Revisioning Environmental Ethics Daniel A. Kealey, 1990-01-01 Using the psychohistorical schema of Jean Gebser Kealey analyzes the positions of environmental ethicists and concludes that the first four of Gebser's structures of consciousness are inadequate to meet the present crisis Drawing on Plotinus Aurobindo and Max Scheler Kealey outlines an adequate fully integral ecological ethic

Environmental Ethics Bob Jickling, Heila Lotz-Sisitka, Lausanne Olvitt, Rob O'Donoghue, Ingrid Schudel, Dylan McGarry, Blair Niblett, 2021-12-07 This well constructed and highly original sourcebook integrates educational materials for teaching environmental ethics with theoretical reflections The book is set to contribute immensely to its aim of taking ethics out of philosophy departments and putting it into the streets into villages and on the Earth to make ethics an everyday activity not something left to experts and specialists Context based activities are presented in almost every chapter While it acknowledges foundational theories in environmental ethics and the work that they continue to do it wholeheartedly embraces a growing body of literature that emphasises contextual process oriented and place based approaches to ethical reflection deliberation and action It walks on the ground and isn't afraid to get a little dirty or to seek joy in earthly relationships And it ultimately breaks with much Western academic tradition by framing ethics in a storied world thus making room to move beyond Euro American perspectives in environmental issues This work will be of interest to school teachers and other non formal and informal educators teacher educators college instructors university professors and other professionals who wish to bring environmental ethics to the forefront of their pedagogical practices

Environmental Ethics and Forestry Peter C. List, 2000 During the past twenty five years North American forestry has received increasingly vigorous scrutiny Critics including the environmentalists environmental scientists representatives of public interest groups and many individual citizens have expressed concerns about forestry's basic assumptions and methods as well as its practical outcomes Criticism has centered on such issues as the exploitation of forests for timber production the reduction and fragmentation of old growth habitats the destruction of biodiversity the degradation of grasslands through grazing practices lack of government attention to recreation facilities silvicultural methods like clearcutting and the use of herbicides and pesticides the exportation of industrial forestry techniques to other parts of the world and the use of public monies to provide services for private resource companies as in the creation of logging roads This rising tide of public scrutiny has led many foresters to suspect that their contract with society to manage forests using their best professional judgment had been undermined Some of these professionals as well as some of their critics have begun to reexamine their old beliefs and to look for new ways of practicing forestry Part of this reflective process has entailed new directions in environmental ethics and environmental philosophy This reader brings together some of the new thinking in this area Here students of the applied environmental and natural resource sciences as well as the interested general reader will discover a rich sampling of writings in environmental ethics and philosophy as they apply to forestry Readings focus on basic ethical systems in forestry and forest management philosophical issues in forestry ethics codes of ethics in forestry and related natural resource sciences such as fisheries science and wildlife biology Aldo Leopold's land ethic in forestry ethical advocacy and whistleblowing in government resource agencies the ethics of new forestry ecoforestry and public debate in forestry as well as ethical issues in global forestry such as the responsibilities of forest corporations environmentalists and individual wood consumers This volume contains materials from the founders of forestry ethics such as Bernhard Fernow Gifford Pinchot John Muir and Aldo Leopold from such organizations as the Society of American Foresters the Wildlife Society the American Fisheries Society Forest Service Employees for Environmental Ethics and the Ecoforesters group in addition to writings by a variety of well known environmental philosophers and foresters including Holmes Rolston Robin Attfield Lawrence Johnson Michael McDonald Paul Wood James E Coufal Raymond Craig Kristin Shrader Frechette Jeff DeBonis Jim L Bowyer Alasdair Gunn Goug Gaigle Alan G McQuillan Stephanie Kaza Alan Dregson Duncan Taylor and Kathleen Dean Moore Author note Peter C List is Professor of Philosophy at Oregon State University where he teaches courses on environmental ethics ethical issues in the natural resource sciences and sustainable forestry He is the author of articles on Aldo Leopold's land ethic and co author of several articles on public attitudes about federal forests and forest management published in the Journal of Forestry and Society and Natural Resources My Revision Notes: OCR A2 Religious Studies: Religious Ethics Jill

