Surviving the Unthinkable Janice Bell Meisenhelder, 2017-01-21 Few people understand the grief that comes with losing a child unless they have weathered that situation themselves Dr Janice Bell Meisenhelder has suffered through the loss of a child and knows the almost unbearable sorrow a bereaved mother feels She has created this gentle guide to help mothers deal with their emotions and begin to heal Her guide starts by describing the initial reactions to loss She shows you the rhythms of grief and the basic emotions you will feel right after the event She then moves on to handling anger guilt envy and anxiety As time passes Meisenhelder warns about triggers and shows mothers how to handle holidays birthdays and family events She offers advice on how to heal spiritually as well as emotionally Meisenhelder also prepares you for tsunami days when the loss suddenly hits you all over again She guides you through these days and on to the second and third year without your child She encourages you to find ways to honor your child In addition to guidance for mothers Surviving the Unthinkable also contains information for those immediate family and friends who want to understand and support their loved ones during this difficult time Beyond Tears Carol Barkin, Ellen Mitchell, 2005-02 Nine mothers who lost a child and met in a support group give comfort and direction to bereaved parents in a chorus of supportive voices

After the Death of a Child Ann K. Finkbeiner, 2012-12-11 For a parent losing a child is the most devastating event that can occur Most books on the subject focus on grieving and recovery but as most parents agree there is no recovery from such a loss This book examines the continued love parents feel for their child and the many poignant and ingenious ways they devise to preserve the bond Through detailed profiles of parents Ann Finkbeiner shows how new activities and changed relationships with their spouse friends and other children can all help parents preserve a bond with the lost child Based on extensive interviews and grief research Finkbeiner explains how parents have changed five to twenty five years after the deaths of their children The first half of the book discusses the short and long term effects of the child's death on the parent's relationships with the outside world that is with their spouses other children friends and relatives The second half of the book details the effect on the parents internal world their continuing sense of guilt their need to place the death in some larger context and their inability sometimes to consistently do so their new set of priorities the nature of their bond with the lost child and the subtle and creative ways they have of continuing that bond Finkbeiner's central point is not so much how parents grieve for their children but how they love them Refusing to fall back on pop jargon about recovery or to offer easy solutions or standardized timelines Finkbeiner's is a genuine and moving search to come to terms with loss Her complex profiles of parents resonate with the honesty and authenticity of uncomfortable emotions expressed and most importantly shared with others experiencing a similar loss Finally each profile exemplifies the many heroic ways parents learn to live with their pain and by so doing honor the lives their children should have lived Tragedy and Trust Thom Vines, 2011-02
