Revolution Reform And Regionalism:

Revolution, Reform and Regionalism in Southeast Asia Ronald Bruce St John, 2006-01-16 Based on research carried out over the three decades this book compares the post war political economies of Cambodia Laos and Vietnam in the context of their individual and collective impact on contemporary efforts at regional integration The author highlights the different paths to reform taken by the three neighbours and the effect this has had on regional plans for economic development through the ASEAN and the Greater Mekong Subregion Through its comparative analysis of the reforms implemented by Cambodia Laos and Vietnam over the last thirty years the book draws attention to parallel themes of continuity and change The author discusses how the three states have demonstrated related characteristics whilst at the same time making different modifications in order to exploit the unique strengths of their individual cultures Contributing to the contemporary debate over the role of democratic reform in promoting economic development the book provides a detailed account of the political economies of three states at the heart of Southeast Asia

Developing the Mekong Evelyn Goh, 2013-01-11 In Southeast Asia China's growing economic and political strength has been accompanied by adept diplomacy and active promotion of regional cooperation institutions and integration Southeast Asian states and China engage in strategic regionalism they seek regional membership for regime legitimation and collective bargaining and regional integration to enhance economic development regarded as essential for ensuring national and regime security Sino Southeast Asian regionalism is exemplified by the development plans for the Mekong River basin where ambitious projects for building regional infrastructural linkages and trade contribute to mediating the security concerns of the Mekong countries However Mekong regionalism also generates new insecurities Developing the resources of the Mekong has led to serious challenges in terms of governance distribution and economic externalities Resource allocation and exploitation conflicts occur most obviously within the realm of water projects especially hydropower development programmes While such disputes are not likely to erupt into armed conflict because of the power asymmetry between China and the lower Mekong states they exacerbate Southeast Asian concerns about China's rise and undermine Chinese rhetoric about peaceful development But the negative security consequences of developing the Mekong are also due to the shared economic imperative and the Southeast Asian states own difficulties with collective action due to existing intramural conflicts

Ethnic Politics in Burma Ashley South, 2008-06-30 This book examines the ideas which have structured half a century of civil war in Burma and the roles which political elites and foreign networks from colonial missionaries to aid worker activists have played in mediating understandings of ethnic conflict in the country The book includes a brief overview of precolonial and colonial Burma and the emergence ethnic identity as a politically salient characteristic It describes the struggle for independence and the parliamentary era 1948-62 and the quarter century of military socialist rule that followed 1962-88 The book analyses the causes dynamics and impacts of on going armed conflict in Burma since the 1988 democracy uprising through to the 2007

saffron revolution when monks and ordinary people took to the streets in protest against the military regime There is a special focus on the plight of displaced people and the ways in which local and international agencies have responded The book also examines one of the most significant but least well understood political developments in Burma over the last twenty years the series of ceasefires agreed since 1989 between the military government and most armed ethnic groups The positive and negative impacts of the ceasefires are analysed including a study of civil society among ethnic nationality communities This analysis leads to a discussion of the nature of social and political change in Burma and a re examination of some commonly held assumptions regarding the country including issues of ethnicity and federalism The book concludes with a brief Epilogue taking account of Cyclone Nargis which struck Burma on 2 and 3 May 2008 resulting in a massive humanitarian crisis

Separatist Conflict in Indonesia Antje Missbach, 2017-05-31 This book describes analyses and interprets more than thirty years of long distance politics exercised by the Acehnese diaspora and the diasporans attempts to influence Aceh s homeland developments in the lead up to during and after the internal conflict that afflicted the region between 1976 and 2005

Brunei - History, Islam, Society and Contemporary Issues Ooi Keat Gin, 2015-12-14 Brunei although a relatively small state is disproportionately important on account of its rich resource base In addition in recent years the country has endeavoured to play a greater role in regional affairs especially through ASEAN holding the chair of the organisation in 2013 and also beyond the region fostering diplomatic political economic and educational ties with many nations This book presents much new research and new thinking on a wide range of issues concerning Brunei largely drawn from Bruneian academics Subjects covered include Brunei s rich history the sultanate formerly had much more extensive territories and was a key player in regional affairs the country s economy politics society and ethnicities and resource issues and international relations

Christianity, Islam, and Nationalism in Indonesia Charles E. Farhadian, 2005 As the largest Muslim country in the world Indonesia is marked by an extraordinary diversity in language ancestry culture religion and ways of life Christianity Islam and Nationalism in Indonesia focuses on the Christian Dani of West Papua providing a social and ethnographic history of the most important indigenous population in the troubled province It presents a fascinating overview of the Dani s conversion to Christianity examining the social religious and political uses to which they have put their new religion While its indigenous population is Papuan and its dominant religions are Christianity and animism West Papua contains a growing number of Papuan Muslims Farhadian provides the first study of this highland Papuan group in an urban context which helps distinguish it from the typical highland Papuan ethnography Incorporating cultural and structural approaches the book affords a fascinating insight into the complex relationship between Christianity Islam and nationalism

