Wells, 2012-08-26 A revolutionary approach to how we view Europe's prehistoric culture The peoples who inhabited Europe during the two millennia before the Roman conquests had established urban centers large scale production of goods such as pottery and iron tools a money economy and elaborate rituals and ceremonies Yet as Peter Wells argues here the visual world of these late prehistoric communities was profoundly different from those of ancient Rome's literate civilization and today's industrialized societies Drawing on startling new research in neuroscience and cognitive psychology Wells reconstructs how the peoples of pre Roman Europe saw the world and their place in it He sheds new light on how they communicated their thoughts feelings and visual perceptions through the everyday tools they shaped the pottery and metal ornaments they decorated and the arrangements of objects they made in their ritual places and how these forms and patterns in turn shaped their experience How Ancient Europeans Saw the World offers a completely new approach to the study of Bronze Age and Iron Age Europe and represents a major challenge to existing views about prehistoric cultures The book demonstrates why we cannot interpret the structures that Europe s pre Roman inhabitants built in the landscape the ways they arranged their settlements and burial sites or the complex patterning of their art on the basis of what these things look like to us Rather we must view these objects and visual patterns as they were meant to be seen by the ancient peoples who fashioned them

Dakhleh Oasis and the Western Desert of Egypt under the Ptolemies James C. R. Gill,2016-07-08 Through an analysis of recently discovered Ptolemaic pottery from Mut al Kharab as well as a reexamination of pottery collected by the Dakhleh Oasis Project during the survey of the oasis from 1978 1987 this book challenges the common perception that Dakhleh Oasis experienced a sudden increase in agricultural exploitation and a dramatic rise in population during the Roman Period It argues that such changes had already begun to take place during the Ptolemaic Period likely as the result of a deliberate strategy directed toward this region by the Ptolemies This book focuses on the ceramic remains in order to determine the extent of Ptolemaic settlement in the oases and to offer new insights into the nature of this settlement It presents a corpus of Ptolemaic pottery and a catalogue of Ptolemaic sites from Dakhleh Oasis It also presents a survey of Ptolemaic evidence from the oases of Kharga Farafra Bahariya and Siwa It thus represents the first major synthesis of Ptolemaic Period activity in the Egyptian Western Desert Ceramic Industries of Medieval Nubia William Yewdale Adams,1986-01-01 Israel's
