Mey, 1998 Revolution in Military Affairs Elinor Camille Sloan, Raoul-Dandurand Chair of Strategic and Diplomatic Studies, 2002 The campaign in Afghanistan the Gulf war and Kosovo show how advances in information technology are driving a high tech revolution in military affairs RMA This text outlines elements of the RMA and examines efforts of the US and NATO Military Affairs Catalog United States. Superintendent of Documents, 2000 Law, Science, Liberalism, and the American Way of Warfare Stephanie Carvin, Michael John Williams, 2015 Founded and rooted in Enlightenment values the United States is caught between two conflicting imperatives when it comes to war achieving perfect security through the annihilation of threats and a requirement to conduct itself in a liberal and humane manner In order to reconcile these often clashing requirements the US has often turned to its scientists and laboratories to find strategies and weapons that are both decisive and humane In effect a modern faith in science and technology to overcome life's problems has been utilized to create a distinctly American Way of Warfare Carvin and Williams provide a framework to understand the successes and failures of the US in the wars it has fought since the days of the early Republic through to the War on Terror It is the first book of its kind to combine a study of technology law and liberalism in American warfare Military Transformation and Strategy Bernard Loo, 2008-08-21 This book explores the idea of a revolution in military affairs RMA which underpins the transformational agenda of the US military and examines its implications for smaller states The strategic studies literature on the RMA tends to be American centric and directed towards the strategic problems of the US military This volume seeks to fill the gap in the literature and establish an intellectual framework that can assist other smaller powers in their respective approaches to this issue The book does so in three main sections Part I focuses on questions of transformations in strategy and war Part II explores transformations in operations while Part III examines possible impediments to an RMA This book will be of much interest to students of Military Studies Asian Studies Strategic Studies and International Relations in general All Possible Wars? Sam J. Tangredi, 2000 This survey is a product of the Quadrennial Defense Review QDR 2001 Working Group a project of the Institute for National

Strategic Studies at the National Defense University Sponsored by the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff the working group is an independent honest broker effort intended to build intellectual capital for the upcoming QDR More specifically it aims to frame issues develop options and provide insights for the Chairman the services and the next administration in three areas defense strategy criteria for sizing conventional forces and force structure for 2005 2010 One of the group s initial tasks was to assess the future security environment to the year 2025 This was pursued by surveying the available literature to identify areas of consensus and debate The goal was to conduct an assessment that would be far more comprehensive than any single research project or group effort could possibly produce This survey documents major areas of agreement and disagreement across a range of studies completed since the last QDR in 1997 Because it distills a variety of sources and organizes and compares divergent views this volume makes a unique contribution to the literature It also provides a particularly strong set of insights and assumptions on which both strategists and force planners can draw in the next Quadrennial Defense Review This survey does not claim to predict or illustrate all possible wars that Anmrica might face between now and the year 2025 Rather it attempts through analysis of representative and reputable sources to incorporate the most likely characteristics of the future security environment into a single scenario while heightening our awareness of dissenting viewpoints and plausible wild cards

Critical Reflections on Security and Change Stuart Croft,Terry Terriff,2013-02-01 The contributors reflect critically on security studies since the 1980s They conclude that analysts and policy makers have not been able to respond well to the changes that have occurred and that they must revise their approach if they are to meet the challenges of the future Strategic Review ,1996 dedicated to the advancement and understanding of those principles and practices military and political which serve the vital security interests of the United States

Launching Into Cyberspace Marcus F. Franda,2002 Franda government and politics U of Maryland examines the extent to which Internet development has taken place in Africa the Middle East Asia Eurasia and Central and Eastern Europe His focus is on the impact of the Internet on international relations He discusses in detail the different ways each region has reacted to the spread of the global Internet and the consequences of these reactions for international relationships c Book News Inc