Social Democracy in East Timor Rebecca Strating, 2015-10-05 Since the end of the Cold War considerable scholarly debates have been devoted to the nature and scope of international state building interventions in fragile post colonial states and their effectiveness in instituting democratic rule By examining the construction of political institutions in

East Timor this book highlights the relationship between the social and political realms during these processes Focusing on the roles of East Timorese leaders and civil society organisations during the independence movement it analyses the effectiveness of democracy building in East Timor It examines the processes of drafting the new constitution establishing key political institutions such as the electoral system and articulating a new vision of citizenship and social justice The book argues that East Timor offers a relatively successful case of democratic transition enabled by a consistent set of goals and aspirations grassroots political legitimacy and participation and the development of a democratic civil nation Offering a coherent argument for why democracy has been successful in East Timor and the roles of political leaders and civil society during democratic transition this book will be of interest to those studying Southeast Asian Politics International Politics and Democracy

Expressions of Cambodia Leakthina Chau-Pech Ollier,Tim Winter,2006-10-19 Taking a theoretical and multidisciplinary perspective the essays in this collection provide compelling insight into contemporary Cambodian culture at home and abroad The book represents the first sustained exploration of the relationship between cultural productions and practices the changing urban landscape and the construction of identity and nation building twenty five years after the fall of the Khmer Rouge regime As such the team of international contributors address the politics of development and conservation tradition and modernity within the global economy and trans migratory movements of the twenty first century Expressions of Cambodia presents a new dimension to the Cambodian studies by engaging the country in current debates about globalization and the commodification of culture post colonial politics and identity constructions Timely and much needed this volume brings Cambodia back into dialogue with its neighbours and in so doing valuably contributes to the growing field of Southeast Asian cultural studies

Adolescents in Contemporary Indonesia Lyn Parker,Pam Nilan,2013-07-18 The youth demographic is a large and growing cohort in Indonesia and adolescents embody the currents of social change Throughout the twentieth century they were significant agents of social protest leading to social and political transformation This book looks at the importance of adolescents in contemporary Indonesia and how they are spearheading not just globalisation and a growing consumer youth culture but also the Islamisation movement The book explores both the inner worlds and social selves of Indonesian adolescents It presents an in depth knowledge of Indonesian society and culture in various parts of Indonesia and discusses national patterns and trends Grounded in two field sites the book enables an analysis of young people s local ethnic and religious identities and their commitment to the Indonesian nation state It goes on to look at the physical age bracket of youth the definitions used by the Indonesian state and other agencies and the perceptions of youth themselves about adolescence and adulthood Providing a comprehensive study of young people in contemporary Indonesia the book addresses gender relations the importance of education for youth and youth engagement with popular culture and the moral issue concerning the sexual propriety of young people It is a useful contribution for students and academics of Asian Studies Sociology and Cultural Studies

Communal Violence and Democratization in Indonesia Gerry van Klinken, 2007-01-24 Through close scrutiny of empirical materials and interviews this book uniquely analyzes all the episodes of long running widespread communal violence that erupted during Indonesia's post New Order transition. Indonesia democratized after the long and authoritarian New Order regime ended in May 1998. But the transition was far less peaceful than is often thought. It claimed about 10 000 lives in communal, ethnic and religious violence and nearly as many as that again in separatist violence in Aceh and East Timor. Taking a comprehensive look at the communal violence that arose after the New Order regime, this book will be of interest to students of Southeast Asian studies, social movements, political violence and ethnicity.

Southeast Asia and the Cold War Albert Lau, 2012-07-26 The origins and the key defining moments of the Cold War in Southeast Asia have been widely debated. This book focuses on an area that has received less attention: the impact and legacy of the Cold War on the various countries in the region as well as on the region itself. The book contributes to the historiography of the Cold War in Southeast Asia by examining not only how the conflict shaped the milieu in which national and regional change unfolded but also how the context influenced the course and tenor of the Cold War in the region. It goes on to look at the usefulness or limitations of using the Cold War as an interpretative framework for understanding change in Southeast Asia. Chapters discuss how the Cold War had a varied but notable impact on the countries in Southeast Asia, not only on the mainland countries belonging to what the British Foreign Office called the upper arc but also on those situated on its maritime lower arc. The book is an important contribution to the fields of Asian Studies and International Relations.

