Postcolonial Urbanism Southeast Asian Cities And Global Processes:

Postcolonial Urbanism Ryan Bishop, John Phillips, Wei-Wei Yeo, 2003 First Published in 2003 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Postcolonial Urbanism Ryan Bishop, John Phillips, Wei Wei Yeo, 2013-01-11 A common assumption about cities throughout the world is that they are essentially an elaboration of the Euro American model Postcolonial Urbanism demonstrates the narrowness of this vision Cities in the postcolonial world the book shows are producing novel forms of urbanism not reducible to Western urbanism Despite being heavily colonized in the past Southeast Asia has been largely ignored in discussions about postcolonial theory and in general considerations of global urbanism An international cast of contributors focuses on the heavily urbanized world region of Southeast Asia to investigate the novel forms of urbanism germinating in postcolonial settings such as Indonesia Thailand Singapore Hanoi and the Philippines Offering a mix of theoretical perspectives and empirical accounts Postcolonial Urbanism presents a panoramic view of the cultures societies and politics of the postcolonial city Urban Cultures in (post)colonial Central Europe Agata Anna Lisiak, 2010 Agata Anna Lisiak shows in her book Urban Cultures in Post colonial Central Europe how the postcolonial idea developed recently to study Central and East European culture can help us see the transformations of cities in the region Lisiak argues that Berlin Budapest Warsaw and Prague are incubated cultures whose deepest forces were shadowy and ironic Marshall Berman City University of New York Transforming Asian Cities Nihal Perera, Wing-shing Tang, 2013 While there is no lack of studies on Asian cities the majority focus on financial districts poverty the slum tradition tourism and pollution and use the modern affluent and transforming Western city as the reference point This vast Asian empirical presence is not complemented by a theoretical presence academic discourses overlook common and basic urban processes particularly the production of space place and identity by ordinary citizens Switching the vantage point to Asian cities and citizens Transforming Asian Cities draws attention to how Asians produce their contemporary urban practices identities and spaces as part of resisting responding to and avoiding larger global and national processes Instead of viewing Asian cities in opposition to the Western city and using it as the norm this book instead opts to provincialize mainstream and traditional knowledge It argues that the vast terrain of ordinary actors and spaces which are currently left out should be reflected in academic debates and policy decisions and the local thinking processes that constitute these spaces need to be acknowledged enabled and critiqued The individual chapters illustrate that global spaces are more trans local traditional environments are more modern and Asian spaces are better defined than acknowledged The aim is to develop room for understandings of Asian cities from Asian standpoints especially acknowledging how Asians observe interpret understand and create space in their cities What Postcolonial Theory Doesn't Say Anna Bernard, Ziad Elmarsafy, Stuart Murray, 2015-08-11 This book reclaims postcolonial theory addressing persistent limitations in the geographical disciplinary and methodological assumptions of its dominant formations It emerges however from an investment in the future of postcolonial studies and a commitment to its basic premise namely that literature and culture are fundamental to the response to structures of colonial and imperial domination To a certain extent postcolonial theory is a victim of its own success not least because of the institutionalization of the insights that it has enabled Now that these insights no longer seem new it is hard to know what the field should address beyond its general commitments Yet the renewal of popular anti imperial energies across the globe provides an important opportunity to reassert the political and theoretical value of the postcolonial as a comparative interdisciplinary and oppositional paradigm This collection makes a claim for what postcolonial theory can say through the work of scholars articulating what it still cannot or will not say It explores ideas that a more aesthetically sophisticated postcolonial theory might be able to address focusing on questions of visibility performance and literariness Contributors highlight some of the shortcomings of current postcolonial theory in relation to contemporary political developments such as Zimbabwean land reform postcommunism and the economic rise of Asia Finally they address the disciplinary geographical and methodological exclusions from postcolonial studies through a detailed focus on new disciplinary directions management studies international relations disaster studies overlooked locations and perspectives Palestine Weimar Germany the commons and the necessity of materialist analysis for understanding both the contemporary world and world literary systems

Livability and Sustainability of Urbanism Bagoes Wiryomartono, 2019-07-09 This book is a fascinating wide reaching interdisciplinary examination of urbanism in the context of humanities and social sciences research comprising cutting edge theoretical and empirical investigations of urban livability and sustainability Urban livability is explored as a phenomenon of happenings that gather people things and domains in the specific spatiotemporal context of the city this context is the life world of urbanism Meanwhile sustainability is conceived of as the capacity of urbanism that enables people to cultivate their sociocultural and economic existence and development without the depletion of their current resources in the future In this study phenomenology is uniquely incorporated as a way of seeing things according to their presence in space and time

