Pourquoi La Peste Le Rat La Puce Et Le Bubon:

Pourquoi la peste ? Jacqueline Brossollet, Henri Hubert Mollaret, 1994 Pendant des siècles elle a durement frappé n'importe qui ni jeunes ni vieux ni pauvres ni riches Par son impact ravageur par le nombre des morts par le blocus des villes contaminées la peste a bouleversé la vie économique sociale et religieuse d'autrefois Mais pourquoi la peste Face à la mort noire les médecins étaient sans recours Jusqu'à ce que en 1894 Yersin puis Simond ne démythifient le rôle des rats et puces sont responsables de la peste bubonique comme de la peste pulmonaire Henri Mollaret et Jacqueline Brossollet qui ont appartenu trente ans au Service de la peste à l'Institut Pasteur de Paris montrent ici que si la peste a un long passé il ne faut pas pour autant la reléguer au rang des maladies disparues

Daily Life during the Black Death Joseph P. Byrne, 2006-08-30 Daily life during the Black Death was anything but normal When plague hit a community every aspect of life was turned upside down from relations within families to its social political and economic structure Theaters emptied graveyards filled and the streets were ruled by the terrible corpse bearers whose wagons of death rumbled day and night Daily life during the Black Death was anything but normal During the three and a half centuries that constituted the Second Pandemic of Bubonic Plague from 1348 to 1722 Europeans were regularly assaulted by epidemics that mowed them down like a reaper's scythe When plague hit a community every aspect of life was turned upside down from relations within families to its social political and economic structure Theaters emptied graveyards filled and the streets were ruled by terrible corpse bearers whose wagons of death rumbled night and day Plague time elicited the most heroic and inhuman behavior imaginable And yet Western Civilization survived to undergo the Renaissance Reformation Scientific Revolution and early Enlightenment In Daily Life during the Black Death Joseph Byrne opens with an outline of the course of the Second Pandemic the causes and nature of bubonic plague and the recent revisionist view of what the Black Death really was He presents the phenomenon of plague thematically by focusing on the places people lived and worked and confronted their horrors the home the church and cemetery the village the pest houses the streets and roads He leads readers to the medical school classroom where the false theories of plague were taught through the careers of doctors who futilely treated victims to the council chambers of city hall where civic leaders agonized over ways to prevent and then treat the pestilence He discusses the medicines prayers literature special clothing art burial practices and crime that plague spawned Byrne draws vivid examples from across both Europe and the period and presents the words of witnesses and victims themselves wherever possible He ends with a close discussion of the plague at Marseille 1720-22 the last major plague in northern Europe and the research breakthroughs at the end of the nineteenth century that finally defeated bubonic plague

Power, Violence and Mass Death in Pre-Modern and Modern Times Joseph Canning, Hartmut Lehmann, 2017-05-15 The fourteenth seventeenth and twentieth centuries in European history were marked by exceptionally intense experiences of power violence and mass death Power Violence and Mass Death in Pre Modern and Modern Times undertakes the ambitious and entirely new task of analyzing through comparison the importance of power violence and mass death in these centuries Death and the excesses of power were characteristics of the twentieth century but this volume teaches about the causes and possible consequences of this oppressive individual and collective experience We now have a more established historical perspective for understanding the importance of power and the causes and results of the rapid increase in mortality in the fourteenth and seventeenth centuries In this way this volume makes progress towards reaching new perceptions of all three crisis epochs Appealing to a wide readership Power Violence and Mass Death in Pre Modern and Modern Times will be of interest to scholars not only of the three centuries highlighted but also to anyone with an historical and sociological interest in the larger questions raised about the nature of power violence and mass death on European society

Dread Philip Alcabes, 2010-04-13 Alcabes persuasively argues that people's anxieties about epidemics are created not so much by the germ or microbe in question or the actual risks of contagion but by the unknown, the undesirable and the misunderstood b/w illustration insert Images of Plague and Pestilence Christine M. Boeckl, 2000-12-01 Since the late fourteenth century European artists created an extensive body of images in paintings, prints, drawings, sculptures and other media about the horrors of disease and death as well as hope and salvation. This interdisciplinary study on disease in metaphysical context is the first general overview of plague art written from an art historical standpoint. The book selects masterpieces created by Raphael, Titian, Tintoretto, Rubens, Van Dyck and Poussin and includes minor works dating from the fourteenth to twentieth centuries. It highlights the most important innovative artistic works that originated during the Renaissance and the Catholic Reformation. This study of the changing iconographic patterns and their iconological interpretations opens a window to the past.

Peste Michel Signoli, 2007 The Development of Modern Medicine in Non-Western Countries Hormoz Ebrahimnejad, 2009-01-13 The history of medicine in non-European countries has often been characterized by the study of their native traditional medicine such as Galenic, Islamic medicine and Ayurvedic or Chinese medicine. Modern medicine in these countries, on the other hand, has usually been viewed as a Western corpus of knowledge and institution juxtaposing or replacing the native medicine but without any organic relation with the local context. By discarding categories like Islamic, Indian or Chinese medicine as the myths invented by modern Western historiography in the aftermath of the colonial and post-colonial periods, the book proposes to bridge the gap between Western and non-Western medicines, opening a new perspective in medical historiography in which modern medicine becomes an integral part of the history of medicine in non-European countries. Through essays and case studies of medical modernization, this volume particularly calls into question the categorization of Western and non-Western medicine and challenges the idea that modern medicine could only be developed in its Western birthplace and then imported to and practised as such to the rest of the world. Against the concept of a project of modernization at the heart of the history of modern medicine in non-Western countries, the chapters of this book describe processes of medical development by highlighting the active involvement of local elements. The book's emphasis is thus on the modernization or construction of modern medicine rather than on the diffusion of modern medicine as an ontological entity beyond the West.
