citizenship as well as linear outcomes The Post-formal Reader Shirley R. Steinberg, Joe L. Kincheloe, Patricia H. Hinchey, 1999 This volume argues that while twentieth century educational psychology has made important advances a time for reassessment has arrived Recent years have seen the rise of neo Vygotskian analysis and situated cognition within the discipline of cognitive psychology The authors of Post Formal Reade have picked up where these theories leave off to more fully develop the specific connections between the social and the psychological dimensions of learning theory and educational psychology Shaping Claims to Urban Land Fons van Overbeek, 2022-10-03 The concept of hybridity is often still poorly theorized and problematically applied by peace and development scholars and researchers of resource governance This book turns to a particular ethnographic reading of Michel Foucault's Governmentality and investigates its usefulness to study precisely those mechanisms processes and practices that hybridity once promised to clarify Claim making to land and authority in a post conflict environment is the empirical grist supporting this exploration of governmentality Specifically in the periphery of Bukavu This focus is relevant as urban land is increasingly becoming scarce in rapidly expanding cities of eastern Congo primarily due to internal rural to urban migration as a result of regional insecurity The governance of urban land is also important analytically as land governance and state authority in Africa are believed to be closely linked and co evolve An ethnographic reading of governmentality enables researchers to study hybridization without biasing analysis towards hierarchical dualities Additionally a better understanding of hybridization in the claim making practices may contribute to improved government intervention and development assistance in Bukavu and elsewhere Cautionary Tales in the Ethics of Lifelong Learning Policy and Management Richard G. Bagnall, 2004-04-30 This work is a critique from an ethical perspective of contemporary trends in lifelong learning policy and management It focuses attention on 21 trends each represented by a fable that is drawn from the experience of a stake holder The trends have been selected as exemplifying common responses to contemporary cultural change They are drawn from a number of different countries and across educational sectors higher adult and vocational education and post compulsory schooling Each fable is explained examined and grounded in scholarship on educational change and applied ethics through an accompanying account The work is directed to educational policy makers and managers It has been designed for use as a resource in advanced undergraduate and post graduate professional development programs in educational policy leadership change change management justice and ethics Its unique use of fables accompanying accounts and background theory allows readers to engage with the text at different levels