Relocating Global Cities M Mark Amen, M Martin Bosman, Kevin Archer, 2006-04-27 Drawing on eight case studies from key cities on the periphery of global cities literature Relocating Global Cities argues that all cities are globalizing in important ways Case studies of Frankfurt Johannesburg Bangkok Manila Tampa Sydney Brussels and Caracas provide the basis for an alternative theoretical approach to global city formation Reconciling a market based understanding and an agency based understanding of global cities this book proposes that globalization and cities are mutually constituted by the global political economy engaging with transnational and local agents The volume proposes an alternate theoretical approach to the literature of globalization while remaining grounded in concrete discussions of key cities Its expert contributors reconcile the conflicting ways in which two dominant paradigms one emphasizing market forces and the other the unique actions of individuals and groups embody our understanding of global cities This book will be of interest to students and researchers alike and is a perfect complement to texts in Urban Studies and Globalization

The City as Power Alexander C. Diener, Joshua Hagen, 2018-09-18 This interdisciplinary book considers national identity through the lens of urban spaces By bringing together scholars from a range of disciplines The City as Power provides broad comparative perspectives about the critical importance of urban landscapes as forums for creating maintaining and contesting identity and belonging Rather than serving as passive backdrops urban spaces and places are active mediums for defining categories of inclusion and exclusion With an international scope and ready appeal to visual learners the book offers a compelling survey of historical and contemporary efforts to enact state ideals express counter narratives and negotiate global trends in cities The contributors show how successive regimes reshape cityscapes to mirror their respective socio political agendas perspectives on history and assumptions of power Yet they must do so within the legal ethnic religious social economic and cultural geographies inherited from previous regimes Exploring the rich diversity of urban space place and national identity the book compares core elements of identity projects in a range of political cultural and socioeconomic settings By focusing on the built form and urban settings for social movements protest and even organized violence this timely book demonstrates that cities are not simply lived in but also lived through

Postcolonial Literature Pramod K. Nayar, 2008 Post-Conflict Heritage, Postcolonial Tourism Tim Winter, 2007-11-08

Angkor Cambodia's only World Heritage Site is enduring one of the most crucial turbulent periods in its twelve hundred year history. Given Cambodia's need to restore its shattered social and physical infrastructures after decades of violent conflict and with tourism to Angkor increasing by a staggering 10 000 per cent in just over a decade the site has become an intense focal point of competing agendas. Angkor's immense historical importance along with its global prestige has led to an unprecedented influx of aid with over twenty countries together donating millions of dollars for conservation and research. For the Royal Government however Angkor has become a cash cow of development. Post conflict Heritage Postcolonial Tourism critically examines this situation and locates Angkor within the broader contexts of post conflict reconstruction nation building and socio economic rehabilitation. Based on two years of fieldwork the book explores culture development the politics of space and the relationship between consumption memory and identity to reveal the aspirations and tensions anxieties and paradoxical agendas which form around a heritage tourism landscape in a post conflict postcolonial society. With the situation in Cambodia examined as a stark example of a phenomenon common to many countries attempting to recover after periods of war or political turmoil Post conflict Heritage Postcolonial Tourism will be of particular interest to students and scholars working in the fields of Asian studies tourism heritage development and cultural and postcolonial studies.

Theatre and Music in Manila and the Asia Pacific, 1869-1946 meLê yamomo, 2018-07-20 This book examines the intersection between sound and modernity in dramatic and musical performance in Manila and the Asia Pacific between 1869 and 1948. During this period tolerant political regimes resulted in the globalization of capitalist relations and the improvement of transcontinental travel and worldwide communication. This allowed modern modes of theatre and music consumption to instigate the uniformization of cultural products and processes while simultaneously fragmenting societies into distinct identities institutions and nascent nation states. Taking the performing bodies of migrant musicians as the locus of sound this book argues that the global movement of acoustic modernities was replicated and diversified through its multiple subjectivities within empire nation and individual agencies. It traces the arrival of European travelling music and theatre companies in Asia which re-casted listening into an act of modern cultural consumption and follows the migration of Manila musicians as they engaged in the modernization project of the neighboring Asian cities.

