The Cambridge History of Russian Literature Charles Moser, 1992-04-30 An updated edition of this comprehensive narrative history first published in 1989 incorporating a new chapter on the latest developments in Russian literature and additional bibliographical information The individual chapters are by well known specialists and provide chronological coverage from the medieval period on giving particular attention to the nineteenth and twentieth centuries and including extensive discussion of works written outside the Soviet Union The book is accessible to students and non specialists as well as to scholars of literature and provides a wealth of information Russian Literature from Pushkin to the Present Day Richard Hare, 2021-06-15 This book first published in 1947 examines the truly vital and enduring qualities of the leading Russian writers as literature and as interesting documents of phases of Russian history This is one of the most striking features of Russian literature since Pushkin it treated artistically social and political issues that in the more prosperous and stable Western world were dealt with through journalism mainly This book analyses Russian literature's propensity for providing reassurance and guidance to withstand the harsher elements of Russian society by examining some of its leading writers

The Evolution of Space in Russian Literature Katharina Hansen Löve, 1994 This book is concerned with the literary development of the narrative category of space in Russian literature from Romanticism until Modernism It consists of two parts The theoretical introduction renders a survey of some major 20th century theories on literary development in the tradition of Russian Formalism and Czech Structuralism A critical discussion is given of the cultural and stylistic typologies of the soviet scholar D Lichacev and the semiotician I Smirnov Furthermore the ideas on literary space as they were developed by two important representatives of the Moscow Tartu School of Semiotics Ju Lotman and V Toporov are described together with the method of literary analysis they offer The contents of the second part of the book are analyses of the structure of space in the following narrative works Mcyri by M Ju Lermontov Nevskij prospekt by N V Gogol Oblomov by I A Goncarov V tolpe by F Sologub and Kotlovan by A Platonov The analyses are accompanied by an interpretation of the story based on the spatial details in the text It appears that both continuity and change characterize the development of literary space This two fold nature of the evolutionary process comes to the fore through recurrence of spatial archetypes in all the periods under discussion and through ambivalence of meaning as a result of the semiotization of literary space in each literary work

An Anthology of Jewish-Russian Literature Maxim Shrayer, 2015-03-26 This definitive anthology gathers stories essays memoirs excerpts from novels and poems by more than 130 Jewish writers of the past two centuries who worked in the Russian language It features writers of the tsarist Soviet and post Soviet periods both in Russia and in the great emigrations representing styles and artistic movements from Romantic to Postmodern The authors include figures who are not widely known today as well as writers of world renown Most of the works appear here for the first time in English or in new translations The editor of the anthology Maxim D Shrayer of Boston College is a leading authority on Jewish Russian literature The selections were chosen not simply on the basis of the author's background but because each work illuminates questions of Jewish history status and identity Each author is profiled in an essay describing the personal cultural and historical circumstances in which the writer worked and individual works or groups of works are headnoted to provide further context The anthology not only showcases a wide selection of individual works but also offers an encyclopedic history of Jewish Russian culture This handsome two volume set is organized chronologically The first volume spans the nineteenth century and the first part of the twentieth century and includes the editor's extensive introduction to the Jewish Russian literary canon. The second volume covers the period from the death of Stalin to the present and each volume includes a corresponding survey of Jewish Russian history by John D. Klier of University College London as well as detailed bibliographies of historical and literary sources. The Chinese

Translation of Russian Literature Mark Gamsa, 2008. Focusing on the translation and translators of Boris Savinkov, Mikhail Artsybashev and Leonid Andreev, this book explores the processes of the translation, transmission and interpretation of Russian literature in China during the first half of the 20th century. A History of Russian Literature Kazimierz

Waliszewski, 1915. Anthology of Russian Literature Leo Wiener, 2001-05. This is Volume one of a two-volume set. The time is not far off when the Russian language will occupy the same place in the curriculum of American universities that it now does in those of Germany, France and Sweden. A tongue that is spoken by more than one hundred million people and that encompasses one half of the Northern Hemisphere in itself invites the attention of the curious and the scholar. It is the purpose of this Anthology, originally published in 1902, to render a concise yet sufficient account of Russian literature in its totality to give to the English reader who is not acquainted with any other language than his own a biographical, critical and bibliographical sketch of every important author, to offer representative extracts of what there is best in the language in such a manner as to give a correct idea of the evolution of Russian literature from its remotest time. Russian Literature

