living ecologically and engaging in activism sacrifices our own enjoyment and happiness on the altar of doing the right thing In this book professor naturalist and Buddhist author Christopher Ives offers an alternative a way of living that can actually be more fulfilling than the modern consumerist lifestyle Rather than deprivation it can bring us richness In Zen Ecology Chris outlines his environmental ethic as a series of concentric circles beginning with ourselves and then moving outward into our communities all the while focusing on spaciousness mindfulness generosity and contentment At the individual level we deal with distraction clutter and ecological harm Here Chris offers ways to help us pay attention simplify our lives and lower our impact Then we explore how to envision our home as a place of the Way with Zen monastic life as a model for this without having to be a monk Next we realize our embeddedness in nature and emplace ourselves in community with others including other forms of life Finally we build on this basis to engage in activism to create a world that is more supportive of ecological health and spiritual fulfillment In this way we avoid the two extremes of apathy and burnout and uncover a way of living that is simple joyful embedded in nature connected to others in community and supportive of collective action Yoga Journal