Travels in Paradox Claudio Minca, Tim Oakes, 2006-03-30 This innovative volume focuses on tourism through the twin lenses of cultural theory and cultural geography. Presenting a set of innovative case studies on tourist destinations around the world the contributors explore the paradoxes of the tourist experience and the implications of these paradoxes for our broader understanding of the problems of modernity and identity. The book examines how tourism reveals the paradoxical ways that places are both mobile and rooted real and fake inhabited by those who are simultaneously insiders and outsiders and both subjectively experienced and objectively viewed. The concepts of travel and mobility long have been used to explain modern identity and social behavior but this work pushes beyond the established literature by considering the ways that place and mobility are inherently related in unexpected even contradictory ways Travel the international cast of authors contends occurs in place rather than between places Thus instead of offering yet another interpretation of the ways modern societies are distinguished by their mobilities in contrast to the supposed place bound quality of traditional societies the chapters here collectively argue for an understanding of modern identity as simultaneously grounded and mobile This rich blend of empirical and theoretical analysis will be invaluable for cultural geographers anthropologists and sociologists of tourism

The Site of the Convent of the Holy Infant Jesus in Singapore Sandra Hudd, 2016-06-17 The Site of the Convent of the Holy Infant Jesus in Singapore Entwined Histories of a Colonial Convent and a Nation 1854 2015 explores key issues and developments in colonial and postcolonial Singapore by examining one particular site in central Singapore the former Convent of the Holy Infant Jesus established in 1854 and now a food and entertainment complex The Convent was an early provider of social services and girls education almost a mini city within walls including a thriving community of schools an orphanage and a women s refuge World War II and the Japanese occupation followed by the creation of the new Republic of Singapore presented a new set of challenges but it was the convent s size and prime location that made it attractive for urban redevelopment in the 1980s and led to government acquisition demolition of some buildings and the remainder put out to private tender The chapel and the former nuns residence are classified as National Monuments but in line with government policy of adaptive re use of heritage sites the complex now contains bars and restaurants and the deconsecrated chapel is used for wedding receptions and events Tracking the physical and usage changes of the site this book works to make sense of that eventful journey a paradoxical journey that moves only in time not in space and includes abandoned babies French nuns Japanese bombings and twenty first century dance parties In a society that has undergone massive change economically and socially and above all transitioned from a small colonial enterprise to a wealthy independent city state those physical changes and differing usages of the Convent site over the years track the changes in the nation The wider ongoing tensions between heritage conservation and the modern global city are explored by examining what has been chosen for preservation the quintessentially Singaporean hybridity of the commercial reuse of historic buildings as well as the nostalgia for what has been lost

Bangkok Bound Ellen Boccuzzi, 2012-12-01 With the acceleration of global migration literature by migrant writers has emerged as a powerful medium for describing the ways in which global forces are experienced at the personal level Migrant literature offers a compelling counter narrative to abstract visions of globalization grounding large scale processes in real life stories of individuals In Thailand migrant writers have documented the social and cultural impacts of fifty years of rural urban migration through hundreds of stories poems and novels Bangkok Bound is the first book to examine this body of literature and the messages that Thai migrant writers convey about their experiences These stories powerfully describe the ways in which migrants who leave their homes bound for Bangkok are quickly bound to Bangkok through the transformative force of modern city life And they show the ways in which those who remain behind in the village are transformed too as they struggle to maintain a rural way of life in a rapidly urbanizing world Bangkok Bound will be of interest to anyone working on migration or urbanization as well as to scholars of Thailand and Thai literature Specialists in migration will find it a welcome addition to the growing field of migration studies through examination of narrative fiction What others are saying This is an engaging and authoritative study of literary representations of migration from the provinces to Bangkok based on wide reading of short stories written over the last four decades and interviews with major writers and critics It will be of interest not only to students of literature but also to anyone interested in social change in Thailand in the late twentieth century and the way that it has been perceived and recorded by local writers David Smyth SOAS University of London Highlights Useful for an introductory course on Thai or Southeast Asian studies offers a springboard for conversations on development rural urban inequality migration and the impacts of rapid urbanization in Asia First book to examine the theme of migration in Thai literature a significant contemporary genre Contributes to the growing field of migration studies through examination of narrative fiction Provides a window into how migration and urbanization are experienced at the personal level of interest to migration scholars as well as scholars of Thailand Thai cultural studies and Thai literature