Human Trafficking in Colonial Vietnam Micheline Lessard, 2015-04-24 Examining the widespread phenomenon of human trafficking in Vietnam during the period of French colonial rule, this book focuses on the practice of kidnapping or stealing Vietnamese women and children for sale in Chinese markets from the 1870s through to the 1940s. The book brings to light the fact that human trafficking between Vietnam and China existed prior to more contemporary instances of this trade. It provides information as to the perpetrators, the nature and the scope of this illicit commerce and its impact on the lives of its victims, who were mainly domestic servants, concubines or prostitutes. The book also examines the ways in which French colonial actors, missionaries, administrators, military officers, adventurers and observers and consuls reported, described and reacted to it and goes on to analyse the impact of human trafficking on the concept of French prestige and on the French colonial project in Vietnam. Human trafficking in colonial Vietnam illustrates the tensions and the conflicts not only between the French and the Vietnamese but also between the Vietnamese and the Chinese as well as between the colonies and the French colonial administration and between the colonial and metropolitan governments. The book will be of interest to students and scholars of Southeast Asian History, Colonial History and Criminology.

Community, Environment and Local Governance in Indonesia Carol Warren, John F. McCarthy, 2012-09-10 This book explores the forces reconfiguring local resource governance in Indonesia since 1998, drawing together original field research undertaken in a decade of dramatic political change. Case studies from across Indonesia's diverse cultural and ecological landscapes focus on the most significant resource sectors agriculture fisheries forestry mining and tourism providing a rare in depth view of the dynamics shaping social and environmental outcomes in these varied contexts Debates surrounding the tragedy of the commons and environmental governance have focused on institutional considerations of how to craft resource management arrangements in order to further the policy objectives of economic efficiency social equity and environmental sustainability The studies in this volume reveal the complexity of resource security issues affecting local communities and user groups in Indonesia as they engage with wider institutional frameworks in a context driven simultaneously by decentralizing and globalizing forces Through ground up investigations of how local groups with different cultural backgrounds and resource bases are responding to the greater autonomy afforded by Indonesia s new political constellation the authors appraise the prospects for rearticulating governance regimes toward a more equitable and sustainable commonweal This volume offers valuable insights into questions of import to scholars as well as policy makers concerned with decentralized governance and sustainable resource management

Conflict Resolution and Peacebuilding in Laos

Stephanie Phetsamay Stobbe, 2015-06-19 Using the case study of Laos a small landlocked country in Southeast Asia that has seen some of the world s most brutal forms of poverty and violence this book examines the power of traditional and indigenous conflict resolution systems as a tool for social justice It explores how the conflict resolution mechanisms build infrastructures that support social harmony and address larger scale conflicts within communities nations and international arenas The book discusses how over centuries foreign powers have polarised and used the ethnic groups of Laos to support their own agendas and how in spite of this the Lao people have consistently managed to recreate the peace and harmony that support their social relationships whether that is within groups or between many distinct groups Through the development and use of appropriate grassroots conflict resolution structures that do not require a formal court system and exists outside the political arena they have been successful in resolving conflicts within and across cultural groups The book shows that the conflict resolution systems of Laos are embedded in the fabric of ordinary everyday life and operate independently of the hierarchical structures that dominate governing institutions Highlighting how peace continues to work its way into existence through elaborate mediation systems and rituals that bring people together this book will be of use to students and scholars of Southeast Asian Politics Peace Studies and War and Conflict Studies

Financial Fragility and Instability in Indonesia

Yasuyuki Matsumoto, 2007-01-24 This highly relevant study provides an incisive analysis of a critical phase in recent East Asian financial history exploring the underlying causes of the financial crisis that struck Indonesia during the second half of 1997 Matsumoto s extensive commercial experience in Indonesian finance during these critical years allows him to skilfully argue that the roots of the crisis lay in the period of capital liberalization undertaken during the boom years from 1994 to 1997 which encouraged the development of fragile and unstable financial structures involving increased corporate leverage reliance on external debt and the introduction of riskier and more complicated financial instruments and transactions In depth fieldwork data and four detailed case studies illuminate the microeconomic foundations of the crisis showing how Indonesian capitalists sought to liquidate their Indonesian assets without losing control of their corporate empires by taking advantage of increased access to foreign loans and complex financial re engineering actions which ultimately precipitated instability and crisis throughout the entire financial system Finally it reflects upon the policy implications of this episode putting forward the case for comprehensive capital controls for open and developing economies until they establish appropriate financial institutions to monitor and manage the level of indebtedness and the volatility of capitalists behaviour

