The Potato and Its Wild Relatives Donovan Stewart Correll, 1962 Crossability and Genetics of the Tuber-bearing Potato Species Solanum Stoloniferum Schlecht. et Bche Eldon Raymond Everhart, 1974 Compendium of Potato Diseases W. J. Hooker, 1981 Disease in the absence of infectious pathogens Genetic abnormalities Adverse environment Nutrient imbalance Disease in the presence of infectious pathogens Fungi Viruses Mycoplasmas Insect toxins Nematodes Aphids Seed potato certification Agricultural Research, 1994 Can Potatoes Feed the World? John E. Bradshaw, 2025-07-01 By 2050 the United Nations UN predicts a world population of 9.7 billion compared with 8 billion in 2022. Increases in food and energy production and the supply of fresh water will be needed to sustain this population whilst reducing greenhouse gas emissions to limit global warming. The average global temperature is likely to be 2 to 3 degrees Celsius above that in pre industrial times unless there is a greater sense of urgency following the UN Climate Change Conference COP26 in Glasgow in 2021 which still wanted to limit the rise to 1.5 degrees. There is also increasing concern about the loss of biodiversity on Earth from human activity including farming as seen in the outcomes of the UN Biodiversity Conference COP15 in Montreal in 2022. More encouragingly on 1 December 2023 134 countries at COP28 in Dubai endorsed the landmark sustainable agriculture resilient food systems and climate action declaration which put food systems transformation on the global climate agenda. While food systems are vital for meeting societal needs and enabling adaptation to climate impacts they are also responsible for as much as a third of global greenhouse gas emissions. A warmer climate and loss of biodiversity will make life more difficult for humankind but can potatoes at least help with food security? It is a scientific and technological question set in a political economic and societal context. It has arisen because potatoes have made the journey from wild species to global food crop. The contribution of the potato to the United Nations Millennium Development Goals of providing food security and eradicating poverty was recognized when an International Year of the Potato 2008 IYP 2008 was officially launched at the United Nations UN headquarters in New York on 18 October 2007 by the Director General of FAO Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. Today the importance of potatoes can be seen in the context of the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development which was adopted in 2015 and started on 1 January 2016. The agenda has 17 goals the second of which SDG2 is to end hunger achieve food security and improved nutrition and promote sustainable agriculture. By 2030 the aim of the agenda is to ensure access by all people in particular the poor and people in vulnerable situations including infants to safe nutritious and sufficient food all year round. However the projection in the 2023 Sustainable Development Goals Report was not zero hunger but 600 million people still facing hunger. Hence a greater sense of urgency is required and also a need to look beyond 2030 to 2050. This book explores how potatoes can contribute to SDG2 by increasing potato production and improving the nutritional value of potatoes in particular to alleviate micronutrient deficiencies hidden hunger having first explained how potatoes became a major food crop and the lessons to be learnt from a major crop failure and resulting famine Flowering Plants. Dicotyledons Klaus Kubitzki, 2013-11-11 Compiled and written for advanced students this encyclopedia contains a comprehensive treatment of the taxonomy of the families and genera of ferns and seed plants The present volume the sixth in this series deals with five groups of dicotyledons the Celastrales Oxalidales Rosales Cornales and Ericales comprising 48 families Report of the Planning Conference on Nematode Control Strategy, 1974 The Potatoes of South America Carlos M. Ochoa, 2004 This major work presents a biosystematic analysis of wild potatoes of Peru It represents more than three decades of the work by the author in the International Potato Center In addition to a description of the taxa the book includes drawings of the various species floral dissections habitat photos and distribution maps The distinguished artist and plant pathologist Dr Franz Frey made the watercolor paintings Notes of a Potato Watcher James Lang, 2001 Native to the New World the potato was domesticated by Andean farmers probably in the Lake Titicaca basin almost as early as grain crops were cultivated in the Near East Full of essential vitamins and energy giving starch the potato has proved a valuable world resource Curious Spaniards took the potato back to Europe from whence it spread worldwide Today the largest potato producer is China with India not far behind To tell the potato's story Lang has done fieldwork in South America Asia and Africa Jacket Potato Breeding: Theory and Practice John E. Bradshaw, 2021-04-09 The potato Solanum tuberosum is the world's fourth most important food crop after maize rice and wheat with 377 million tonnes fresh weight of tubers produced in 2016 from 19.2 million hectares of land in 163 countries giving a global average yield of 19.6 t ha⁻¹ <http://faostat.fao.org> About 62% of production 234 million tonnes was in Asia 191 Africa 25 and Latin America 18 as a result of steady increases in recent years particularly in China and India As a major food crop the potato has an important role to play in the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development which started on 1 January 2016 <http://faostat.fao.org> By 2030 the aim is to ensure access by all people in particular the poor and people in vulnerable situations including infants to safe nutritious and sufficient food all year round By then the world population is expected to reach 8.5 billion and continue to increase to 9.7 billion in 2050 For potatoes the need is to increase production and improve nutritional value during a period of climate change a key aspect of which will be the breeding of new cultivars for a wide range of target environments and consumers The aim of the book is to help this endeavour by providing detailed information in three parts on both the theory and practice of potato breeding Part I deals with the history of potato improvement and with potato genetics Part II deals with breeding objectives divided into improving yield quality traits and resistance to the most important diseases and pests of potatoes Part III deals with breeding methods first the use of landraces and wild relatives of potato in introgression breeding base broadening and population improvement second breeding clonally propagated cultivars as a way to deliver potato improvement to farmers' fields third as an alternative breeding potato cultivars for propagation through true potato seed and fourth gene editing and genetic transformation as ways of making further improvements to already successful and widely grown cultivars Included are marker assisted introgression and selection of specific alleles genomic selection of many unspecified alleles and diploid F1 hybrid breeding
