Ethics and Critical Care Medicine J.C.

Moskop,L.M. Kopelman,2012-12-06 The expense of critical care and emergency medicine along with widespread expectations for good care when the need arises pose hard moral and political problems How should we spend our tax dollars and who should get help The purpose of this volume is to reflect upon our choices The authors whose papers appear herein identify major difficulties and offer various solutions to them Four topics are discussed throughout the volume First encounters between patients and health professionals in critical situations in general and where scarcity makes rationing necessary second allocation and social policy including how much to spend on preventive chronic or critical care medicine or for medicine in general compared to other important social projects third conflicts between or ranking of important goals and values and fourth conceptual issues affecting the choices we make Since these topics are raised by the authors in almost every essay we did not divide the papers into separate sections within the volume Warren Reich begins the volume with a parable illustrating a key problem for contemporary medicine and two very different approaches to its solution His story begins with the delivery of three indigent critically ill foreign patients to the emergency room of a large American private hospital Although the hospital is legally bound to care for these patients providing long term high cost care for them and others soon becomes a major financial strain

Surgical Intensive Care Medicine John Merrit O'Donnell, Flávio Eduardo Nácul, 2013-11-21 Surgical Intensive Care Medicine has been specifically designed to be a practical reference for medical students and house officers to help manage the critically ill surgical patient The first section is titled Resuscitation and exposes the reader to a condensed version of generic topics in primary intensive care medicine The sections that follow have been categorized according to medical and surgical subspecialties and cover the most germane of problems encountered in a tertiary surgical intensive care unit Sections of certain chapters while repetitive have been left intact in an attempt to maintain the authors messages and provide the reader with some contradictory but referenced views The technical chapters describe a very introductory approach to various exercises such as airway management and vascular cannulation
