Thousands of African men women and children worked on European owned tobacco farms in colonial Zimbabwe from 1890 to 1945 Contrary to some commonly held notions these people were not mere bystanders as European capitalism penetrated into Zimbabwe but helped to shape the work and the living conditions they encountered as they entered wage employment Steven Rubert s fine study draws on a rich variety of sources to illuminate the lives of these workers The central focus of the study is the organization of workers compounds the social relationships there and the labor of women and children paid and unpaid Rubert s findings indicate the beginnings of a moral economy on the tobacco farms prior to 1945 The Place of Tears Ranka Primorac, 2006-06-30 THIS IS AN NJR NOT JACKET BLURB DO NOT USE IT THIS RAW FORM This new and original work is the only recent monographic treatment of the Zimbabwean novel and its political implications An earlier one by Veit Wild 1992 has not been updated and other such as that by Zhuwarara 2001 are not easily available outside Zimbabwe The author resided in Zimbabwe for almost a decade and has visited the country regularly in the last five years She has published extensively on Zimbabwean literature and brings to her work a deep contextual richness as well as theoretical sophistication Thoroughly up to date the book examines all the published novels of the recently deceased Yvonne Vera d April 2005 as well as major novels of five other internationally acclaimed Zimbabwean writers including Tsitsi Dangarembga and Chenjerai Hove It does so against a political backdrop which goes right up to the March 2005 parliamentary elections The book provides a modern and original historical account of post independence Zimbabwean writing and its relationship to history and politics The critical investigation focuses on fictional representations of space time which links the book the tragically topical Zimbabwean issue of land Dr Primorac employs a form of literary and cultural theory reminiscent of Bakhtinian analysis but drawn at length from East European theoretical sources She investigates what the novels have to say about the Zimbabwean condition and makes a sophisticated link between ideas about space time and novelistic ideologies More than that drawing a parallel with the experience of Eastern Europe she shows how the novel itself breaks out of the confines of the quasi Marxist analysis which still holds sway in Zimbabwe As such the Zimbabwean novel is itself a source of hope in that troubled land Ranka Primorac has degrees from the universities of Zagreb Zimbabwe and Nottingham Trent She has taught Africa related courses at several institutions of higher learning in Britain including the University of Cambridge and New York University in London She is interested in non western writing and cultures theoretical approaches to the novel and the narrative production of space time Her co edited volume Versions of Zimbabwe New Approaches to Literature and

The Struggle for the Land Paul A. Olson, 1990-01-01 At an 1887 council when his people were told to learn farming in the semidesert region east of the Wind River Mountains the Shosone chief Washakie exploded with God damn a potato His instincts were all against the cultivation of semiarid land The relationship between the buffalo hunter and the potato eater between indigenous peoples and industrial empire is the basic theme of the studies in The Struggle for the Land As the editor Paul A Olson points out in his introduction the theme is as old as the biblical battle between the descendents of Nimrod the city dweller and of Abraham the pastoralist But the environmental cost of developing the world's semiarid regions is a new and urgent concern Soil erosion the loss of lands to dams the pollution of once productive regions through mining and the destruction of native food plants have everywhere decreased the quality of life for indigenous peoples who have been forced to adopt the Western agricultural practices property concepts and economic institutions that created the environmental crisis The eleven chapters in this collection look at the industrial and indigenous relationships in the lands of the North American Plains Indians the Australian Aborigines the Kazakhs in the USSR the Maasai in Kenya and several groups in southern Africa and Alaskan and Lapp Saami native peoples Representing a broad range of disciplines including anthropology history ecology and agricultural science the contributors are John W Bennett Anatoly Khazanov Russel L Barsh Gary C Anders Robson Silitshena Peter Iverson Patrick Morris Annette Hamilton J Baird Callicott O Douglas Schwarz and Solomon Bekure and Ishmael Ole Pasha They recommend realistic solutions for the problems facing people who have essentially been disenfranchised by Western style development of their native semiarid lands

