emerged as a dominant artistic feature of the avant garde this thesis will explore the ideological and perceptual implications of its advent in avant garde art and film The technological advances of the beginning of the twentieth century and particularly the advent of photography allowed avant garde artists to break free from traditional concepts of artistic production they dispensed with the old criteria of uniqueness originality handicraft and personal style At a time when many avant garde artists abruptly ceased to paint photomontage emerged as the privileged locus for a caesura with traditional art forms Photomontage envisioned film aesthetics insofar as it combines and juxtaposes images of various perspectival planes and angles Raoul Hausmann described his early photomontages as motionless moving pictures A corresponding observation can be made on the use of montage in cinema a technique which crucially underpins the illusion of movement created through the succession of photographic stills The present thesis will investigate photomontage and film in order to examine the effect technological reproduction played in revolutionising artistic production perception and ideology where the technique and philosophy of montage was key

Photography and Cinema David Company, 2008-11-15 This account of photography and cinema shows how the two media are not separate but in fact have influenced each other since their inception David Company explores photographers on screen photographic and filmic stillness photographs in film the influence of photography on cinema and the photographer as a filmmaker OCLC

Film in the Post-Media Age Ágnes Pethő, 2012-03-15 Ever since the centenary of cinema there have been intense discussions in the field of film studies about the imminent demise of the cinematic medium endless articles championing the spirit of genuine cinephilia have proclaimed the death of classical cinema and mourned the end of an era while new currents in media studies introduced such buzzwords into the discussions as remediation Bolter and Grusin media convergence Jenkins post media aesthetics Manovich or the virtual life of film Rodowick By the turn of the millennium the whole ecosystem of media had been radically altered through processes of hybridization and media convergence Some theorists even claim that now that the term medium has triumphed in the discussions around contemporary art and culture the actual media have already deceased as digitized imagery absorbs all media Moving images have entered the art galleries and new forms of inter art relationships have been forged They have also moved into the streets and our everyday life as a domesticated medium at everybody's reach into new private and public environments and into a fusion of both via the Internet Consequently should we speak of an all pervasive cinematic experience instead of a cinematic medium What really happens to film once its traditional medium has shape shifted into various digital forms and once its traditional locations institutions and usages have been uprooted What do these re locations and re configurations really entail What are the most important new genres in post media moving pictures Is it the web video is it 3D cinema is it the computer game that operates with moving image narratives is it the new vernacular database the DVD or the good old television adjusted to all these new forms How does theatrical cinema itself adapt to or reflect on these new image forms and technologies How can we interpret the convergence of older cinematic forms with an emerging digital aesthetics traceable in typical post media hosts of moving images These are only some of the major questions that the theoretical investigation and in depth analyses in this volume try to answer in an attempt at exploring not the disappearance of cinema but the blooming post media life of film The Cinematic David Campany,2007 This reader surveys the rich history of relationships between the moving and the still image in photography and film tracing their ever changing dialogue since early modernism Manifestations of the cinematic in photography and of the photographic in cinema have been a springboard for the work of some of the most influential contemporary artists BOOK JACKET Still Moving Karen Redrobe,Jean Ma,2008-09-17 A collection of essays that discuss the relationship of film and photography with a focus on medium specificity
