature the relations between philosophical saying and literary showing and some ways we can see the literary past philosophically and assess its significance for the present Taken as a whole the volume shows how imagined contexts can be a source of knowledge a source of conceptual clarification and a source of insight and understanding And because philosophical thinking is undertaken after all in words a heightened sensitivity to the precise employments of our words particularly philosophically central words such as truth reality perception knowledge selfhood illusion understanding falsehood can bring a clarity and a refreshed sense of the life that our words take on in fully described contexts of usage And in these imagined contexts we can also see more acutely and deeply into the meaning of words about words metaphor and figurative tropes verbal coherence intelligibility implication sense and indeed the word meaning itself Moving from a philosophical issue into a literary world in which the central concepts of that issue are in play can thus enrich our comprehension of those concepts and in the strongest cases substantively change the way we see them With a combination of conceptual acuity and literary sensitivity this volume maps out some of the territory that philosophical reflection and literary engagement share Narrative Comprehension and Film Edward Branigan, 2013-06-17 Narrative is one of the ways we organise and understand the world It is found everywhere not only in films and books but also in everyday conversations and in the nonfictional discourses of journalists historians educators psychologists attorneys and many others Edward Branigan presents a telling exploration of the basic concepts of narrative theory and its relation to film and literary analysis bringing together theories from linguistics and cognitive science and applying them to the screen Individual analyses of classical narratives form the basis of a complex study of every aspect of filmic fiction exploring for example subjectivity in Lady in the Lake multiplicity in Letter from an Unknown Woman post modernism and documentary in Sans Soleil Literary Philosophers Jorge J. E. Gracia (ed), Carolyn Korsmeyer, Rodolphe Gasché, 2002 First published in 2002 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informal company The Opacity of Narrative Peter Lamarque, 2014-03-25 What is narrative What is distinctive about the great literary narratives In virtue of what is a narrative fictional or non fictional In this important new book Peter Lamarque one of the leading philosophers of literature at work today explores these and related questions to bring new clarity and insight to debates about narrative in philosophy critical theory and narratology He highlights opacity as a feature of literary narratives and examines the implications for our understanding of fictional worlds and fictional characters Throughout he challenges received views about narrative questioning the indispensability of narrative in an individual's self-conception and the importance of both truth and emotion as measures of literary greatness He reflects on the non-fiction novel arguing that it does not weaken the distinction between fiction and non-fiction The book offers a compelling and original account of these and other issues making a critical contribution to topical and wide-ranging debates

Recent Theories of Narrative Wallace Martin, 1986

Coping with Choices to Die C. G. Prado, 2010-11-01 This book examines the reactions of the friends and family of those who elect to die due to terminal illness These surviving spouses partners relatives and friends in addition to coping with the death of a loved one must also deal with the loved one's decision to die thus severing the relationship C G Prado examines how reactions to elective death are influenced by cultural influences and beliefs particularly those related to life death and the possibility of an afterlife Understanding the role of these cultural influences on the grieving processes of survivors is a crucial step in allowing them to accept both intellectually and emotionally the finality of elective death and to deal with the decision of their loved one

Starting With Foucault C. G. Prado, 2018-03-05 Michel Foucault had a great influence upon a wide range of disciplines and his work has been widely interpreted and is frequently referred to but it is often difficult for beginners to find their way into the complexities of his thought This is especially true for readers whose background is Anglo American or analytic philosophy C G Prado argues in this updated introduction that the time is overdue for Anglo American philosophers to avail themselves of what Foucault offers In this clear and greatly revised second edition Prado focuses on Foucault's middle or genealogical work particularly Discipline and Punish and Volume One of The History of Sexuality in which Foucault most clearly comes to grips with the historicization of truth and knowledge and the formation of subjectivity Understanding Foucault's thought on these difficult subjects requires working through much complexity and ambiguity and Prado's direct and accessible introduction is the ideal place to start

A Reference Guide for English Studies Michael J. Marcuse, 2023-11-15

Between Literature and Science Peter Swirski, 2000 In Between Literature and Science Peter Swirski examines the true intellectual scope of Edgar Allan Poe and Stanislaw Lem Using a genuinely interdisciplinary approach he shows that they propose far-reaching hypotheses in aesthetics epistemology cognitive science philosophy of science literary studies and pragmatics as well as in cosmology artificial intelligence and futurology Swirski argues that previous studies of their science fiction works in neglecting these broader philosophical and scientific ambitions have misrepresented Poe and Lem's artistic achievements

