Pendleton,2020-05-15 In the modern period space has predominately been conceived of as a mere setting for human action ontologically separate from the body In Markan studies the result has been the multiplication of textual geographies that hide the spatiality of Jesus's narrativized and thus living body Rather than representing Jesus's body as replicating the spatial configurations of dominant scribal cartographic practice including imperial practice James B Pendleton shows that Mark portrays Jesus's body as a living production of space that troubles dominant maps Against readings of Mark that argue that Jesus is either an imperial or an anti imperial figure Pendleton argues that Mark presents Jesus's body and thus his spatiality as both inside as an insider and outside as an outsider simultaneously in what has more commonly been theorized recently as third spatiality or thirdspace Rather than an imperial or anti imperial economy of spatial production Pendleton argues Mark presents Jesus's body within a both and and more economy that is kenotic revealing God's own royal yet emptying body
