Francophone Post-colonial Cultures Kamal Salhi, 2003-01-01 A collection of discussions of literary texts from areas as diverse as Europe and North Africa the Caribbean and South Asia regions of the world that seem to have only their language in common But despite enormous differences among all the countries where French is spoken Francophone literatures tend to deal with a similar spread of issues This volume positions the study of the Francophone world and its cultures as a comparative project in which post colonial Francophone cultures and the specific alterity of these cultures emerge as inextricable from and essential to an understanding of modern France The volume is organized by region with an international roster of contributions and includes summaries of selected creative and critical works and a guide to selected terms and figures

Race in France Herrick Chapman, Laura Levine Frader, 2004 Scholars across disciplines on both sides of the Atlantic have recently begun to open up as never before the scholarly study of race and racism in France These original essays bring together in one volume new work in history sociology anthropology political science and legal studies Each of the eleven articles presents fresh research on the tension between a republican tradition in France that has long denied the legitimacy of acknowledging racial difference and a lived reality in which racial prejudice shaped popular views about foreigners Jews immigrants and colonial people Several authors also examine efforts to combat racism since the

1970s Post-migratory Cultures in Postcolonial France Kathryn A. Kleppinger, Laura Reeck, 2018 Post Migratory Cultures in Postcolonial France offers a critical assessment of the ways in which French writers filmmakers musicians and other artists descended from immigrants from former colonial territories bring their specificity to bear on the bounds and applicability of French republicanism Frenchness and national identity and contemporary cultural production in France In mobilizing a range of approaches and methodologies pertinent to their specialist fields of inquiry contributors to this volume share in the common objective of elucidating the cultural productions of what we are calling post migratory second and third generation postcolonial minorities The volume provides a lens through which to query the dimensions of postcoloniality and transnationalism in relation to post migratory postcolonial minorities in France and identifies points of convergence and conversation among them in the range of their cultural production The cultural practitioners considered query traditional French high culture and its pathways and institutions some emerge as autodidacts introducing new forms of authorship and activism they inflect French cultural production with different accents some experimental and even avant garde in nature As the volume contributors show though post migratory postcolonial minorities sometimes express dis settlement they also provide an incisive view of social identities in France today and their own compelling visions for the future Colonial Culture in France since the Revolution Pascal Blanchard, Sandrine Lemaire, Nicolas Bancel, Dominic Thomas, 2013-12-02 This landmark collection by an international group of scholars and public intellectuals represents a major reassessment of French colonial culture and how it continues to inform thinking about history memory and identity This reexamination of French colonial culture provides the basis for a revised understanding of its cultural political and social legacy and its lasting impact on postcolonial immigration the treatment of ethnic minorities and national identity Post-migratory Cultures in Postcolonial France Kathryn A. Kleppinger, This volume offers a critical assessment of the ways in which French writers filmmakers musicians and other artists descended from immigrants from former colonial territories bring their specificity to bear on the bounds and applicability of French republicanism Frenchness and national identity and contemporary cultural production in France In mobilising a range of approaches and methodologies pertinent to their specialist fields of inquiry contributors share in the common objective of elucidating the cultural productions of what we are calling post migratory second and third generation postcolonial minorities It provides a lens through which to query the dimensions of postcoloniality and transnationalism in relation to post migratory postcolonial minorities in France and identifies points of convergence and conversation among them in the range of their cultural production Postcolonial France Paul Silverstein, 2018-05-20 France is a bellwether for the postcolonial anxieties and populist politics emerging across the world today This book explores the dynamics and dilemmas of the present moment of crisis and hope in France through an exploration of recent moral panics Taking stock of the tensions as they have emerged over the last quarter of a century Paul Silverstein looks at urban racial violence female Islamic dress and male public prayer anti system gangster rap and sporting performances in and around which debates over France's multicultural future have arisen. It traces these conflicts to the unresolved tensions of an imperial project the present day effects of which are still felt by many. Despite the barriers which include neo nationalist racism and Islamophobia French citizens of various backgrounds have found ways to build flourishing lives. Silverstein shows how they have responded to urban marginalisation police violence and institutional discrimination in remarkably creative ways.