Verbal Art Anders Pettersson, 2000 Anders Pettersson presents a comprehensive account of the foundations of literature grounded in an original analysis of the interactions between author and reader Drawing on post-Gricean pragmatics and Nicholas Wolterstorff's notion of presentationality Pettersson develops the idea of the verbal text and conveys an integrated and nuanced understanding of literary experience its conditions and the values it affords In the second part of Verbal Art he systematically examines the cognitive affective and formal aspects of the literary work and explores their interrelations Pettersson demonstrates the implications and applications of the theory through a series of detailed studies of literary works taking care to show that his theory is compatible with a broad variety of perspectives Combining an intimate knowledge of modern literary theory and the aesthetics of literature with innovative applications of linguistics and cognitive psychology to the literary work he provides a thorough treatment of fundamental problems in the area including the concept of a text or work the concept of form and the distinctiveness of the literary use of language The Philosophy of Literature Peter Lamarque, 2008-08-11 By exploring central issues in the philosophy of literature illustrated by a wide range of novels poems and plays Philosophy of Literature gets to the heart of why literature matters to us and sheds new light on the nature and interpretation of literary works Provides a comprehensive study along with original insights into the philosophy of literature Develops a unique point of view from one of the field's leading exponents Offers examples of key issues using excerpts from well known novels poems and plays from different historical periods Imagining Irreality Nicholas Rescher, 2003 Nicholas Rescher surveys and analyzes the different kinds of unreal possibilities and nonexistent objects tying together all the diverse ways in which this area has been approached by philosophers As he surveys the field and clarifies the kinds of unreality he also makes a sustained argument against the philosophical fashion for dealing with nonexistent possible world as though they were authentic objects The author holds that while we may discuss possibilities we ought not to accord them ontological status The possibility of existence of a certain sort of world is not the existence of possible world of a certain sort While we may reasonably discuss possibilities at the generic level such as a world where dogs have horns this does not require a commitment to a possible world where they do The work that theorists of logic and language want to accomplish with possible worlds and individuals can be managed with propositional manifolds stories or scenarios while the modalities of necessity and possibility that modal logicians want to analyze in terms of realization in possible worlds can be handled by turning instead to figuring in stories or scenarios The Fictive and the Imaginary Wolfgang Iser, 1993-03-01 The pioneer of literary anthropology Wolfgang Iser presents a wide ranging and comprehensive exploration of this new field in an attempt to explain the human need for the particular form of make believe known as literature Ranging from the Renaissance pastoral to Coleridge to Sartre and Beckett The Fictive and the Imaginary is a distinguished work of scholarship from one of Europe's most respected and influential critics Paradoxes of Emotion and Fiction Robert J. Yanal, 1999-10-15 How can we experience real emotions when viewing a movie or reading a novel or watching a play when we know the characters whose actions have this effect on us do not exist This is a conundrum that has puzzled philosophers for a long time and in this book Robert Yanal both canvasses previously proposed solutions to it and offers one of his own First formulated by Samuel Johnson the paradox received its most famous answer from Samuel Taylor Coleridge who advised his readers to engage in a willing suspension of disbelief More recently philosophers have argued that we are irrational in emoting toward fiction or that we do not emote toward fiction but rather toward factual counterparts or that we do not have real but only quasi emotion toward fiction generated by our playing games of make believe All of these proposed solutions are critically reviewed Finding these answers unsatisfactory Yanal offers an alternative providing a new version of what has been dubbed thought theory On this theory mere thoughts not believed true are seen as the functional equivalent of belief at least insofar as stimulating emotion is concerned The emoter's disbelief in the actuality of components of the thoughts must be rendered relatively inactive Such emotion is real and typically has the character of being richly generated yet unconsummated The book extends this theory also to resolving other paradoxes arising from emotional response to fiction how we feel suspense over what comes next in a story even when we are re reading it for a second or third time and how we take pleasure in narratives such as tragedy that excite unpleasant emotions such as fear pity or horror Creating States Angela Esterhammer,1994-12-15 Although the concept of the performative has influenced literary theory in numerous ways this book represents one of the first full length studies of performative language in literary texts Creating States examines the visionary poetry of John Milton and William Blake using a critical approach based on principles of speech act theory as articulated by J L Austin John Searle and Emile Benveniste Angela Esterhammer proposes a new way of understanding the relationship between these two poets while at the same time evaluating the role of speech act philosophy in the reading of visionary poetry and Romantic literature Esterhammer distinguishes between the sociopolitical performative the speech act which is defined by a societal context and derives power from institutional authority and the phenomenological performative language which is invested with the power to posit or create because of the individual will and consciousness of the speaker Analysing texts such as The Reason of Church Government Paradise Lost The Marriage of Heaven and Hell and Jerusalem Esterhammer traces the parallel evolution of Milton and Blake from writers of political and anti prelatical tracts to poets who having failed in their attempts to alter historical circumstances through a direct address to their contemporaries reaffirm their faith in individual visionary consciousness and the creative word while continuing to use the forms of a socially or politically performative language Philosophy Examined Nicholas Rescher,2021-10-25 The book presents a detailed examination of many key aspects of philosophizing ranging from the mission of philosophy its method its dialectic and its epistemology It conveys to the reader student and scholar alike a clear account of the aspirations and potential of the discipline Readers will come away with a clearer understanding of the promise and challenges of philosophizing Ethics and Aging James E. Thornton,Earl R. Winkler,2011-11-01 This book is an important and timely look at issues of ethics in aging It reflects the complexity of these questions but develops them in relation to a single general theme that of the involvement of the elderly in the design of social policy and the research which affects them Moral problems involving the elderly are many faceted Accurate understanding and social response demand some integration of experience sensibility and knowledge provided by different perspectives Ethics and Aging incorporates viewpoints from gerontology philosophy law

theology sociology psychology medicine nursing and economics
