Making Music:

Making Music for Life Gayla M. Mills, 2019-08-14 Making Music for Life is the adult novice's friend. First it cheerleads for music's salutary benefits to the music maker's soul. Then it becomes a useful how-to handbook finding a teacher and learning how to practice once you have one. How do you hook up with like-minded enthusiasts and what are all the ways you can learn to make music together? How about performing for others? And maybe you will end up teaching others yourself. This useful book is a doorway into the endless joys of making music for everyone at any age. Bernard Holland, Music critic emeritus, The New York Times and author of Something I Heard. Do you hope to expand your musical circle? Need inspiration and practical ideas for overcoming setbacks? Love music and seek new ways to enjoy it? Roots musician Gayla M. Mills will help you take your next step whether you play jazz, roots, classical, or rock. You'll become a better musician learning the best ways to practice, improve your singing, enjoy playing with others, get gigs, and record, and bring more music to your community. Most importantly, you'll discover how music can help you live and age well. A keen road map that supports musicians and the expansion of their craft. Gayla's done the work. All you have to do is step on the path and follow her lead. Greg Papania, music producer, mixer, composer.

Making Time for Making Music Amy Nathan, 2018 Are you a former music maker who yearns to return to music but aren't sure where to begin? Or are you a person who never played music as a child but you are now curious about trying? You're not alone. Many adults who used to play an instrument haven't touched it in years because either they can't find the time to practice, are afraid their skills are too rusty, or are unsure of what kind of group they could join. Others are afraid to sing or start playing an instrument because they received negative feedback from childhood experiences. Performing, practicing, and composing music may seem like unattainable goals with insurmountable obstacles for busy adults with non-musical careers. Making Time for Making Music can help adults find ways to make music part of their lives. The first book of its kind, it is filled with real-life success stories from more than 350 adults who manage to fit music making into their jam-packed schedules. They polished rusty skills, found musical groups to join, and are having a great time. Their testimonies prove that you are never too old to learn to make music and that there are numerous musical paths to explore. Featuring advice from dozens of music educators, health-care professionals, and music researchers who point out that making music can even be good for your health, as well as an extensive resource list of websites, organizations, and summer programs, this book offers inspiration and tried-and-true strategies for anyone who wishes to return to music making or begin as an adult.
