more impenetrable than Colditz the chase is on But with a corrupt Russian general a femme fatale double agent and a very unpredictable US president waiting in the wings is it only a matter of time until a war begins Nation, Ethnicity and Race on Russian Television Stephen Hutchings, Vera Tolz, 2015-03-05 Russia one of the most ethno culturally diverse countries in the world provides a rich case study on how globalisation and associated international trends are disrupting and causing the radical rethinking of approaches to inter ethnic cohesion The book highlights the importance of television broadcasting in shaping national discourse and the place of ethno cultural diversity within it It argues that television's role here has been reinforced rather than diminished by the rise of new media technologies Through an analysis of a wide range of news and other television programmes the book shows how the covert meanings of discourse on a particular issue can diverge from the overt significance attributed to it just as the impact of that discourse may not conform with the original aims of the broadcasters The book discusses the tension between the imperative to maintain security through centralised government and overall national cohesion that Russia shares with other European states and the need to remain sensitive to and to accommodate the needs and perspectives of ethnic minorities and labour migrants It compares the increasingly isolationist popular ethnonationalism in Russia which harks back to old fashioned values with the similar rise of the Tea Party in the United States and the UK Independence Party in Britain Throughout this extremely rich well argued book complicates and challenges received wisdom on Russia's recent descent into authoritarianism It points to a regime struggling to negotiate the dilemmas it faces given its Soviet legacy of ethnic particularism weak civil society large native Muslim population and overbearing yet far from entirely effective state control of the media London Through Russian Eyes, 1896-1914 Anna Vaninskaya, 2022 Translated anthology of London Letters written by Russian foreign correspondents which makes available for the first time in English the Russian perspective on early twentieth century London life This anthology provides a unique window onto Britain's capital city as it existed more than a century ago in the minds of the Russian reading public Russian foreign correspondents produced a substantial body of writing documenting London life in all its infinite variety but their articles published in Russian journals and newspapers have not been accessible to English speakers until today These articles instrumental in forging Russian perceptions of London before the First World War have now acquired a new interest as monuments of a vanished era and as records of the city's history in their own right The selections in this anthology from Isaak Shklovsky Korney Chukovsky Samuil Marshak and Semyon Rapoport give just a taste of the riches that still lie hidden in the pages of old periodicals The anthology is divided into four sections Foreigners in London focusing on the plight of immigrants in the city London Labour and the London Poor documenting the experiences of working class Londoners London at Home and at Leisure depicting the domestic life and amusements of Londoners of all classes and ages and London Streets and Public Life covering elections religious meetings famous trials jingoist celebrations and the funeral of Queen Victoria The articles are accompanied by an in depth introduction illustrations and extensive annotations This anthology will appeal to
