Church: the Story of Early Christianity R. John Kinkel, 2008-09-29 Christianity is the largest religion in the world with approximately 2.1 billion adherents. Nonetheless, when measured by the gold standard of early Christian teachings and practice, we find considerable slippage. Two words describe current church problems and failures: dull and devious. At the highest levels of Catholic leadership, for example, we find scandals galore. Top officials pilfer 40 million in Detroit to build national shrines. Cardinals and bishops cover up priest sexual abuse, and the pope most recently ignores high-ranking bishops and cardinals' pleas to allow Catholics to use condoms to prevent the spread of HIV/AIDS. That is the devious part. At the lower end of the totem pole are priests and laity that just don't get it. They say their prayers, go to mass, and have their baptisms; they wonder why their kids don't go to church any more. Not enough priests. We will close the small churches and build a mega church. One small city in Wisconsin, pop. 40,000, did this at the cost of 12 million. Care to measure the cost of celibacy? Pay, pray, and obey is the mantra, and the young people don't like it. Little wonder that only 1 in 3 Christians practice their faith to any appreciable degree and fail to pass religious traditions on to the next generation. Instead of going after the lost sheep, the pope says maybe we need a small, dedicated remnant of believers. Interesting strategy when you have driven the sheep away with questionable policies: no women priests, no married priests, no condoms to fight AIDS.

Pastor Paul (Theological Explorations for the Church Catholic) Scot McKnight, 2019-09-03 Being a pastor is a complicated calling. Pastors are often pulled in multiple directions and must become all things to all people. 1 Cor 9:22. What does the New Testament say or not say about the pastoral calling? And what can we learn about it from the apostle Paul? According to popular New Testament scholar Scot McKnight, pastoring must begin first and foremost with spiritual formation, which plays a vital role in the life and ministry of the pastor. As leaders, pastors both create and nurture culture in a church. The biblical vision for that culture is Christoformity or Christlikeness. Grounding pastoral ministry in the pastoral praxis of the apostle Paul, McKnight shows that nurturing Christoformity was at the heart of the Pauline mission. The pastor's central calling, then, is to mediate Christ in everything. McKnight explores seven dimensions that illustrate this concept: friendship, siblings, generosity, storytelling, witness, subverting the world, and wisdom. As he calls pastors to be conformed to Christ and to nurture a culture of Christoformity in their churches.
