Making Of Little Punjab In Canada Patterns Of Immigration:

The Making of Little Punjab in Canada Archana B Verma, 2002-08-13 Archana Verma's powerful and vivid narrative focuses on a specific community in a particular time frame namely the Punjabi diaspora in twentieth century Canada. The author concentrates on two localities: Paldi village in Punjab and the Punjabi settlement of Paldi in Vancouver Island, British Columbia. She traces the historical links and ethnic roots of these two village communities situated on opposite sides of the world. Dr Verma depicts rural peasant migration in terms of the creation of social spaces at home and overseas. The sub text of this book is a revealing inquiry into the dynamics of caste, family and kinship networks and the resulting reciprocal relations between the two communities.

The Making of the Mosaic Ninette Kelley, M. Trebilcock, 2010-10-02 Immigration policy is a subject of intense political and public debate. In this second edition of the widely recognized and authoritative work The Making of the Mosaic, Ninette Kelley and Michael Trebilcock have thoroughly revised and updated their examination of the ideas, interests, institutions and rhetoric that have shaped Canada's immigration history. Beginning their study in the pre Confederation period, the authors interpret major episodes in the evolution of Canadian immigration policy, including the massive deportations of the First World War and Depression eras as well as the Japanese Canadian internment camps during World War Two. New chapters provide perspective on immigration in a post 9/11 world where security concerns and a demand for temporary foreign workers play a defining role in immigration policy reform. A comprehensive and important work, The Making of the Mosaic clarifies the attitudes underlying each phase and juncture of immigration history, providing vital perspective on the central issues of immigration policy that continue to confront us today.

The Ashgate Research Companion to Modern Imperial Histories

John Marriott, 2016-03-23 Written by leading scholars this collection provides a comprehensive and authoritative overview of modern empires. Spanning the era of modern imperial history from the early sixteenth century to the present, it challenges both the rather insular focuses on specific experiences and gives due attention to imperial formations outside the West, including the Russian, Japanese, Mughal, Ottoman, and Chinese. The companion is divided into three broad sections. Part I, Times, surveys the three main eras of modern imperialism. The first was that dominated by the settlement impulse, with migrants many voluntarily and many more by force, making new lives in the colonies. This impulse gave way, most especially in the nineteenth century, to a period of busy and rapid expansion, which was less likely to promote new settlement and in which colonists more frequently saw their sojourn in colonial lands as temporary and related to the business, mostly of governance and trade. Lastly, in the twentieth century, in particular, empires began to fail and to fall. Part II, Spaces, studies the principal imperial formations of the modern world. Each chapter charts the experience of a specific empire while, at the same time, placing it within the complex patterns of wider imperial constellations. The individual chapters thus survey the broad dynamics of change within the empires themselves and their relationships with other imperial formations and reflect critically on the ways in which these topics have been approached in the literature. In Part III, Themes, scholars think critically about some of the key features of imperial expansion and decline. These chapters are brief and many are provocative. They reflect the current state of the field and suggest new lines of inquiry which may follow from more comparative perspectives on empire. The broad range of themes captures the vitality and diversity of contemporary scholarship on questions of empire and colonialism, encompassing political, economic, and cultural processes central to the formation and maintenance of empires, as well as institutions, ideologies, and social categories that shaped the lives both of those implementing and those experiencing the force of empire. In these pages, the reader will find the slave and the criminal, the merchant and the maid, the scientist and the artist, alongside the structures which sustained their lives and their livelihoods. Overall, the companion emphasises the diversity of imperial experience and process. Comprehensive in its scope, it draws attention to the particularities of individual empires rather than over-generalising as if all empires at all times and in all places behaved in a similar manner. It is this contingent and historical specificity that enables us to explore, in expansive ways, precisely what constituted the modern empire.

The Oxford Handbook of Sikh Studies Pashaura Singh, Louis E. Fenech, 2014-03-27 The Oxford Handbook of Sikh Studies innovatively combines the ways in which scholars from fields as diverse as philosophy, psychology, religious studies, literary studies, history, sociology, anthropology, political science, and economics have integrated the study of Sikhism within a wide range of critical and postcolonial perspectives on the nature of religion, violence, gender, ethno-nationalism, and revisionist historiography. A number of essays within this collection also provide a more practical dimension, written by artists and practitioners of the tradition. The handbook is divided into eight thematic sections that explore different expressions of Sikhism. Historical, literary, ideological, institutional, and artistic expressions are considered in turn followed by discussion of Sikhs in the Diaspora and of caste and gender in the Panth Each section begins with an essay by a prominent scholar in the field providing an overview of the topic Further essays provide detail and further treat the fluid multivocal nature of both the Sikh past and the present The handbook concludes with a section considering future directions in Sikh Studies Canadian Liberalism and the Politics of Border Control, 1867-1967 Christopher G.

Anderson,2012-11-17 Since 9 11 Canada s reputation as an inclusive country that takes in immigrants and refugees has been clouded by restrictive immigration policies increased interdiction and the detention of asylum seekers Moreover public debate over the arrival of non citizens especially those seeking entry through unofficial channels is now often framed within a security discourse that is used to justify a more restrictive approach These developments are not surprising in the current context but as Anderson illustrates they are also nothing new Canadian Liberalism and the Politics of Border Control sheds light on the long and complex history of Canada s efforts to control its borders Framing pivotal moments within a long standing but often overlooked debate over the rights of non citizens Anderson demonstrates that today s more restrictive approach reflects traditions deeply embedded within liberal democracies His insights into Canadian immigration and refugee history offer valuable lessons for understanding the nature of contemporary liberal democratic control policies

Routledge Handbook of Asian Diaspora and Development Ajaya K. Sahoo,2021-03-30 This handbook offers an analysis of Asian diaspora and development and explores the role that immigrants living within diasporic and transnational communities play in the development of their host countries and their homeland Bringing together an array of interdisciplinary scholars from across the world the handbook is divided into the following sections Development Potential of Asian Diasporas Diaspora Homeland and Development Gender Generation and Identities Soft Power Mobilization and Development Media Culture and Representations Presenting cutting edge research on several dimensions of diaspora and development Routledge Handbook of Asian Diaspora and Development provides a platform for further discussion in the fields of migration studies diaspora studies transnational studies race relations ethnic studies gender studies globalization Asian studies and research methods Religious Radicalization and Securitization in Canada and Beyond: Paul Bramadat,Lorne Dawson,2014-01-01 Religious Radicalization and Securitization in Canada and Beyond examines the challenges created by both religious radicalism and the state s and society s response to it From Policemen to Revolutionaries: A Sikh

Diaspora in Global Shanghai, 1885-1945 Yin Cao,2017-10-10 From Policemen to Revolutionaries uncovers the less known story of Sikh emigrants in Shanghai in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Yin Cao argues that the cross border circulation of personnel and knowledge across the British colonial and the Sikh diasporic networks facilitated the formation of the Sikh community in Shanghai eventually making this Chinese city one of the overseas hubs of the Indian nationalist struggle By adopting a translocal approach this study elaborates on how the flow of Sikh emigrants largely regarded as subalterns initially strengthened but eventually unhinged British colonial rule in East and Southeast Asia
