St. Paul among the Philosophers John D. Caputo, Linda Martín Alcoff, 2009-07-06 In his epistles St Paul sounded a universalism that has recently been taken up by secular philosophers who do not share his belief in Christ but who regard his project as centrally important for contemporary political life The Pauline project as they see it is the universality of truth the conviction that what is true is true for everyone and that the truth should be known by everyone In this volume eminent New Testament scholars historians and philosophers debate whether Paul's promise can be fulfilled Is the proper work of reading Paul to reconstruct what he said to his audiences Is it crucial to retrieve the sense of history from the text What are the philosophical undercurrents of Paul's message This scholarly dialogue ushers in a new generation of Pauline studies

Marion County in Vintage Postcards Billy Frank Morrison, 2005 Carved out of Native American land in 1817 Marion County Tennessee has maintained its primitive beauty The county grew with towns such as Monteagle Martin Springs Sequatchie and South Pittsburg springing up on the banks of the Tennessee River throughout the Sequatchie Valley and atop the Cumberland Mountains Today it is home to nearly 30 000 people In this pictorial history Marion County's colorful and fascinating past is illustrated through over 200 vintage postcards drawn from the author's personal collection This book was the culmination of a long standing interest in postcards and Marion County as well as a deep kinship with its people

Picturing the Postcard Monica Cure, 2018-12-18 The first full length study of a once revolutionary visual and linguistic medium Literature has died many times this book tells the story of its death by postcard Picturing the Postcard looks to this unlikely source to shed light on our collective modern day obsession with new media The postcard almost unimaginably now produced at the end of the nineteenth century the same anxieties and hopes that many people think are unique to twenty first century social media such as Facebook or Twitter It promised a newly connected social world accessible to all and threatened the breakdown of authentic social relations and even of language Arguing that new media is as much a discursive object as a material one and that it is always in dialogue with the media that came before it Monica Cure reconstructs the postcard's history through journals legal documents and sources from popular culture analyzing the postcard's representation in fiction by well known writers such as E M Forster and Edith Wharton and by more obscure writers like Anne Sedgwick and Herbert Flowerdew Writers deployed uproar over the new medium of the postcard by Anglo American cultural critics to mirror anxieties about the changing nature of the literary marketplace which included the new role of women in public life the appeal of celebrity and the loss of privacy an increasing dependence on new technologies and the rise of mass media Literature kept open the postcard's possibilities and in the process reimagined what literature could be Railroad

Postcards of Yellowstone Frank Ferris, 2015-10-12 The fastest way to travel long distances in the beginning of the 20th century was by railroad Railroad companies competed to attract business and vacationing travellers by advertising in brochures and issuing postcards The postcards included railroad logos and descriptions of Western adventures that travellers
