Reflections on Issues in Judaic Law and Lore Dr. Martin Sicker, 2023-02-22 The fundamental basis of Judaism as is well known is the Torah the teachings contained in the Pentateuch the five biblical books the composition of which is traditionally attributed to Moses These teachings may be grouped in two basic categories matters between man and man individually as well as societally and matters between man and God The basic guidelines that apply in matters between man and man are referred to as mishpatim or ordinances whereas those applying to matters between man and God are referred to as statutes The fundamental distinction between the two categories is that the ordinances are subject to human judgment whereas the statutes are not the divine reason for them a mystery about which people may speculate but cannot know for certain The present work is primarily concerned with four statutes that have direct and significant impact on the lives of those committed to compliance with them Since simply rejecting any of them is not an acceptable option over the millennia since their codification in the Torah efforts have been made to deal with them under conditions that are significantly different from those that prevailed at the beginning of their revelation Given that the statutes as set forth in the Torah cannot be tampered with issues have been raised regarding how they are to be applied in the contemporary Jewish world These reflections are not intended to propose answers to those issues but only to clarify their significance and their present treatment in the various schools of Judaic thought The Lore Adventure James Fletcher, 2000-08 The discovery of some unusual pictographs engraved into the age old rocks in a remote clearing in the middle of the Minnesota wilderness leads to
