Post In Liverpool:

Willing's Press Guide and Advertisers' Directory and Handbook ,1904 Whatever happened to Tory Liverpool?
David Jeffery,2023-04-01 An Open Access edition of this book supported by the LUP OA author fund is available on the Liverpool University Press website the OAPEN library and our Digital Collaboration Hub Additional resources for this book are available on our Manifold site which can be accessed via <https://liverpooluniversitypress.manifoldapp.org/projects/whatever-happened-to-tory-liverpool> In the 1968 local elections the Liverpool Conservatives won 62 percent of the vote and 78 percent of the seats on Liverpool City Council By 1972 the party had held a majority on Liverpool s municipal government for 85 of the previous 100 years But in 1983 they lost their last two MPs and in 1998 they lost their final councillor The Conservatives have not won an electoral contest in the city since Whatever happened to Tory Liverpool Success decline and irrelevance since 1945 explores the history of Conservative electoral performance in Liverpool from the end of the Second World War to the present day and challenges a number of myths regarding the city s political history Conservative post war success was not due to sectarian tensions or false consciousness and neither was Conservative decline due to Margaret Thatcher The book takes a multi method approach to the study of Conservative Party history in Liverpool It proposes a tripartite framework which separates the periods of success 1945 1972 decline 1973 1986 and irrelevance 1987 onwards and argues that each period should be explained by recourse to different phenomena Only in this way can the complex post war history of the Conservative Party in Liverpool truly be understood The Literary Year-book ,1903 Calendar

Ward, Lock and co, ltd,1901 US Consular Representation in Britain since 1790 Nicholas M Keegan,2018-03-08 In its early years the United States Consular Service was a relatively amateurish organization often staffed by unsuitable characters whose appointments had been obtained as political favours from victorious presidential candidates a practice known as the Spoils System Most personnel changed every four years when new administrations came in This compared unfavourably with the consular services of the European nations but gradually by the turn of the twentieth century things had improved considerably appointment procedures were tightened up inspections of consuls and how they managed their consulates were introduced and the separate Consular Service and Diplomatic Service were merged to form the Foreign Service The first appointments to Britain were made in 1790 with James Maury becoming the first operational consul in the country at Liverpool At one point there was a network of up to ninety US consular offices throughout the UK stretching from the Orkney Islands to the Channel Islands Nowadays there is only the consular section in the embassy and the consulates general in Edinburgh and Belfast

Football's Great War Alexander Jackson, 2022-04-06 As modern football grapples with the implications of a global crisis this book looks at first in the game s history The First World War The game s structure and fabric faced existential challenges as fundamental questions were asked about its place and value in English society This study explores how conflict reshaped the People s Game on the English Home Front The wartime seasons saw football s entire commercial model challenged and questioned In 1915 the FA banned the payment of players reopening a decades old dispute between the game s early amateur values and its modern links to the world of capital and lucrative entertainment Wartime football forced supporters to consider whether the game should continue and if so in what form Using an array of previously unused sources and images this book explores how players administrators and fans grappled with these questions as daily life was continually reshaped by the demands of total war From grassroots to elite football players to spectators gambling to charity work this study examines the social economic and cultural impact of what became Football s Great War The London Gazette ,1916