Urbanization in Vietnam Gisele Bousquet, 2015-09-16 Most studies on urbanisation focus on the move of rural people to cities and the impact this has both on the cities to which the people have moved and on the rural communities they have left This book on the other hand considers the impact on rural communities of the physical expansion of cities Based on extensive original research over a long period in one settlement a rural commune which over the course of the last two decades has become engulfed by Hanoi s urban spread the book explores what happens when village people become urbanites or city dwellers when agriculture is abandoned population density rises the value of land increases people have to make a living in the city and the dynamics of family life including gender relations are profoundly altered This book charts these developments over time and sets urbanisation in Vietnam in the wider context of urbanisation in Southeast Asia and Asia more generally

Party Politics in Southeast Asia Dirk Tomsa, Andreas Ufen, 2013 Contributing to the growing discourse on political parties in Asia this book looks at parties in Southeast Asia s most competitive electoral democracies of Indonesia Thailand and the Philippines It highlights the diverse dynamics of party politics in the region and provides new insights into organizational structures mobilizational strategies and the multiple dimensions of linkages between political parties and their voters The book focuses on the prominence of clientelistic practices and strategies both within parties as well as between parties and their voters It demonstrates that clientelism is extremely versatile and can take many forms ranging from traditional personalized relationships between a patron and a client to the modern reincarnations of broker driven network clientelism that is often based on more anonymous relations The book also discusses how contemporary political parties often combine clientelistic practices with more formal patterns of organization and communication thus raising questions about neat analytical dichotomies Straddling the intersection between political science and area studies this book is of interest to students and scholars of contemporary Southeast Asian politics and political scientists and Asian Studies specialists with a broader research interest in comparative democratization studies

Culture, Religion and Conflict in Muslim Southeast Asia Joseph Camilleri, Sven Schottmann, 2012-11-12 By examining the sometimes surprising and unexpected roles that culture and religion have played in mitigating or exacerbating conflicts this book explores the cultural repertoires from which Southeast Asian political actors have drawn to negotiate the pluralism that has so long been characteristic of the region Focusing on the dynamics of identity politics and the range of responses to the socio political challenges of religious and ethnic pluralism the authors assembled in this book illuminate the principal regional discourses that attempt to make sense of conflict and tensions They examine local notions of dialogue reconciliation civility and conflict resolution and show how varying interpretations of these terms have informed the responses of different social actors across Southeast Asia to the challenges of conflict culture and religion The book demonstrates how stumbling blocks to dialogue and reconciliation can and have been overcome in different parts of Southeast Asia and identifies a range of actors who might be well placed to make useful contributions propose remedies and initiate action towards negotiating the region's pluralism This book provides a much needed regional and comparative analysis that makes a significant contribution to a better understanding of the interfaces between region and politics in Southeast Asia

Democratization in Post-Suharto Indonesia

Marco Bunte, Andreas Ufen, 2008-08-21 In May 1998 the fall of Suharto marked the beginning of a difficult and multi layered transition process It was accompanied by intensified conflict in the political arena a dramatic increase of ethnic and religious violence and the danger of national disintegration Ten years after the collapse of the New Order Indonesia has made significant progress however the quality of democracy is still low Theoretically innovative and empirically sound this book is an in depth analysis of the Indonesian reform process since 1998 Marco Bunte and Andreas Ufen bring together a selection of noted Indonesia experts to provide new insights into the restructuring of core state institutions the empowerment of Parliament the slow and difficult evolution of the rule of law and the transfer of power to locally elected regional governments decentralization Based on the results of extensive fieldwork Democratization in Post Suharto Indonesia will be an important read for scholars engaged in research on Indonesia and the politics of Southeast Asia

The Technological State in Indonesia Sulfikar Amir, 2012-11-12 Using a historical sociology approach this book illustrates the formation of the technological state in Indonesia during the New Order period 1966-1998 It explores the nexus between power high technology development and authoritarianism situated in the Southeast Asian context The book discusses how the New Order regime shifted from the developmental state to the technological state which was characterized by desire for technological supremacy The process resulted in the establishment of a host of technological institutions and the undertaking of large scale high tech programs Shedding light on the political dimension of socio technological transformation this book looks at the relationship between authoritarian politics and high technology development and examines how effectively technology serves to sustain legitimacy of an authoritarian power It explores into multiple features of the Indonesian technological state covering the ideology of development the politics of technocracy the institutional structure and the material and symbolic embodiments of high technology and goes on to discuss the impact of globalization on the technological state The book is an important contribution to studies on Southeast Asian Politics Development and Science Technology and Society STS
