Review Of Federal Cultural Policies For The Arts In Canada 1944-1988:

Policy Matters Clive Robertson, 2006 In this book Clive Robertson examines the subject of arts administration through the three major topics of artist run culture as movement and apparatus custody battles with at the Canada Council and Carings for art and culture Includes interviews with Paule Leduc Roch Carrier Edythe Goodriche and Bruce Russell From Art Metropole website viewed 23 May 2018 Cultural Policy Diane St-Pierre, Monica Gattinger, 2021-03-30 How do Canadian provincial and territorial governments intervene in the cultural and artistic lives of their citizens What changes and influences shaped the origin of these policies and their implementation On what foundations were policies based and on what foundations are they based today How have governments defined the concepts of culture and of cultural policy over time What are the objectives and outcomes of their policies and what instruments do they use to pursue them Answers to these questions are multiple and complex partly as a result of the unique historical context of each province and territory and partly because of the various objectives of successive governments and the values and identities of their citizens Cultural Policy Origins Evolution and Implementation in Canada's Provinces and Territories offers a comprehensive history of subnational cultural policies including the institutionalization and instrumentalization of culture by provincial and territorial governments government cultural objectives and outcomes the role of departments Crown corporations other government organizations and major public institutions in the cultural domain and the development dissemination and impact of subnational cultural policy interventions Published in English Ethics and Cultural Policy in a Global Economy Sarah Owen Vandersluis, 2003-10-16 Sarah Owen Vandersluis critically examines approaches to cultural policy within the global economy This study taps into the growing debate on ethical theory and International Political Economy It challenges the normative positions of nationalists and welfare economists before developing an alternative communitarian ethics for cultural policy in a global economy The study concludes with an examination of the practical implications of this ethics in several case studies

The Arts and Canada's Cultural Policy, 1995 Canadian Cultural Policy in Transition Devin Beauregard, Jonathan Paquette, 2021-07-28 This book offers a comprehensive overview of Canadian cultural policy and research at a time of transition and redefinition to establish a dialogue between conventional and emerging foundations Taking a historical view the book informs insights on current trends in policy and explores global debates underpinning cultural policy studies within a local context The book first acknowledges what Canadian cultural policy research conventionally recognizes and refers to in terms of institutions values and debates before moving on to take stock of the transformations that are continuing to reshape Canadian cultural policy in terms of values orientations actors and institutions With a focus on all levels of government federal provincial and local the book also centers on Indigenous arts policies and practices This systematic and inclusive volume will appeal to academic researchers graduate students managers of arts and culture programs and institutions and in the areas of cultural policy public administration political science cultural studies film and media studies theatre and performance and museum studies      Tales of Ghosts Ronald W. Hawker, 2007-10-01 The years between 1922 and 1961 often referred to as the Dark Ages of Northwest Coast art have largely been ignored by art historians and dismissed as a period of artistic decline Tales of Ghosts compellingly reclaims this era arguing that it was instead a critical period during which the art played an important role in public discourses on the status of First Nations people in Canadian society Those with an interest in First Nations and Canadian history and art history anthropology museology and post colonial studies will be delighted by the publication of this major contribution to their fields      University of Toronto Faculty of Law Review, 1999      Art in Public Lambert Zuidervaat, 2010-11-15 This book examines fundamental questions about funding for the arts why should governments provide funding for the arts What do the arts contribute to daily life Do artists and their publics have a social responsibility Challenging questionable assumptions about the state the arts and a democratic society Lambert Zuidervaat presents a vigorous case for government funding based on crucial contributions the arts make to civil society He argues that the arts contribute to democratic communication and a social economy fostering the critical and creative dialogue that a democratic society needs Informed by the author's experience leading a non profit arts organisation as well as his expertise in the arts humanities and social sciences this book proposes an entirely new conception of the public role of art with wide ranging implications for education politics and cultural policy

Federal Transfer Payments to the Provinces for Health and Post-secondary Education Jean-Denis Fr  chette, RENE. LEMIEUX, 1993      Canadian Books in Print, 1996      Out of the Basement Miranda Campbell, 2013-04-18 Soulja Boy Justin Bieber and Tavi Gevinson are hardly representative of typical youth experiences but their origins highlight many of the realities of youth doing independent creative work Out of the Basement profiles the variety of youth cultural production in the twenty first century and asks what has or has not changed as youth attempt to make a living from creative works Though any young person with a laptop might have greater means to make music films or publish writing than in the past the skills necessary to make a living in today's creative industries are not taught in schools young artists must find their own way out of their basements Integrating cultural studies media education and subculture studies Miranda Campbell profiles this process of navigation and negotiation one largely overlooked in discussions of creative economies through the life stories of young people who are building careers through cultural work She considers how existing policies can impede small scale cultural production and calls for more awareness and support of youth creative enterprise Moving between the structures directed toward creative life and the initiatives that young people produce themselves in the absence of relevant structures Out of the Basement offers a timely analysis of the rise of small scale creative employment      Culture and Politics in Canada D. Paul Schafer, 1998      Studies in history and museums Peter E. Rider, 1994-01-01 The authors of this volume attempt to describe the relationship between history as a field of study and museums as vehicles for the presentation of historical discourse The development of history museums the way in which exhibits are created the manner in which historians function in a museum setting and the issues connected with the treatment of the history of specific sectors of our population are the themes addressed Published in English Communications in Canadian Society Benjamin D. Singer,1991

Cultural Development in an Open Economy Stuart McFadyen,1994 The tension between cultural objectives and commercial considerations will become even more important in the future as a result of the convergence of the broadcasting telecommunications and computer industries Technological improvements lower the barriers to movement of information and cultural products internationally and this in turn heightens the economic pressures which must be dealt with by those pursuing cultural goals As well as economic pressures new means of content delivery undermine the ability of regulators to control content This volume presents the thoughts of Canada's leading communication scholars on this problem and their suggestions as to how cultural industry researchers should orient their work to deal effectively with the problems faced by the cultural industries in an environment of much more open global competition Papers deal with cultural foundations cultural and economic policy the globalization of cultural industries special Quebec research issues Native and multicultural concerns as well as audience and business research The essays are reprinted from Volume 19 Number 3 4 a special issue of the Canadian Journal of Communication Enigmas y paradigmas Andrés Roemer,2003 Canadiana ,1991 City Stages Michael McKinnie,2013-06-17 In every major city there exists a complex exchange between urban space and the institution of the theatre City Stages is an interdisciplinary and materialist analysis of this relationship as it has existed in Toronto since 1967 Locating theatre companies their sites and practices in Toronto's urban environment Michael McKinnie focuses on the ways in which the theatre has adapted to changes in civic ideology environment and economy Over the past four decades theatre in Toronto has been increasingly implicated in the civic self fashioning of the city and preoccupied with the consequences of the changing urban political economy City Stages investigates a number of key questions that relate to this pattern How has theatre been used to justify certain forms of urban development in Toronto How have local real estate markets influenced the ways in which theatre companies acquire and use performance space How does the analysis of theatre as an urban phenomenon complicate Canadian theatre historiography McKinnie uses the St Lawrence Centre for the Arts and the Toronto Centre for the Performing Arts as case studies and considers theatrical companies such as Theatre Passe Muraille Toronto Workshop Productions Buddies in Bad Times and Necessary Angel in his analysis City Stages combines primary archival research with the scholarly literature emerging from both the humanities and social sciences The result is a comprehensive and empirical examination of the relationship between the theatrical arts and the urban spaces that house them The Muses, the Masses, and the Massey Commission Paul Litt,1992 Canadian Periodical Index ,1965