Black France Dominic Thomas, 2007. Without a doubt one of the most important studies so far completed on literature in French grounded in the experiences of migrants of sub-Saharan African origin. Alec Hargreaves, Florida State University. France has always hosted a rich and vibrant black presence within its borders. But recent violent events have raised questions about France's treatment of ethnic minorities. Challenging the identity politics that have set immigrants against the mainstream, Black France explores how black expressive culture has been reformulated as global culture in the multicultural and multinational spaces of France. Thomas brings forward questions such as: Why is France a privileged site of civilization? Who is French? Who is an immigrant? Who controls the networks of production? Black France poses an urgently needed reassessment of the French colonial legacy.

Writing Postcolonial France Fiona Barclay, 2011-09-16. This book examines the way in which France has failed to come to terms with the end of its empire and is now haunted by the legacy of its colonial relationship with North Africa. It examines the form assumed by the ghosts of the past in fiction from a range of genres: travel writing, detective fiction, life writing, historical fiction, women's writing produced within metropolitan France and assesses whether moments of haunting may in fact open up possibilities for a renewed relational structure of cultural memory. By viewing metropolitan France through the prism of its relationship with its former colonies in North Africa, the book maps the complexities of contemporary France demonstrating an emerging postcoloniality within France itself.

Autobiography and Independence Debra Kelly, 2003-04-01. This book offers an in-depth study of the autobiographical writings of four twentieth-century writers from North Africa: Assia Djebar, Mouloud Feraoun, Abdelkader Khatibi and Albert Memmi as they explore issues of language, identity and the individual's relationship to history. The book places these writers in a clearly defined theoretical context, introducing and contextualising each of the four through the application of postcolonial studies and literary theory on autobiography linked to close textual reading of their works. Avoiding both psychoanalytical theory and approaches concerned primarily with the writer's testimony, value, Kelly concentrates instead on the poetic and literary qualities of each author's work, dwelling on the politics and poetics of identity as well as the ethics and aesthetics of this literature. She includes clear discussions of key terms such as postcolonial, Francophone and autobiography which current academic discourse has rendered very complex and even opaque. The book includes a fascinating photograph of two stone tablets inscribed with Punic and Numidian scripts now held in the British Museum which Assia Djebar writes about at length in one of the texts studied in the book.

Postcolonial Paris Laila Amine, 2018-06-12. Expanding the narrow script of what it means to be Parisian, Laila Amine explores the novels, films and street art made by Maghrebis Franco Arabs and African Americans including fiction by Charef Chra bi Sebbar Baldwin Smith and Wright and such films as La haine Made in France Chouchou and A Son Postcolonial Paradoxes in French

Caribbean Writing Jeannie Suk, 2001-05-17 This book is the first major study of French Caribbean literature in light of the concept of postcoloniality Postcolonial theory debates have developed in the anglophone domain and have not as yet referred prominently to francophone literature Jeannie Suk investigates how the literature of Martinique and Guadeloupe provides a kaleidoscopic view of the paradoxes at the heart of postcoloniality Through subtle and provocative readings of Aimé Césaire, Édouard Glissant, Maryse Condé, Baudelaire, Freud and others she illuminates how the development of French Caribbean literature and debates about négritude, antillanité and créolité contribute to theories of in-betweenness and incompleteness central to postcolonial modes In each chapter lively and detailed analyses of literary and critical texts reveal connections between key thematic, conceptual, rhetorical and psychic issues that form the interface of Caribbean and postcolonial concerns The first part paves theoretical ground focusing on readings of two seminal texts Césaire's Cahier d'un retour au pays natal and Glissant's Discours antillais the second part concentrates on Maryse Condé's exemplary work Lucidly articulating the overlap and interplay of the distance of oceanic crossing, the discontinuities of allegorical signification and the gap at the heart of trauma Suk probes the paradoxical dynamic of impossible yet inevitable returns in space-time and the psyche She shows how literal and metaphorical crossings both produce and impede history and representation The result is a new framework for understanding the intersection of postcolonial psychoanalytic, deconstructive and French Caribbean problems in a language attentive to improbable recurrences across theories and registers Postcolonial Paradoxes is a major contribution to criticism and theory of interest to scholars and students of postcolonialism Caribbean and African diaspora literature French literature and psychoanalysis Postcolonialism and Migration in French Comics Mark

