Postcards From Alphaville:

Postcards from Alphaville Raphael Rubinstein, 2000 Cinema is one of the recurring themes in Raphael Rubinstein's first collection of prose. Legendary French director Jean-Luc Godard and Jean Eustache are the subjects of diaristic sequences; another story delves into the suspicious career of an elusive leftist film maker. A cameo ponders why a wealthy Italian terrorist once posed for a photo with Alfred Hitchcock. Touching down in New York, Milan, Mexico City and the Balearic Islands, these lucid narratives explore private and public realms. The book culminates with a montagelike inventory of diverse objects seemingly chosen at random through which the author examines his own life and family history. The Radical Faces of Godard and Bertolucci Yosefa Loshitzky, 1995 From the radical 1960s through the neo-conservative 1980s and into the early 1990s, the provocative cinematic careers of French director Jean-Luc Godard and Italian director Bernardo Bertolucci have captured the imagination of filmgoers and critics alike. Although their films differ greatly, Godard produces highly cerebral and theoretical works while Bertolucci creates films with more spectacle and emotionalism. Their careers have sparked lively discussion and debate mostly centred around the notion of an Oedipal struggle between them. The Visual Turn Angela Dalle Vacche, 2003 This collection of essays demonstrates the usefulness of looking at cinema with the analytical methods provided by art theory. The Visual Turn is a dialogue between art historians and film theorists from the silent period to the aftermath of World War II. The Cinema Alone Michael Temple, James S. Williams, 2000 This volume of essays constitutes a comprehensive and interdisciplinary engagement with Jean-Luc Godard's current film and video work. Its key focus is the eight-part magnum opus Histoire(s) du cinéma 1988-1998, an extraordinary experiment in film history that attempts to tell all the stories of cinema whilst remaining true to the specificity of what the cinema alone contributed to twentieth-century culture. The Cinema Alone features contributors from France, Britain and America who discuss Godard's recent work both in the context of his earlier corpus and in relation to subjects such as literature, art history, philosophy, silent cinema, European culture, film theory, video and digital technology. The collection will make an important contribution to critical debates on the past, present and future of Film and Media Studies as cinema enters its second century.