Peasants and Proletarians Robin Cohen, Peter C. W. Gutkind, Phyllis Brazier, 2023-07-07 Originally published in 1979 this book examines differing forms of international interracial working class action and the relationship between workers struggles in the periphery and those in advanced capitalist countries It analyses the nature of class alliances forged in the countryside and the urban sprawls of the developing world among workers students and the unemployed The volume draws on theoretical debates and detailed empirical studies dealing with a wide range of countries in Asia Latin America Africa and the Caribbean Each of the sections is preceded by a linking editorial comment and the editors also provide an introductory overview Reviews of the original edition of Peasants and Proletarians This is an important book both for historians and for social scientists It draws attention to a previously underestimated labour force that has grown into a significant indeed indispensable part of the international economic structure Lynda Shaffer Journal of Asian Studies 39 4 1980 This book offers a truly impressive and solid compilation of material on labour in the Third World The sheer range of scholarship concerning many different types of workers over a timescale of nearly 100 years in countries and political situations as various for example as Lagos in the 1890s Jamaica in the 1930s and socialist Algeria or Chile under Allende is sometimes bewildering but never fails to stimulate and absorb the reader Paul Kennedy Journal of Modern African Studies 19 4 1981 Peasants and Proletarians is a very major contribution The editors introduction though brief successfully raises many of these issues and outlines an approach to them The twenty one readings concerned with early forms of resistance rural workers strategies of working class action migrant workers in advanced capitalist states and contemporary struggles offer geographical and intellectual breadth in their exploration of the diversity of Third World experience Joel Samoff ASA Review of Books Vol 6 1980

Theory, Knowledge, Development and Politics Mawere, Munyaradzi, Nhemachena, Artwell, 2016-05-03 This volume interrogates the popularity of problematic theories in the study of Africa and Africans in the 21st century The book provides ethnographic and intellectual material for scholars seeking to rethink and reimagine a number of externally imposed theories used unconsciously in Africa with the intention of raising awareness and fostering critical thinking amongst scholars theorising Africa With its theorising focus and contributors drawn from diverse disciplines and geographical locations the book is both a pacesetter on how to think research and theorise Africa and an invaluable asset for social scientists development practitioners civil society activists and leaders in the politics and economy of everyday life on the continent It poses an invitation to those seeking to re-embrace and reconnect with theory as an indispensable ingredient and determinant of quality in critical production and consumption of knowledge on Africa and of relevance to Africans

Before the Rise of the Modern Copperbelt Mwelwa C. Musambachime, 2017-11-27 In Zambia the history of industrial and commercial mining is over 115 years The earlier period from 1900 to 1920 is least known It is ignored passed over or referred to in passing by academics and non academics The earlier period forms the building blocks on which the later more successful mining enterprise in the mid 1920s was anchored This study looks at this period and discusses the beginning of mining enterprises from the beginning Colonial rule began with the British South Africa Company administering the two territories acquiring mining the Barotse concessions in North Western Rhodesia followed by an assortment of treaties with a number of African chiefs in North Eastern Rhodesia As the country did not have geological maps mineral deposits had to be found by amateur prospectors employed by a number of mining companies With this support prospectors fanned parts of the country looking for valuable and economically exploitable minerals deposits in various parts of the country Copper deposits were dominant Some deposits located on sites of ancient mines in the Kafue Hook Kansanshi and Bwana Mkubwa were pegged with the help of African chiefs and citizens as guides Others such as the zinc and lead found at Broken Hill mine and the Sassare gold in Petauke were found by sheer luck and chance Fire-Eaters Mwelwa C. Musambachime, 2017-01-13 As late as the beginning of the nineteenth century despite the many years of direct contact with European traders and the influx of European goods most African societies still produced their own iron and its products or obtained them from neighbouring communities through local trade The quality of iron products was such that despite competition from European imports local iron production survived into the early twentieth century in some parts of the continent The production process covered prospecting mining smelting and forging Different types of ore were available all over the continent and were extracted by shallow or alluvial mining A variety of skills were required for building furnaces producing charcoal smelting and forging iron into goods Iron production was generally not an enclave activity but a process that fulfilled the totality of socio economic needs It also fit the gender division of labour within communities Rhodesian Agricultural Journal ,1980 The Roots of Rural Poverty in Central and Southern Africa Robin H. Palmer, Neil Parsons, 1977-01-01 The Business Man's Geography Eva Germaine Rimington Taylor, 1923 The Creation of Tribalism in Southern Africa Leroy Vail, 1991-01-07 Despite a quarter century of nation building most African states are still driven by ethnic particularism commonly known as tribalism The stubborn persistence of tribal ideologies despite the profound changes associated with modernization has puzzled scholars and African leaders alike The bloody hostilities between the tribally oriented Zulu Inkhata movement and supporters of the African National Congress are but the most recent example of tribalism's tenacity The studies in this volume offer a new historical model for the growth and endurance of such ideologies in southern Africa
