Growing Stories from India A. Whitney Sanford, 2012-01-27 The costs of industrial agriculture are astonishing in terms of damage to the environment human health animal suffering and social equity and the situation demands that we expand our ecological imagination to meet this crisis In response to growing dissatisfaction with the existing food system farmers and consumers are creating alternate models of production and consumption that are both sustainable and equitable In Growing Stories from India Religion and the Fate of Agriculture author A Whitney Sanford uses the story of the deity Balaram and the Yamuna River as a foundation for discussing the global food crisis and illustrating the Hindu origins of agrarian thought By employing narrative as a means of assessing modern agriculture Sanford encourages us to reconsider our relationship with the earth Merely creating new stories is not enough she asserts that each story must lead to changed practices Growing Stories from India demonstrates that conventional agribusiness is only one of many options and engages the work of modern agrarian luminaries to explore how alternative agricultural methods can be implemented African Pilgrimage Dr Retief Müller, 2013-06-28 Years after the end of Apartheid South Africa remains racially polarized and socially divided In this context pilgrimage and travelling rituals serve to help those who often find themselves at the bottom end of the social ladder to make sense of their world This book describes a South Africa that is made up of a number of different fragmented worlds The focus is on the Zion Christian Church one of the largest religious movements in southern Africa and a good example of indigenized African Christianity Pilgrimage plays an important role in reintegrating some of those fragmented worlds into something approaching wholeness This book tells the story of how the enduring ritual of pilgrimage is transforming African religion along with the lives of ordinary South Africans Water and Society Terje Tvedt, 2015-12-22 Despite the central importance that water has held for civilizations both ancient and modern its social significance has made surprisingly little impact on our contemporary understanding of human history and development Dominant interpretations of the relationship between society and nature have remained water blind In Water and Society historian and leading water expert Terje Tvedt argues for a change that acknowledges the significant role played by water in societal development Reflecting his expertise as a geographer historian and a political scientist and drawing on his wide experience of water issues around the world Terje Tvedt's Water and Society provides a long overdue reappraisal of the relationship between water and society one that gives water its rightful place as central to any true understanding of human history and development Religion and Sustainable Agriculture Todd LeVasseur, Pramod Parajuli, Norman Wirzba, 2016-10-21 Distinct practices of eating are at the heart of many of the world's faith traditions from the Christian Eucharist to Muslim customs of fasting during Ramadan to the vegetarianism and asceticism practiced by some followers of Hinduism and Buddhism What we eat how we eat and whom we eat with can express our core values and religious devotion more clearly than verbal piety In this wide ranging collection eminent scholars theologians activists and lay farmers illuminate how religious beliefs influence and are influenced by the values and practices of sustainable agriculture Together they analyze a multitude of agricultural practices for their contributions to healthy ethical living and environmental justice Throughout the contributors address current critical issues including global trade agreements indigenous rights to land and seed and the effects of postcolonialism on farming and industry Covering indigenous Buddhist Hindu Christian Muslim and Jewish perspectives this groundbreaking volume makes a significant contribution to the study of ethics and agriculture The Many Faces of a Himalayan Goddess Ehud

Out of the Mainstream Rutgerd Boelens, David H. Getches, Jorge Armando Guevara Gil, 2010 Water is not only a source of life and culture It is also a source of power conflicting interests and identity battles Rights to materially access culturally organize and politically control water resources are poorly understood by mainstream scientific approaches and hardly addressed by current normative frameworks These issues become even more challenging when law and policy makers and dominant power groups try to grasp contain and handle them in multicultural societies The struggles over the uses meanings and appropriation of water are especially well illustrated in Andean communities and local water systems of Peru Chile Ecuador and Bolivia as well as in Native American communities in south western USA The problem is that throughout history these nation states have attempted to civilize and bring into the mainstream the different cultures and peoples within their borders instead of understanding context and harnessing the strengths and potentials of diversity This book examines the multi scale struggles for cultural justice and socio economic re distribution that arise as Latin American communities and user federations seek access to water resources and decision making power regarding their control and management It is set in the dynamic context of unequal globalizing power relations politics of scale and identity environmental encroachment and the increasing presence of extractive industries that are creating additional pressures on local livelihoods While much of the focus of the book is on the Andean Region a number of comparative chapters are also included These address issues such as water rights and defence strategies in neighbouring countries and those of Native American people in the southern USA as well as state reform and multi culturalism across Latin and Native America and the use of international standards in struggles for indigenous water rights This book shows that against all odds people are actively contesting neoliberal globalization and water power plays In doing so they construct new hybrid water rights systems livelihoods cultures and hydro political networks and dynamically challenge the mainstream powers and politics Publisher's description Dharma and Ecology of Hindu Communities Pankaj Jain, 2016-04-22 In Indic religious traditions a number of rituals and myths exist in which the environment is revered Despite this nature worship in India its natural resources are under heavy pressure with its growing economy and exploding population This has led several scholars to raise questions about the role religious communities can play in environmentalism Does nature worship inspire Hindus to act in an environmentally conscious way This book explores the above questions with three communities the Swadhyaya movement the Bishnoi and the Bhil communities Presenting the texts of Bishnois their environmental history and their contemporary activism investigating the Swadhyaya movement from an ecological perspective and exploring the Bhil communities and their Sacred Groves this book applies a non Western hermeneutical model to interpret the religious traditions of Indic communities With a foreword by Roger S Gottlieb

