Pounders Of Grain A History Of Women Work And Politics In Mozambique:

Pounders of Grain Kathleen E. Sheldon, 2002 This history of women in Mozambique moves from a description of various mid 19th century rural societies to an examination of the impact of structural adjustment and processes of democratization at the end of the 20th century A discussion of matrilineal and patrilineal kinship systems introduces the history and includes women s contributions to the social and economic lives of their communities The experiences of women in Portuguese colonialism are then explored with a focus on changes to the work environment and the advent of mission education Women s involvement in the struggle for liberation and independence is highlighted by specific policies that improved women s lives Examinations of the 1980s and 1990s follow including a look at the devastating war with Renamo and a consideration of the legacy of structural adjustment programs on women s work and politics This book is inclusive of all regions in Mozambique and emphasizes the centrality of women s choices and decisions in the development of Mozambican society Sheldon demonstrates that without the inclusion of women the history of Mozambique remains incomplete This is the only history to date of women in Mozambique and one of the few country specific histories of women in Africa

Women's Lived Landscapes of War and Liberation in Mozambique Jonna Katto, 2019-11-11 This book tells the history of the changing gendered landscapes of northern Mozambique from the perspective of women who fought in the armed struggle for national independence diverting from the often told narrative of women in nationalist wars that emphasizes a linear plot of liberation Taking a novel approach in focusing on the body senses and landscape Jonna Katto through a study of the women ex combatants lived landscapes shows how their life trajectories unfold as nonlinear spatial histories This brings into focus the women s shifting and multilayered negotiations for personal space and belonging This book explores the life memories of the now aging female ex combatants in the province of Niassa in northern Mozambique looking at how the female ex combatants experiences of living in these northern landscapes have shaped their sense of socio spatial belonging and attachment It builds on the premise that individual embodied memory cannot be separated from social memory personal lives are culturally shaped Thus the book does not only tell the history of a small and rather unique group of women but also speaks about wider cultural histories of body landscape relations in northern Mozambique and especially changes in those relations Enriching our understanding of the gendered history of the liberation struggle in Mozambique and informing broader discussions on gender and nationalism this book will be of interest to students and scholars of African history especially the colonial and postcolonial history of Lusophone Africa as well as gender women s history and peace and conflict studies Historical Companion to Postcolonial Literatures - Continental Europe and its Empires Prem

Poddar,2011-09-21 The first reference work to provide an integrated and authoritative body of information about the political cultural and economic contexts of postcolonial literatures that have their provenance in the major European Empires of Belgium Denmark France G Religion Crossing Boundaries ,2010-08-18 Across the past twenty years major change has taken place in the structure of global society with respect to the nature of migration The predominant pattern since at least the eighteenth century had been for peoples to move to and settle in Western countries permanently with relatively little substantive interchange with their former homelands hence adopting the modes of articulation characteristic of their new societies a process expressed with respect to the USA for example as Americanization This pattern has now changed and there is considerable interaction between homeland and migrant peoples One of the places this has become especially important is in religious exchanges While some negative effects of this process may grab headlines there have also been extensive positive interactions not least among African peoples especially with respect to pentecostal and allied religious movements The chapters in this book illustrate the variety of these exchanges Contributors include Wale Adebaniwa Edlyne Anugwom J Kwabena Asamoah Gyadu Marleen de Witte Laura Grillo Susan M Kilonzo Samuel Krinsky G raldine Mossi re Philomena Njeri Mwaura Joel Noret Ebenezer Obadare Damaris S Parsitau Mei Mei Sanford Linda van de Kamp and Rijk van Dijk Mother Africa, Father Marx Hilary Owen,2007 This book is the first work in the English language to discuss the participation of women writers in the narrative construction of Mozambican nationhood over the last half century Covering the rise of anti colonial nationalism in the 1950s the advent of the Marxist Leninist Republic in the 1970s the war that followed independence in the 1980s and the transition to democracy and the neo liberal economy in the 1990s the volume focuses on four representative women writers who belong to distinct but overlapping periods and work in different genres Dealing with Noemia de Sousa's poetry Lina Magaia's testimonial writings Lilia Mompole's short fiction and Paulina Chiziane's novels the result is a close reading of the ways in which women have narrated and counter narrated Mozambican nationhood to take account of the gendered power relations that traditionally underpin national community as imagined by men

