Mark's Gospel: An Actological Reading Malcolm Torry, 2022-05-19 This might look like an ordinary commentary on Mark's Gospel but it isn't one It understands reality as Action actions change diversity movement and the dynamic rather than as Being beings the unchanging the unitary rest and the static and it reads Mark's Gospel in the light of that distinctive understanding of reality It is all about action change and diversity and it understands God Jesus and ourselves as action change and diversity The initial chapter introduces the action based understanding of reality as action in changing patterns an actology rather than an ontology Then follows a section by section close study of the Gospel The result is a unique and somewhat unexpected reading of the text and a distinctive theology to match

The Rhyme and Reason of Politics in Early Modern Europe C.E. Harline, 2012-12-06 Herbert Rowen has always insisted that historians don't need biographers Outside a small circle of family friends and students what matters most is not the individual but his or her work Thus the main purpose of the present volume is to highlight Professor Rowen's contributions to the political history of early modern Europe Part I includes assessment of his work by others while Parts II V contain examples of his best articles papers and reviews some published here for the first time most previously hard to get These essays not only add substantively to our understanding of early modern politics but treat both implicitly and explicitly the historian's task per se Hence this is not biography much less innocuous laudation or hagiography which Herb would not forgive Yet it is only fitting that someone who lays so much stress on the human side of History should by way of introduction have something said about his person as well as his work