Political Ecology of Tourism Mary Mostafanezhad, Roger Norum, Eric J. Shelton, Anna Thompson-Carr, 2016-01-08 Why has political ecology been assigned so little attention in tourism studies despite its broad and critical interrogation of environment and politics As the first full length treatment of a political ecology of tourism the collection addresses this lacuna and calls for the further establishment of this emerging interdisciplinary subfield Drawing on recent trends in geography anthropology and environmental and tourism studies Political Ecology of Tourism Communities Power and the Environment employs a political ecology approach to the analysis of tourism through three interrelated themes Communities and Power Conservation and Control and Development and Conflict While geographically broad in scope with chapters that span Central and South America to Africa and South Southeast and East Asia to Europe and Greenland the collection illustrates how tourism related environmental challenges are shared across prodigious geographical distances while also attending to the nuanced ways they materialize in local contexts and therefore demand the historically situated place based and multi scalar approach of political ecology This collection advances our understanding of the role of political economic and environmental concerns in tourism practice It offers readers a political ecology framework from which to address tourism related issues and themes such as development identity politics environmental subjectivities environmental degradation land and resources conflict and indigenous ecologies Finally the collection is bookended by a pair of essays from two of the most distinguished scholars working in the subfield Rosaleen Duffy foreword and James Igoe afterword This collection will be valuable reading for scholars and practitioners alike who share a critical interest in the intersection of tourism politics and the environment

Northeast India Yasmin Saikia, Amit R. Baishya, 2017-04-04 Northeast India A Place of Relations focuses on encounters and experiences between people and cultures the human and the non human world allowing for building of new relationships of friendship and amity in the region The twelve essays in this volume explore the possibility of a new search enabling a discovery of the lived and the loved world of Northeast India from within. The volume employs a variety of perspectives and methodological approaches: literary, historical, anthropological, interpretative, politics, and an analytical study of contemporary issues engaging the people, cultures, and histories in the Northeast with a new outlook. In the study, the region emerges as a place of new happenings in which there is the possibility of continuous expansion of the horizon of history and issues of current relevance, facilitating new voices and narratives that circulate and create bonding in the borderland of South East and Southeast Asia.

Animism Graham Harvey, 2006. How have human cultures engaged with and thought about animals, plants, rocks, clouds, and other elements of their natural surroundings? Do animals and other natural objects have a spirit or soul? What is their relationship to humans? In his new book, Graham Harvey explores indigenous and environmentalist spiritualities in which people celebrate relationships with other than human beings. He examines present and past animistic beliefs and practices of the Ojibwe, the Maori, Aboriginal Australians, and eco pagans, revealing the diverse ways of being animist and of living respectfully within natural communities. Drawing on his extensive casework, Harvey considers the linguistic, performative, ecological, and activist implications of animist worldviews and lifeways. He argues that animist beliefs can contribute significantly to contemporary debates about consciousness, cosmology, and environmentalism. In addition, he examines the colonialist ideologies and methodologies that have caused many academics to exclude the term animism from their critical vocabularies.

Central Places and Un-Central Landscapes Giorgos Papantoniou, Athanasios Vionis, 2019-04-01. This volume examines the applicability of central place theory in contemporary archaeological practice and thought in light of ongoing developments in landscape archaeology by bringing together central places and un-central landscapes and by grasping diachronically the complex relation between town and country as shaped by political economies and the availability of natural resources. Moving away from model-bounded approaches, central place theory is used more flexibly to include all the places that may have functioned as loci of economic or ideological centrality even in a local context in the past. Fourteen chapters examine centrality and un-central landscapes from Prehistory to the late Middle Ages in different geographical contexts from Cyprus and the Levant through Greece and the Balkans to Italy, France, and Germany.

A Research Agenda for Religious Tourism Kiran A. Shinde, Joseph M. Cheer, 2024-03-14. Incisive and interdisciplinary, this Research Agenda broaches topics that have been under-researched within religious tourism, including place attachment and marketing, memory and modification of sacred landscapes for tourism, needs, the darker sides of religious tourism, multi-stakeholder governance, mission trips, and allied forms of tourism.

The Construction of Built Heritage G.J. Ashworth, 2017-11-22. This title was first published in 2002. Employing a range of case studies from three northern European countries: England, Sweden, and The Netherlands, this captivating book explores the process of heritage conservation from theoretical initiation to practical expression. It traces the threads from the origination of conservation ideas by innovative individuals, their adoption by voluntary groups, identified with particular conservation aims to the inclusion of conservation policies in national legislation and international convention. A common cultural heritage underpins the diffusion of ideas across different systems within a similar time scale. The ideas have been assimilated and adopted to differing degrees, providing the opportunity for questioning both the strength and purpose in heritage conservation and the influence of the social and political context. This will be a stimulating read for an international audience of conservationists, heritage policy makers, conservation architects, planners and developers, urban design and planning scholars, and European and cultural studies academics.