Green Cajetan Iheka Rachel Jean Baptiste Elizabeth M Perego Claire Robertson Kathleen Sheldon Aili Mari Tripp Cassandra Veney Narrating War and Peace in Africa Solimar Otero, 2010 Narrating War and Peace in Africa interrogates conventional representations of Africa and African culture mainly in the twentieth and early twenty first centuries with an emphasis on portrayals of conflict and peace While Africa has experienced political and social turbulence throughout its history more recent conflicts seem to reinforce the myth of barbarism across the continent in Nigeria Rwanda Somalia Sierra Leone Uganda Kenya Mozambique Chad South Africa Zimbabwe and Sudan The essays in this volume address reductive and stereotypical assumptions of postcolonial violence as tribal in nature and offer instead various perspectives across disciplinary boundaries that foster a less fetishized more contextualized understanding of African war peace and memory Through their geographical historical and cultural scope and diversity the chapters in Narrating War and Peace in Africa aim to challenge negative stereotypes that abound in relation to Africa in general and to its wars and conflicts in particular encouraging a shift to more balanced and nuanced representations of the continent and its political and social climates Contributors Ann Albuyeh Zermarie Deacon Alicia C Decker Am na Mo nfar Kayode Omoniyi Ogunfolabi Sabrina Parent Susan Rasmussen Michael Sharp Cheryl Sterling Hetty ter Haar Melissa Tully Pamela Wadende Metasebia Woldemariam Jonathan Zilberg Toyin Falola is the Jacob and Frances Sanger Mossiker Chair in the Humanities and University Distinguished Teaching Professor at the University of Texas at Austin Hetty ter Haar is an independent researcher in England The Middle Class in Mozambique Jason Sumich, 2018-10-18 In recent years the growth of a middle class has been a key feature of the Africa Rising narrative Here Sumich explores the formation of this middle class in Mozambique answering questions about the basis of the class system and the social order that gives rise to it Drawing extensively on his fieldwork Sumich argues that power and status in dominant party states like Mozambique derives more from the ability to access resources rather than from direct control of the means of production By considering the role of the state he shows how the Mozambican middle class can both be bound to a system they benefit from and alienated from it at the same time as well as exploring the ways in which the middle classes attempt to reproduce their positions of privilege and highlighting the deep uncertain future that they face Medea's Long Shadow in Postcolonial Contexts Ana Filipa Prata, Rodrigo Verano, 2024-06-10 This interdisciplinary volume explores the ancient Greek myth of Medea and its global analogues found in other mythic and folk tales of deadly exiled women such as those of La Malinche and La Llorona examining the connections between these figures and their depictions from antiquity to modernity The book considers the figure of the foreign woman her exile fratricide and infanticide in its ancient Greek form and in global postcolonial receptions in a range of media including drama film novels and the visual arts The chapters illuminate the contradictions of considering the classical Medea as a central reference point for analysis of other female figures from peripheral territories while simultaneously acknowledging the insights that such comparisons can yield Emphasizing the ways in which Medea's seditious nature enables the establishment of an extensive and heterogeneous intertextual network with other mythic characters who represent a similarly disruptive role in their specific local historical and cultural contexts the book argues for a comparative analysis that is equally attentive to myths and folk tales from all regions These essays by scholars of classics comparative and world literatures and postcolonial studies represent a plurality of perspectives from different academic contexts in Africa Latin America North America and Europe and examine how different cultures have depicted women foreigners crime and abjection The foundations of Greek myth and subsequently of the classical tradition itself are interrogated from a postcolonial perspective In tracing the portrayals of Medea and other mythic women through the overlapping features of different female characters and plots and intertwining local cultural and literary materials with broader debates this volume challenges Eurocentric narratives of power and cultural domination and works to decentralize the discussion of Medea from the exclusive domain of classical studies Medea s Long Shadow in Postcolonial Contexts will be of interest to students and scholars working on Greek tragedy and its reception as well as to those studying postcolonial and global approaches to literature culture and gender studies Seeing Like a Citizen Kara Moskowitz,2019-11-12 In Seeing Like a Citizen Kara Moskowitz approaches Kenya s late colonial and early postcolonial eras as a single period of political economic and social transition In focusing on rural Kenyans the vast majority of the populace and the main targets of development interventions as they actively sought access to aid she offers new insights into the texture of political life in decolonizing Kenya and the early postcolonial world Using multisited archival sources and oral histories focused on the western Rift Valley Seeing Like a Citizen makes three fundamental contributions to our understanding of African and Kenyan history First it challenges the widely accepted idea of the gatekeeper state revealing that state control remained limited and that the postcolonial state was an internally varied and often dissonant institution Second it transforms our understanding of postcolonial citizenship showing that its balance of rights and duties was neither claimed nor imposed but negotiated and differentiated Third it reorients Kenyan historiography away from central Kenya and elite postcolonial politics The result is a powerful investigation of experiences of independence of the meaning and form of development and of how global political practices were composed and recomposed on the ground in local settings Cities of Entanglements Barbara Heer,2019-09-24 How do people live together in cities shaped by inequality This comparative ethnography of two African cities Maputo and Johannesburg presents a new narrative about social life in cities often described as sharply divided Based on the ethnography of entangled lives unfolding in a township and in a suburb in Johannesburg in a bairro and in an elite neighborhood in Maputo the book includes case studies of relations between domestic workers and their employers failed attempts by urban elites to close off their neighborhoods and entanglements emerging in religious spaces and in shopping malls Systematizing comparison as an experience based method the book makes an important contribution to urban anthropology comparative urbanism and urban studies Political Handbook of the World 2022-2023 Tom Lansford,2023-06-09 The Political Handbook of the World 2022