Re-visioning Science Education from Feminist Perspectives, 2010-01-01 Women in science education are placed in a juxtaposition of gender roles and gendered career roles Using auto biography and auto ethnography this book examines the challenges and choices of academic women in science education and how those challenges have changed or remained consistent since women have become a presence in science education The book s contributors span a temporal and spatial continuum and focus on how a variety of issues relate to the paradoxes for academic women in science education Science is characterized as a masculine endeavor while teaching is described as women s true profession Thus female academics involved in science education are positioned in two paradoxes First as teachers they are involved in a feminized profession However within that profession women faculty in science education work in a discipline viewed as a masculine enterprise Further these women work in educational institutions that have higher status and prestige than their sisters in elementary middle or high schools Second female professors are bearded mothers Women who have engaged in science education value rationality and logic and assume authority as participants in academe The use of logic the acceptance of authority and the assumption of power are masculine gender stereotyped characteristics This situation places women in a paradox because others including peers and students expect them to display stereotypic female gender dispositions such as mothering nurturing sacrificing their needs for others and a commitment to the institution The topics include discussing how their engagement with science impacted their career trajectories and re direction from science to science education the relationships of cultural and racial factors on career trajectories and the dialectical relationship between women s private public lives and their agency collective and individual in the academy and its enactment within academic fields The book documents the lives and careers of academic women in science education from the United States Australia the Caribbean United Kingdom and Europe

Environmental Ethics and Policy-Making Mikael Stenmark, 2017-03-02 Environmental issues raise crucial questions What should we value What is our place in nature What kind of life should we live How should we interact with other living things Environmental management and policy making is ultimately based on answers to these and similar questions but do we need a new ethics to be able overcome the environmental crisis we face This book addresses these important questions and explores the values that decision makers often presuppose in their environmental policy making Examining the content of the ethics of sustainable development that the UN and the world s governments want us to embrace this book examines alternatives to this kind of ethics and the differences in basic values that these make in practice Offering a detailed analysis of the ethics that lie behind current policy making as it is expressed in documents such as Agenda 21 and the Rio Declaration this unique contribution to the field of environmental studies shows how different environmental ethical theories support different goals of environmental management and generate different policies when it comes to population growth agriculture and preservation and management of wilderness areas and endangered species Mikael Stenmark concludes that policy makers must take more seriously the value assumptions and conflicts connected to environmental issues and state explicitly on what values their own proposals and decisions are based and why these should be accepted Those studying environmental issues or environmental philosophy will find this accessible text invaluable in presenting a clear understanding of environmental ethics and contemporary applications and policies

Bonhoeffer's Christocentric Theology and Fundamental Debates in Environmental Ethics Steven C. van den Heuvel, 2017-05-04 There is widespread understanding of the close connection between religion and the ecological crisis and that in order to amend this crisis theological resources are needed This monograph seeks to contribute to this endeavor by engaging the theology of Dietrich Bonhoeffer His theology is particularly suitable in this context due to its open ended nature and to the prophetic and radical nature of the questions he was prepared to ask that is why there are many other attempts to contextualize Bonhoeffer s theology in areas that he himself has not directly written about In this monograph Steven van den Heuvel first of all addresses the question of how to translate Bonhoeffer s theology in a methodologically sound way He settles on a modified form of the general method of correlation Then secondly van den Heuvel sets out to describe five major concepts in Bonhoeffer s work bringing these into critical interplay with discussions in environmental ethics and eco theology In making the correlations he thoroughly describes each concept situating it in the historic and intellectual background of Bonhoeffer s time He then transposes these concepts to contemporary environmental ethics describing what contribution Bonhoeffer s theology can make