Mind the gap promoting a transatlantic revolution in military affairs ,1999 When American defense officials meet informally with their allies and friends from other North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries the conversation often turns to the growing disparity in combat capability between European and U S forces The problem is bemoaned but the participants are not stirred to action This is unfortunate We need a cross Atlantic debate that seeks feasible solutions to this problem Mind the Gap responds directly to that need It not only dissects the problem of a growing disparity but also rejects its inevitability Instead it lays out a multitiered strategy for its solution which is specific and practical including processes and procedures for implementation The proposed strategy is complicated and would be difficult to execute it would raise questions and even objections That is as it should be The alliance nevertheless has solved larger more complex problems We urgently need to find a way to close the gap because the problem is getting worse The United States continues to implement its vision of a globally mobile military force equipped with the latest technology The European members of NATO are not investing in similar capabilities As a result the gap will widen and be increasingly difficult to close

Armed Conflict in the 21st Century: The Information Revolution and Post-Modern Warfare , NATO for a New Century Carl C. Hodge, 2002-10-30 NATO s military interventions in the Balkans have transformed the alliance As the alliance goes East its members are compelled to rethink NATO s and each member nation s military and political roles Providing a well rounded study of continuing change in the contemporary North Atlantic Treaty Organization this book is constructed around eight essays by European security experts analyzing challenges confronting the Atlantic Alliance as a military alliance and as a collective security organization dealing simultaneously with deterrence enlargement and regional crisis intervention It is intended for senior undergraduate and graduate students in international relations American foreign policy European studies security and strategic studies The evidence is that NATO will undergo many more changes responding to actual and potential threats to Europe s peace These range from a revival of the ethnic conflict in the former Yugoslavia to the proliferation and possible use of nuclear biological and chemical weapons Also discussed is the matter of NATO s further enlargement and the question of whether this offers more or less security to the alliance membership as are the emerging tensions between the EU and NATO security regimes

The Lessons and Non-Lessons of the Air and Missile Campaign in Kosovo Anthony H. Cordesman, 2001-08-30 The conclusion of a war typically signals the beginning of a flood of memoirs and instant campaign histories many presenting the purported but often dubious lessons of the recent conflict Cordesman is careful to avoid such pitfalls in this detailed and closely reasoned analysis and helps us to begin to understand the implications of this dramatic conflict on its own terms Based on a combination of official and unofficial but always authoritative sources he builds a thorough case for the true lessons of NATO's first battle fought within Europe. After consideration of the historical major political and strategic factors that set the stage for the Kosovo campaign, Cordesman critically examines the actual effectiveness of the NATO air campaigns both in Kosovo and Serbia. Proper operations in this rugged part of Europe were difficult and compounding the challenges of terrain and weather were the conflicting national agendas within the Allied coalition that seriously hampered focused and decisive action by NATO. Although Milosevic ultimately conceded defeat, all of these factors played an important role in limiting the intensity and shaping the military outcome of the campaign and the likely political and strategic results were far from certain. Cordesman unflinchingly concludes that the air campaign over Kosovo exposed deep fault lines within and among the NATO countries and fundamental flaws in the way the West wages war. U.S. Army War College Guide to Strategy Joseph R. Cerami, James F. Holcomb, 2001. For more than 3 decades the U.S. Army War College USAWC Department of National Security and Strategy has faced the challenge of educating future strategic leaders on the subject of national security or grand strategy. Fitting at the top of an officer's or government official's career-long professional development program, this challenge has been to design a course on strategy that incorporates its many facets in a short period of time. All within the 1-year senior service college curriculum. To do this, a conceptual approach has provided the framework to think about strategy formulation. The purpose of this volume is to present the USAWC strategy formulation model to students and practitioners. This book serves as a guide to one method for the formulation analysis and study of strategy, an approach which we have found to be useful in providing generations of strategists with the conceptual tools to think systematically, strategically, critically, creatively, and big. Balancing what is described in the chapters as ends, ways, and means remains at the core of the Army War College's approach to national security and military strategy and strategy formulation.
