The Buildings of Peter Harrison John Fitzhugh Millar, 2014-10-20 Perhaps the most important architect ever to have worked in America Peter Harrison's renown suffers from the destruction of most of his papers when he died in 1775 He was born in Yorkshire England in 1716 and trained to be an architect as a teenager He also became a ship captain and soon sailed to ports in America where he began designing some of the most iconic buildings of the continent In a clandestine operation he procured the plans for the French Canadian fortress of Louisbourg enabling Massachusetts Governor William Shirley to capture it in 1745 This setback forced the French to halt their operation to capture all of British America and to give up British territory they had captured in India As a result he was rewarded with commissions to design important buildings in Britain and in nearly all British colonies around the world and he became the first person ever to have designed buildings on six continents He designed mostly in a neo Palladian style and invented a way of building wooden structures so as to look like carved stone wooden rustication He also designed some of America's most valuable furniture including inventing the coveted block front and introducing the bombe motif In America he lived in Newport Rhode Island and in New Haven Connecticut where he died at the beginning of the War of Independence

Their Last Battle Nicolaus Mills, 2009-04-29 On Memorial Day weekend in 2004 the National World War II Memorial on the Mall in Washington will officially open to the public What began as a casual conversation between a Congresswoman and one of her constituents in 1987 grew into a struggle that lasted more than four times longer than it took America to fight the war itself Its rocky progress to completion is a compelling story about how America chooses to memorialize its past and how we view World War II Nicolaus Mills recounts the development of the Washington Mall from its time as swampland to Southern outrage over the Lincoln Memorial to Maya Lin's controversial Vietnam Veterans Memorial The World War II Memorial would prove just as controversial it took the support of WW II vet Bob Dole and actor Tom Hanks to overrule the strong objections of interest groups self appointed art critics and others In Their Last Battle a story vividly narrated through interviews with politicians and vets architects and citizens Mills discovers what a public monument can tell us about America and the values it honors
