Scientific Order and Law as Traced by the Method of Christ and Conceived to be the Revealed Will of God John Coutts,1904 Christianity and the Limits of Materiality Minna Opas,Anna Haapalainen,2017-06-29 Despite the fact that Christianity is understood to be thoroughly intertwined with matter objects and things Christians struggle to cope with this materiality in their daily lives This volume argues that the ambivalent relationships many Christians have with materiality is a driving force that contributes to the way people in different Christian traditions and in different parts of the world understand and live out their religion By placing the questions of limits and boundary work to the fore the volume addresses the question of exactly how Christianity takes place materially addressing a gap in studies to date Christianity and the Limits of Materiality presents ground breaking research on the frameworks and contexts in relation to and within which Christian logics of materiality operate The volume places the negotiations at the limits of materiality within the larger framework of Christian identities and politics of belonging The chapters discuss case studies from North and South America Europe and Africa and demonstrate that the limits preoccupying Christians delimit their lives but also enable many things Ultimately Christianity and the Limits of Materiality demonstrates that it is at the interfaces of materiality and the transcendent that Christians create and legitimise their religion

The Power of the Church Michael R. Wagenman,2020-11-20 It is fascinating that in all the media reports and discussions of the church s abuse of power in the early years of the twenty first century few if any seemed to notice that the accusation of the church s misuse of power presupposed a shared understanding of the positive use of power within the church that had been violated Rather than an interest in the sociological aspect of this question this book examines the more ontological and normative aspects of it That is it investigates and discerns the foundational theological framework of culture and society and the location and purpose of the church within them As a cultural force and societal institution what does the church constructively bring to the human community
