Two Years in the Pontifical Zouaves Joseph Powell (of the Pontifical Zouaves.), 1871 Two Years in the Pontifical Zouaves ... Joseph Powell, 1871 Crime Control and Everyday Life in the Victorian City David Churchill, 2017

The history of modern crime control is usually presented as a narrative of how the state wrested control over the governance of crime from the civilian public. Most accounts trace the decline of a participatory discretionary culture of crime control in the early modern era and its replacement by a centralized bureaucratic system of responding to offending. The formation of the new professional police forces in the nineteenth century is central to this narrative; henceforth it is claimed the priorities of criminal justice were to be set by the state as ordinary people lost what authority they had once exercised over dealing with offenders. This book challenges this established view and presents a fundamental reinterpretation of changes to crime control in the age of the new police. It breaks new ground by providing a highly detailed empirical analysis of everyday crime control in Victorian provincial cities, revealing the tremendous activity which ordinary people displayed in responding to crime alongside a rich survey of police organization and policing in practice. With unique conceptual clarity it seeks to reorient modern criminal justice history away from its established preoccupation with state systems of policing and punishment and move towards a more nuanced analysis of the governance of crime. More widely the book provides a unique and valuable vantage point from which to rethink the role of civil society and the state in modern governance, the nature of agency and authority in Victorian England and the historical antecedents of pluralized modes of crime control which characterize contemporary society.

Essays and English Traits by Ralph Waldo Emerson Ralph Waldo Emerson, 2010-01-01

Originally published between 1909 and 1917 under the name Harvard Classics, this stupendous 51-volume set, a collection of the greatest writings from literature, philosophy, history, and mythology, was assembled by American academic CHARLES WILLIAM ELIOT (1834-1926), Harvard University's longest-serving president. Also known as Dr. Eliot's Five Foot Shelf, it represented Eliot's belief that a basic liberal education could be gleaned by reading from an anthology of works that could fit on five feet of bookshelf. Volume V features two collections from American poet and philosopher RALPH WALDO EMERSON (1803-1882): Essays on such topics as The American Scholar, Self-Reliance, Friendship, Heroism, and more; and English Traits in which he examines the British character as gathered from his travels in England.
