wordes which I shall write A doleful story you shall heare In time brought forth to light A gentleman of good account In Norfolke dwelt of late Who did in honour far surmount Most men of his estate Sore sicke he was and like to dye No helpe his life could save His wife by him as sicke did lye And both possest one grave No love between these two was lost Each was to other kinde In love they liv d in love they dyed And left two babes behinde The one a fine and pretty boy Not passing three yeares olde The other a girl more young than he And fram d in beautye s molde The father left his little son As plain lye doth appeare When he to perfect age should come Three hundred poundes a yeare And to his little daughter Jane Five hundred poundes in gold To be paid downe on marriage day Which might not be controll d But if the children chanced to dye Ere they to age should come Their uncle should possesse their wealth For so the wille did run Now brother said the dying man Look to my children deare Be good unto my boy and girl No friendes else have they here To God and you I do commend My children deare this daye But little while be sure we have Within this world to staye You must be father and mother both And uncle all in one God knowes what will become of them When I am dead and gone With that bespake their mother deare O brother kinde quoth shee You are the man must bring our babes To wealth or miserie And if you keep them carefully Then God will you reward But if you otherwise should deal God will your deedes regard With lippes as cold as any stone They kist the children small God bless you both my children deare With that the teares did fall These speeches then their brother spake To this sicke couple there The keeping of your little ones Sweet sister do not feare God never prosper me nor mine Nor aught else that I have If I do wrong your children deare When you are layd in grave The parents being dead and gone The children home he takes And bringes them strait unto his house Where much of them he makes He had not kept these pretty babes A twelvemonth and a daye But for their wealth he did devise To make them both awaye He bargain d with two ruffians strong Which were of furious mood That they should take the children young And slaye them in a wood We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience
