Review Of Northeast Fishery Stock Assessments:

Review of Northeast Fishery Stock Assessments National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Ocean Studies Board, Commission on Geosciences, Environment and Resources, Committee to Review Northeast Fishery Stock Assessments, 1998-05-17 The collapse of cod flounder and haddock fish stocks in the Northeast United States has caused widespread concern among managers and fishers in the United States and Canada The diminishing stocks have forced managers to take strict regulatory measures Numerous questions have been raised about the adequacy of stock assessment science used to evaluate the status of these stocks and the appropriateness of the management measures taken Based on these concerns Congress mandated that a scientific review of the methodology and data used to evaluate these stocks be conducted In this volume the committee concludes that although there are improvements to be made in data collection modeling uncertainty and communicating between fishers managers and scientists the scientific methods used in the Northeast stock assessments are sound Recommendations are made on how the stock assessment process can be improved

Layzer,Sara R. Rinfret,2023-06-05 Answers to environmental issues are not black and white Debates around policy are often among those with fundamentally different values and the way that problems and solutions are defined plays a central role in shaping how those values are translated into policy The Environmental Case captures the real world complexity of creating environmental policy and this much anticipated Sixth Edition contains 14 carefully constructed cases including a new study of the Salton Sea crisis Through her analysis Sara Rinfret continues the work of Judith Layzer and explores the background players contributing factors and outcomes of each case and gives readers insight into some of the most interesting and controversial issues in U S environmental policymaking

Effects of Trawling and Dredging on Seafloor Habitat National Research Council,Division on Earth and Life Studies,Ocean Studies Board,Committee on Ecosystem Effects of Fishing: Phase 1â–"Effects of Bottom Trawling on Seafloor Habitats,2002-07-09 Concerns over the potential ecological effects of fishing have increased with the expansion of fisheries throughout the marine waters of the United States Effects of Trawling and Dredging on Seafloor Habitat describes how assessment of fishing impacts depends on gear type number and location of bottom tows and the physical and biological characteristics of seafloor habitats Many experimental studies have documented acute gear specific effects of trawling and dredging on various types of habitat These studies indicate that low mobility long lived species are more vulnerable to towed fishing gear than short lived species in areas where the seabed is often disturbed by natural phenomena Trawling and dredging may also change the composition and productivity of fish communities dependent on seafloor habitats for food and refuge The scale of these impacts depends on the level of fishing effort This volume presents color maps of fishing effort for all regions with significant bottom trawl or dredge fisheries the first time that such data has been assembled and analyzed for the entire nation
