Return Migration to Afghanistan Marieke van Houte, 2017-02-08 This book overcomes the dichotomies generalizations and empirical shortcomings that surround the understanding of return migration within the migration development peace building nexus Using the concept of multidimensional embeddedness it provides an encompassing view of returnees identification with and participation in one or multiple spaces of belonging It introduces Afghan return migration from Europe as a relevant case study since the country's protracted history of conflict and migration shows how the globally changing political discourses of recent decades have shaped migration strategies The author's findings highlight the fact that policy is responding inadequately to complex issues of migration conflict development and return since the expectations on which it is based only account for a small minority of returnees This thought provoking book will appeal to scholars of migration and refugee studies as well as a wider audience of sociologists anthropologists demographers and policy makers increasingly strict border securitisation and surveillance overshadowed the freedom of the migrant to seek entry or residence for legitimate touristic work study or family reasons a secure refuge from persecution and effective access to justice In 2004 the Heads of State and Government presented a programme for the next stage of development in these areas the Hague Programme and the Directives and Regulations that have been agreed are now being transposed and applied in Member States legal systems What are the main challenges in the years ahead as the Hague Programme and the existing legislative acquis are implemented
