

The background of the cover is a detailed illustration of a forest floor in autumn. A large, gnarled tree trunk lies horizontally across the middle. On its surface, a small, glowing, mask-like object with a face is visible. The ground is covered with a thick layer of fallen leaves in various shades of red, orange, and brown. The overall atmosphere is mysterious and dark.

The Golden Nugget N.K. Beckley, 2016-01-15. The Golden Nugget is the fourth book that Mrs. Beckley has written. It is an interactive book and introduces the reader to the history of the Reed Gold Mine in Charlotte, North Carolina, in 1799. It was the first goldmine in the United States of America. I hope that this part of history sparks a discussion both in your classrooms and in your families, maybe at the dinner table. The names of the people are fictional, but the information about the Reed Gold Mine, Italy, and South Korea are correct. Look for the last book in the series called Emily to be out sometime soon. The rest of the books should be out soon. I hope you have enjoyed the books as much as I have writing and researching them.

The Grim Finish C. Davis, 2012-01-24. Pirates, enchanted mirrors, mermaids, evil villains, and triumphant heroes: there is certainly a tale for everyone. What is so enticing about short stories? Perhaps it is the idea of a simple sketch going from a faint image to being completely painted by our imaginations. Not only this, but with any story we create our own characters, voicing backdrops, plot twists, and fears or hopes. What lies between these few pages is a glimpse of something that for everyone will be completely unique unto themselves. I, as the writer, would like to challenge you to look for something different that makes each story not mine but your own. Where your imagination stops, no one can tell, and through whatever medium you choose to indulge it, enjoy. C. Davis.

Tested Linda Perlstein, 2025-03-14. The pressure is on at schools across America. In recent years, reforms such as No Child Left Behind have created a new vision of education that emphasizes provable results, uniformity, and greater attention for floundering students. Schools are expected to behave more like businesses and be judged almost solely on the bottom line: test scores. To see if this world is producing better students, Linda Perlstein immersed herself in a suburban Maryland elementary school. The resulting portrait, detailed, human, and truly thought-provoking, is marked by the same narrative gifts and expertise that made Not Much Just Chillin' so illuminating. The school, once deemed a failure, is now held up as an example of reform done right. Perlstein explores the rewards and costs of that transformation through the experiences of the people who lived it. Nine-year-olds meditate to activate their brains before exams, and kindergartners write paragraphs. Teachers attempt to address diverse needs at the same time they are expected to follow daily scripts and feel compelled to focus on topics that will be tested at the expense of those that won't. The principal attempts to keep it all together in the face of immense challenges. Perlstein provides the first detailed view of how new education policies are modified by human realities. Tested will be talked about, thought about, written about, and will almost certainly play an important role in the national debate as the federal education law come up for renewal ,