Andrew Baruch Wachtel, Ilya Vinitsky, 2013-05-08. For most English-speaking readers, Russian literature consists of a small number of individual writers: nineteenth-century masters such as Dostoevsky, Tolstoy and Turgenev, or a few well-known works: Chekhov's plays, Brodsky's poems and perhaps Master and Margarita and Doctor Zhivago from the twentieth century. The medieval period as well as the brilliant tradition of Russian lyric poetry from the eighteenth century to the present are almost completely terra incognita, as are the complex prose experiments of Nikolai Gogol, Nikolai Leskov, Andrei Belyi and Andrei Platonov. Furthermore, those writers who have made an impact are generally known outside of the contexts in which they wrote and in which their work has been received. In this engaging book, Andrew Baruch Wachtel and Ilya Vinitsky provide a comprehensive, conceptually challenging history of Russian literature, including prose, poetry and drama. Each of the ten chapters deals with a bounded time period from medieval Russia to the present. In a number of cases, chapters overlap chronologically, thereby allowing a given period to be seen in more than one context. To tell the story of each period, the authors provide an introductory essay touching on the highpoints of its development and then concentrate on one biography, one literary or cultural event and one literary work which serve as prisms through which the main outlines of a given period's development can be discerned. Although the focus is on literature, individual works, lives and events are placed in broad historical context as well as in the framework of parallel developments in Russian art and music. 25 Years of Soviet Russian Literature (1918-1943) Gleb Struve, 2021-06-15. This book, first published in 1944, is a comprehensive survey of post-revolutionary Russian literature up to the early 1940s. A huge range of writers are examined and the analysis is made in the knowledge of the sometimes considerable pressure brought by the Government on writers in Soviet Russia Links are made by the author between the writers being assessed as well as to the Russian writers that had come before them As a wide ranging analysis of Soviet literature this book has rarely been bettered Russian Literature and Psychoanalysis Daniel Rancour-Laferriere,1989-01-01 This is a collection of psychoanalytical essays on a broad spectrum of well known Russian authors such as Puskin Dostoevsky Gogol Belyj Tjutcev Axmatova and Nabokov The volume includes some reprints among which a contribution by Sigmund Freud on Dostoevsky and Parricide The majority of the contributions are original publications by present day specialists in the field This is a book which may benefit literary scholars as well as professional psychoanalysts

The Poetics of Early Russian Literature D.S. Likhachev,2014-03-13 This translation of Likhachev s Poetika Drevnerusskoy Literatury The Poetics of Early Russian Literature provides a description of the basic themes of early tenth to seventeenth century Russian literature Likhachev compares literary narrative with narrative used in the representational arts Furthermore Likhachev stresses the genre based character of medieval Russian literature and shows how choice of style in medieval times depended on a genre with its own specific etiquette and how innovation was discouraged The text contrasts medieval abstraction and modern realism as Likhachev shows how realisticness gradually breaks through in specific situations such as those of princely crimes Likhachev draws contrasts in three different areas the basic stock of symbols and comparisons used in early Russian literature with those used in modern literature artistic time in folklore and early Russian literature and artistic space in folklore and early Russian literature Likhachev traces the gradual development into modern artistic time through a comparison of the chronicle the first Russian play the seventeenth century writer Avvakum and three modern authors Goncharov Dostoevsky and Saltykov Shchedrin Finally the text gives a justification for studying early literatures This book will be invaluable for students of Russian medieval and comparative literature

How Russian Literature Became Great Rolf Hellebust,2024-01-15 How Russian Literature Became Great explores the cultural and political role of a modern national literature orchestrated in a Slavonic key but resonating far beyond Russia s borders Rolf Hellebust investigates a range of literary tendencies philosophies and theories from antiquity to the present Roman jurisprudence to German Romanticism French Enlightenment to Czech Structuralism Herder to Hobsbawm Samuel Johnson to Sainte Beuve and so on Besides the usual Russian suspects from Pushkin to Chekhov Hellebust includes European writers Byron and Shelley Goethe and Schiller Chateaubriand and Baudelaire Dante Mickiewicz and more As elsewhere writing in Russia advertises itself via a canon of literary monuments constituting an atemporal ideal order among themselves T S Eliot And yet this is a tradition that could only have been born at a specific moment in the golden nineteenth century age of historiography and nation building The Russian example reveals the contradictions between immutability and innovation universality and specificity at the heart of modern conceptions of tradition from Sainte Beuve through Eliot and down to the present day The conditions of its era of formation the prominence of the crucial literary historical question of the writer's social function and the equation of literature with national identity make the Russian classical tradition the epitome of a unified cultural text with a complex narrative in which competing stories of progress and decline unfold through the symbolic biographical encounters of the authors who constitute its members How Russian Literature Became Great thus offers a new paradigm for understanding the paradoxes of modern tradition

A History of Russian Literature Andrew Kahn, Mark Naumovich Lipovetskiĭ, Irina Reyfman, Stephanie Sandler, 2018 Russia possesses one of the richest and most admired literatures of Europe reaching back to the eleventh century A History of Russian Literature provides a comprehensive account of Russian writing from its earliest origins in the monastic works of Kiev up to the present day still rife with the creative experiments of post Soviet literary life The volume proceeds chronologically in five parts extending from Kievan Rus in the 11th century to the present day The coverage strikes a balance between extensive overview and in depth thematic focus Parts are organized thematically in chapters which a number of keywords that are important literary concepts that can serve as connecting motifs and case studies in depth discussions of writers institutions and texts that take the reader up close and Visual material also underscores the interrelation of the word and image at a number of points particularly significant in the medieval period and twentieth century The History addresses major continuities and discontinuities in the history of Russian literature across all periods and in particular bring out trans historical features that contribute to the notion of a national literature The volume's time range has the merit of identifying from the early modern period a vital set of national stereotypes and popular folklore about boundaries space Holy Russia and the charismatic king that offers culturally relevant material to later writers This volume delivers a fresh view on a series of key questions about Russia's literary history by providing new mappings of literary history and a narrative that pursues key concepts rather more than individual authorial careers This holistic narrative underscores the ways in which context and text are densely woven in Russian literature and demonstrates that the most exciting way to understand the canon and the development of tradition is through a discussion of the interrelation of major and minor figures historical events and literary politics literary theory and literary innovation