McKinney, 2021-01-14 Profound analysis of French comics through a postcolonial lens Postcolonialism and migration are major themes in contemporary French comics and have roots in the Algerian War 1954-62, antiracist struggle and mass migration to France This volume studies comics from the end of the formal dismantling of French colonial empire in 1962 up to the present French cartoonists of ethnic minority and immigrant heritage are a major focus including Zeina Abirached (Lebanon), Yvan Alagb (Benin), Baru (Italy), Enki Bilal (former Yugoslavia), Farid Boudjellal (Algeria) and Armenia Jos Jover (Spain), Larbi Mechkour (Algeria) and Roland Monpierre (Guadeloupe) The author analyzes comics representing a gamut of perspectives on immigration and postcolonial ethnic minorities ranging from staunch defense to violent rejection Individual chapters are dedicated to specific artists, artistic collectives, comics or themes including avant-gardism, undocumented migrants in comics and racism in far-right comics Travel in Twentieth-Century French and Francophone Cultures Charles

Forsdick, 2005-05-19 This book is one of the first studies of twentieth-century travel literature in French, tracking the form from the colonial past to the postcolonial present Whereas most recent explorations of travel literature have addressed

English language material Forsdick's study complements these by presenting a body of material that has previously attracted little attention ranging from conventional travel writing to other cultural phenomena such as the Colonial Exposition of 1931 in which changing attitudes to travel are apparent Travel in Twentieth Century French and Francophone Cultures explores the evolution of attitudes to cultural diversity explaining how each generation seems simultaneously to foretell the collapse and reinvention of elsewhere It also follows the progressive renegotiation of understandings of travel and travel literature across the twentieth century focusing in particular on the emergence of travel narratives from France's former colonies The book suggests that an exclusive colonial understanding of travel as a practice defined along the lines of class gender and ethnicity has slowly been transformed so that travel has become an enabling figure encapsulated in notions such as James Clifford's traveling cultures central to analyses of contemporary global culture Engaging initially with Victor Segalen's early twentieth century reflection on travel and exoticism and Albert Kahn's Archives de la Plan te Forsdick goes on to examine a series of interrelated texts and phenomena early African travel narratives inter war ethnography post war accounts of Citro n 2CV journeys the travel stories of immigrant workers the work of Nicholas Bouvier and the Pour une litt rature voyageuse movement narratives of recent walking journeys and contemporary Polynesian literature In delineating a francophone space stretching far beyond metropolitan France itself the book contributes to new understandings of French and Francophone Studies and will also be of interest to those interested in issues of comparatism as well as colonial and postcolonial culture and identity

Postcolonial minorities in Britain and France Shailja Sharma,2016-11-26 This book compares the postcolonial populations of Britain and France examining the ways in which they are redefining citizenship Bearing in mind the different histories and political systems of each country it considers questions of national identity values the place of religion secularism and public spaces all integral to determining what makes a country a true nation Recent security threats have made the debate around minorities and assimilation all the more pressing and this book delves deep into the issues of feminism Islam and group identities It will be of interest to students and scholars of race religion and migration studies

France and "Indochina" Kathryn Robson,Jennifer Yee,2005-01-01 At the intersection of literary cultural and postcolonial studies this volume looks at French perceptions of Indochina as they are conveyed through a variety of media including cinema literature art and historical or anthropological writings The volume is long awaited as France's memory of Indochina is understudied compared to its relationship with its former colonies in West and North Africa The book has contemporary urgency as the makeup of France's immigrant population changes and grows to include Vietnamese Cambodian and Laotioan populations

France and Algeria Phillip Naylor,2024-06-11 An examination of the complicated history between France and Algeria since the latter's independence

Post-Migratory Cultures in Postcolonial France Kathryn A. Kleppinger,Laura Reeck,2018-08-08 Post Migratory Cultures in Postcolonial France offers a critical assessment of the ways in which French writers filmmakers musicians and other artists descended from immigrants from former colonial territories bring their specificity to bear on the bounds and applicability of French republicanism Frenchness and national identity and contemporary cultural production in France
