Paul The Fool Of Christ A Study Of 1 Corinthians 1 4 In The Cosmic Philosophic Tradition:

The Paul-Apollos Relationship and Paul's Stance toward Greco-Roman Rhetoric Corin Mihaila, 2009-06-25

Research into the social and rhetorical background of the Corinthian church shows that the Corinthians were evaluating their leaders based on their rhetorical prowess seeking to associate with those who would enhance their status and honour. The coherence of Paul's argument in 1 Corinthians 1 4 is evaluated particularly by showing how Paul's discourse of the cross and Sophia relate to the issue of the dissensions in the Corinthian ekklesia. Once demonstrated that there is a misunderstanding of wisdom amongst church leaders at the basis of the dissensions, a redefinition of the wisdom offered in Corinthians is required. In what could be considered the locus of Paul's theology of proclamation i.e. 1 Corinthians 2 1 5, he rejects any employment of worldly wisdom in his proclamation of the cross for theological reasons and will not allow himself or other leaders to be drawn into this game of personality cult and honour enhancement. Such conclusions then raise the question of the role played by Apollos' name in Paul's argument against dissensions. After a review of several possible views, it is concluded, based primarily on exegetical grounds and refusing to engage in hermeneutical speculations, that Paul had a congenial relationship with Apollos. If any distinction is drawn between the two, it was solely the Corinthians' fault who viewed their preachers in competitive rather than complementary terms.

A Theological Introduction to Paul's Letters Yung Suk Kim, 2011-06-10. In this study, Kim explores a new way of reading Paul's letters and understanding his theology with a focus on three aspects of Paul's gospel: the righteousness of God, faith of Christ, and the body of Christ. Kim argues that Paul's thought can be best understood by reading these genitives as the subjective or attributive genitives rather than as the objective genitives. The subjective or attributive reading places an emphasis on the subject's participation in God's participatory righteousness, Christ's faithful obedience to God, and the believer's living of Christ's body. Using this approach, Kim investigates the root of Paul's theology in a wide array of texts and contexts in the Hebrew Bible, Second Temple Judaism, the Greco-Roman world, and Paul's canonical letters. In doing so, Kim synthesizes Paul's theology and ethics seamlessly, balancing the roles of God, Christ, and believers in Paul's gospel. Sacra Pagina: First Corinthians Raymond F. Collins, 2016-03-18. 2000 Catholic Press Association Award Winner. One of the most exciting of Paul's letters, 1 Corinthians offers a vantage point from which modern readers can reflect on diverseness in Christian Churches today. In First Corinthians, Raymond Collins explores that vantage point as well as the challenge Paul posed to the people of his time and continues to pose in ours to allow the gospel message to engage them in their daily lives. Paul introduces us to a flesh and blood community whose humanness was all too apparent. Sex, death, and money were among the issues they had to face. Social conflicts and tension within their Christian community were part of their daily lives. Paul uses all of his diplomacy, rhetorical skill, and authority to exhort the Corinthian community to be as one in Christ. In examining Paul's message and method, Collins approaches 1

Corinthians as a Hellenistic letter written to people dealing with real issues in the Hellenistic world He cites existing Hellenistic letters to show that Paul was truly a letter writer of his own times Collins makes frequent references to the writings of the philosophic moralists to help clarify the way in which Paul spoke to his beloved Corinthians He also comments on some aspects of the social circumstances in which the Christians of Corinth actually lived

Reimagining the Body of Christ in Paul's Letters Yung Suk Kim, 2019-05-08 This book questions all familiar readings of the body of Christ in Paul's letters and helps readers rethink the context and the purpose of this phrase Against the view that Paul's body of Christ metaphor mainly has to do with a metaphorical organism that emphasizes unity Kim argues that the body of Christ has more to do with the embodiment of God's gospel through Christ While Deutero Pauline and pastoral letters use this body metaphor mainly as an organism Paul's undisputed letters in particular 1 Corinthians and Romans treat it differently with a focus on Christlike embodiment Reexamining the diverse use of the body of Christ in Paul's undisputed letters this book argues that Paul's body of Christ metaphor has to do with the proclamation of God's gospel

Paul, the Fool of Christ L. L. Campbell, 2018-06-22 Core to Paul's gospel is the relationship between Israel and the Nations in light of the coming of Christ. But historic Christianity in claiming to be a new Israel and in not recognising the purpose of God in Christ for Jews and the nations has ignored its Jewish roots, the scriptures of Israel and the Jewishness of Jesus and the apostles, leaving a lacuna in its own identity which Campbell argues can only be overcome by a covenantal understanding of diversity in Christ. The denial of the covenant leads to a negation of God's revelation to Israel and leaves Christianity with a deficient self-understanding. Although covenant language is not prominent in Paul's letters, it remains the basis of his thought in differentiated ways concerning Israel and the nations. The covenant remains God's covenant with Israel. But through the covenant re-ratified in Christ, non-Jews, although not included in the covenant, participate through Christ in the Abrahamic promises. Hence participation language is prevalent in Paul's letters since these address non-Jews in Christ as representatives of the nations. Rather than being indifferent to difference, Paul's gospel is not anti-ethnic but is focused on the continuation of difference in Christ. God's purpose is designed to relate to differing peoples not in their becoming one and the same but in reciprocal blessing among those who remain different. The corollary of this respect for difference is the call for reconciliation as an essential part of following Christ, a fundamental element in Paul's gospel. God created a diverse world so that his people will find blessing in its rainbow diversity.
