Students in seminary or graduate theology programs learn that some books in the Bible are anonymous. Their professors will make the point that many Pauline letters have disputed authorship and may in fact not be written by Paul. Students will also learn about the practice of pseudonymity in the world of the Bible and how some Gospels or letters are written under a false name. Now for those who become pastors or church leaders, what are they to do with what they learn? Do they teach their congregants about these authorship questions? Do they ignore that part of their training as irrelevant to the task? Do they avoid teaching or reading publicly from disputed books? Do these questions not matter in the end because the church settled on the canon? This book aims to address these pastoral challenges. An international group of scholars from universities, seminaries, and graduate theology programs convened to discuss these matters at the Lanier Theological Library in May 2022. These essays represent how many faculty are wrestling with the pastoral implications of anonymity and pseudonymity in the New Testament.

An Experiment on the Word Adam Miller, 2011-09

This book is based on a novel idea: that Mormons do theology. Doing theology is different from weighing history, deciding doctrine, or inspiring devotion. Theology speculates. It experiments with questions and advances hypotheses. It tests new angles and pulls loose threads. It reads old texts in careful and creative ways. Theology in this sense is not an institutional practice. It has no force beyond the charity it demonstrates and it decides no questions beyond what the Brethren have settled. It is the work of individuals who for its own sake want to see what ideas about Mormonism may at least for a time fly. The Mormon Theology Seminar aims to promote such work. The Seminar is both unofficial and independent. It is scholarly in orientation and cooperative in practice. It focuses on organizing short-term seminar-style collaborations that over the span of a few months of intense discussion consider specific questions about Mormon theology through close readings of basic Mormon texts. This book makes public the papers that resulted from one such seminar. The result: A collective consideration on the relationship between faith and the word in Alma 32.

2016 Best Religious Non fiction Award Association for Mormon Letters Our scripture study and reading often assume that the prophetic figures within the texts are in complete agreement with each other Because of this we can fail to recognize that those authors and personalities frequently have different and sometimes competing views on some of the most important doctrines of the Gospel including the nature of God the roles of scripture and prophecy and the Atonement In this unique volume fictionalized dialogues between the various voices of scripture illustrate how these differences and disagreements are not flaws of the texts but are rather essential features of the canon These creative dialogues include Abraham and Job debating the utility of suffering and our submission to God Alma and Abinidi disagreeing on the place of justice in the Atonement and the authors Mark and Luke discussing the role of women in Jesus s ministry It is by examining and embracing the different perspectives within the canon that readers are able to discover just how rich and invigorating the scriptures can be The dialogues within this volume show how just as iron sharpeneth iron so can we sharpen our own thoughts and beliefs as we engage not just the various voices in the scriptures but also the various voices within our community Proverbs 27 17
